ROOSEVELT PART IN WHITEWASH OF TVA EXPOSED

Committee Counsel Is Called Conniver.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—The congressional committee investigating the operations of the Tennessee Valley authority in 1938 operated under conditions which made it next to impossible for the committee to dig out the truth concerning the TVA.

As revealed for the first time by the committee's secretary and auditor in chief, W. O. Heffernan, these conditions were:

1. The complete domination of the committee majority by President Roosevelt thruout the life of the inquiry.

2. The leadership of a chairman, Senator "Honest Vic" Donahey of Ohio, who declared at the threshold of the inquiry that the investigation was a waste of time and that the TVA was innocent of the charges of dishonest management made by Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, TVA chairman, against his fellow directors.

3. The direction of a general counsel, Francis Biddle of Philadelphia, now solicitor general of the United States, who was handpicked by the President because of his known partiality for the New Deal's half billion dollar experiment in socialism.

Donahey Called to Washington.

Heffernan, who was constantly in a position to observe White House interference and supervision over the inquiry, told THE TRIBUNE of a White House summons of Donahey to Washington from Knoxville, Tenn., when the committee seemed close to uncovering the smoldering TVA scandal and the subsequent cover-up tactics employed.

Heffernan also revealed how Biddle was selected general counsel over 60 recommended attorneys of national reputation.

Perhaps the most amazing of all the committee secretary's revelations is that Senator Donahey returned a verdict of not guilty in the case against the TVA after only one witness, Dr. Morgan, had testified.

Dr. Morgan supplied monumental evidence to support his charges, but when he had finished and before a single word of testimony had been uttered in rebuttal of his accusations, Senator Donahey declared:

"There's nothing to Morgan's charges."

Case Is Prejudged.

And when the investigation was terminated suddenly a year later, early in 1939, with a long list of witnesses headed by former Controler General John R. McCarl waiting to be heard, Senator Donahey made [not, of course, for publication] this astounding statement:

"I have been satisfied and convinced ever since Dr. A. E. Morgan testified before the committee on May 25, 1938, that there was nothing wrong with the TVA. It has been a waste of time to go further than that."

This was comparable to the action of a judge who would set an accused man free immediately after the prosecuting attorney had outlined a strong case. Dr. Morgan had accused his fellow directors, and buttressed his accusations with facts and figures, of deceiving congress and the public; of covering up important facts tending to throw doubts on the advisability of the government's huge social experiment; of reporting a false electric power yardstick, and of subservience to political and special interests.

A Damning Indictment.

At the end of the day Dr. Morgan had read into the record a damning indictment of his colleagues, particularly David E. Lilienthal who, he said, dominated the third director, Harcourt A. Morgan. On the following day the two accused directors denied all the charges, but before they had made their denials Chairman Donahey, according to Heffernan, had pronounced them innocent.

Chairman Donahey went to Knoxville early in July.

"The first indication I got that the White House would direct the work of the committee came only a few

RIPS ROOSEVELT FOREIGN POLICY AS WAR PERIL

Calls New Deal Acts Economic Flop.

Wendell Willkie, speaking in Providence, R. I., attacked the defeatism of the New Deal and told how a Republican administration would build a strong America. A story and liberal quotations from his speech are on page 12.

Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 10 [Special].—Calling on the American people to "recover control of their own government while there is still time," District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, who was a leading contender for the Republican Presidential nomination, tonight launched his speaking tour in behalf of Wendell L. Willkie for President and Charles L. McNary, for Vice President, in a slashing attack on the Roosevelt administration's economic failures.

Appearing in the Municipal auditorium, Dewey assailed the New Deal for its record of ever increasing national deficits and what he called a "secret" foreign policy threatening the nation with war.

Charging that the economic strength of the nation has been undermined by "seven and one-half years of misguided policies," the racket smashing district attorney asserted that the United States today is in a weakened position to face not only the European aggressors but a sudden, mysterious entanglement in the far east, as well.

Hits Secret Diplomacy.

"This entanglement may mean the lives of men in this very audience," he said. "Yet we are allowed to have no information as to what is going on. We are asked only to have faith in the supposed wisdom of the same men who have so sadly mishandled our domestic problems.

"If they do as well in their furtive dealings in the orient as they have done at home, we are headed straight toward disaster. Having weakened our domestic economy, having left us woefully unprepared in a world crisis, is the New Deal administration now leading us to war?"

Dewey praised Willkie as a candidate for the Presidency "splendidly equipped to meet and solve the complex problems which must be met and solved if our free republic is to survive."

Praise for McNary.

"As he knows and understands the problems of production and jobs, the problems of agricultural production are equally known and understood by the candidate for the Vice Presidency," he said. "We Republicans believe that our leaders are trustees of the powers of government for all the people and not for their own personal aggrandizement. Under their leadership we will again have government by law."

The speaker challenged the statement that President Roosevelt represents a humanitarian trend in government and the statement that he has "been in there pitching for the common people."

"Humanitarian government was never achieved," Dewey said, "by depriving men of work and bringing down the national income. True liberalism was never the creed of any indispensable man. Whenever free men find they can trust their government only to one indispensable man, then they are no longer free."

How Roosevelt Pitches.

Roosevelt's "pitching," Dewey continued, has resulted actually in persistent unemployment, decreased national and farm income and lessening wage payments, which, coupled with the administration's foreign policy, he termed "intolerable."

"During the seven Republican years ending in 1932, including three years of depression, the average annual income for the United States was 70 billion dollars," Dewey declared. "For the seven New Deal years—the seven years of pitching for the people—the national income averaged only 62 billions.

Ship Nazi Army to Rumania by Way of Danube

(Map on page 5.)

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Oct. 10 (AP).—Six German troopships, flying the swastika banner, passed down the Danube river past Belgrade tonight. Dispatches from Bucharest said the troops were en route to Rumania.

Two long freight trains, carrying war materials for both Rumania and Bulgaria, passed thru Maribor, near the Jugo-Slav-German frontier.

The Jugo-Slav government maintained strict press control and avoided commenting on Germany's military moves thru the heart of the Danube basin.

LEGATION BURNS SECRETS

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Oct. 10.—British diplomats today finished burning their code books and confidential documents in case of sudden occupation of Rumania by the German military units which are moving into the country.

Local British residents were warned by their legation to be ready to leave at a moment's notice. Diplomatic circles believe most of the legation staff will leave Saturday and all members of the British colony who do not hold key jobs will follow them Monday. However, when the British minister departs he is expected to leave behind a skeleton staff so that his government will not have to make a formal break with Rumania yet.

More Officers in Evidence.

German officers are becoming more and more in evidence and a party of 12 in full uniform who sallied out of a leading hotel today on an official mission caused more than a flurry of excitement. There was even one report that the German army had already entered Bucharest.

For the present there is no German military occupation of Rumania. It is not necessary. Rumania has agreed to "coöperation" between the German and Rumanian armies and that is what is going on.

London Communications Hampered.

LONDON, Oct. 11, Friday (AP).—Communications between the British government and Sir Reginald Hoare, minister to Bucharest, have been interfered with, an authoritative source reported today, and the government has no information about Rumania on which to act. However, Britain does not yet regard Rumania as enemy occupied territory, it was stated.

Admit Troops in Rumania.

BERLIN, Oct. 10 (AP).—A few units of the German air force have arrived so far in Rumania, and powers friendly to the Rome-Berlin axis have been informed others are to follow, informed sources said today. This is the first time these sources have acknowledged that German forces already are in Rumania.

The air force units consist of fighting planes whose function is defense, it was said. The German forces in Rumania "are going to make German guarantees to Rumania a reality," these informants added, and will remain in the country "only so long as needed."

Cut Off Oil for Turkey.

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—The Berlin radio broadcast a Bucharest dispatch today announcing deliveries of Rumanian oil to Turkey and Greece were to be discontinued.

These two countries are considered Britain's only remaining friends in the Balkans. Cutting of oil supplies to them had been described as a likely preliminary to an axis move to the southeast.

AIR FORCE OFFICIAL OF DUTCH EAST INDIES FLIES ON U. S. MISSION

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 10 (AP).—Maj. M. Van Haselen, flight commander of the Dutch East Indies air force, arrived today by special plane from Java en route to the United States on an official mission in connection with defense of the East Indies.

Maj. Van Haselen said his government was interested in obtaining as many American planes as he could purchase with cash. He will resume the trip by Clipper plane on Sunday. Reiterating the Dutch are ready to fight if the East Indies are attacked, he said:

"We do not have any doubts about that. We must and we will fight if necessary."

Order California Guard Artillery Unit to Hawaii

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP).—Secretary Henry L. Stimson announced today that the war department had ordered the 251st coast artillery [antiaircraft] regiment of the California National Guard to reinforce the garrison of Hawaii as soon as transportation was available. To a press conference question whether the move was related to the American-Japanese tension in the Pacific, Stimson replied tersely, "No." About 1,000 men are involved, Stimson estimated. The Hawaii garrison consists now of about 24,000.

Here Are Plans for Draft Roll Call in Chicago

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

(Picture on page 6.)

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki announced final, revised plans last night for the registration of men of draft age in Chicago next Wednesday. The plans include the following arrangements:

1. Principals of Chicago public schools will serve as chief registrars.

2. Public school teachers, nearly all of whom have volunteered their services, will be the registrars, serving on the registration boards under the principals. The size of each board may vary according to needs.

3. Registration will be conducted in 404 public schools and the city hall, with registrants going to the school to which their voting precinct is assigned. The city hall will be the registration place for visitors to the city and also for persons residing in three loop precincts.

4. A registrant may learn the name and address of the designated school for his precinct by going to his regular precinct polling place. A placard, giving the name and address of the school, will be posted there.

Flags May Mark Polls.

Judge Jarecki was considering the possibility of having American flags erected on registration day before each of the 3,648 polling places in the city as a patriotic gesture and as a means of identifying the precinct polling places.

The placards giving the assignments of the precincts to the various schools are 16 by 22 inches. They announce: "All male residents, both citizens and aliens, of this precinct who have passed the 21st anniversary of their birth and who have not reached the 36th anniversary of their birth on or before Oct. 16, 1940, must register for selective service . . ."

Registrars Take Oath Today.

The school principals will be sworn in as chief registrars by the board of election commissioners at a meeting to be held at 8 p. m. today in the city council chambers. Instructions for the registration will be given at that time. The chief registrars, in turn, will swear in and instruct the registrars.

Plans to use schoolhouses and city and village halls for registration in the 200 Cook county precincts outside Chicago which are under the election commissioners' jurisdiction also were completed yesterday.

MAYOR IN HIDING KNIFED IN BED; AREA BARRICADED

Assassins Foil 20 Guards; Hunted by Soldiers.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 11, Friday (AP).—Japan's Chinese puppet mayor of Shanghai was slashed to death today in his hideaway bed despite a protective force of 20 private guards in the fortified Japanese district of Hongkew.

Enraged Japanese military authorities immediately declared that the assassination of Fu Siao-en, their squat little front man, was an "inside job."

They barricaded the Hongkew sector's streets and began a frenzied house to house hunt for the killers.

Dies in "Safest" Home.

Ironically, the 70 year old baldish, bespectacled business man met death in what he considered the safest of his several homes. Since escaping assassins in November, 1938, he never had slept two consecutive nights in the same bed.

Last night he and Mme. Fu were hosts at a party in the Hongkew home. The last guests left about 2:30 o'clock this morning.

About 5 o'clock Mme. Fu was awakened by a gurgling gasp and the echo of stealthy footsteps.

Turning toward her husband's adjoining bed, she found his neck had been slashed, his jugular vein severed, and there were great gashes on the forehead.

Score of Guards Outside.

Outside were the score of guards that Fu had always maintained since he became Japan's man in 1937. Japanese authorities said the guards were still on duty, signifying an inside job, but they nevertheless searched the streets and sought some possible link with the fact that a Japanese officer had been shot dead by unknown persons just outside Hongkew about the same time Fu was assassinated.

Shanghai municipal police said Japanese authorities had asked them to help search for Fu's personal servant, Zung Tsu-en, who was not to be found at the mayor's home after the killing.

At Zung's own home in the international settlement it was reported he had moved away three weeks ago. He had long been Fu's trusted servant, sharing with him a decade of exile in Dairen and Japan beginning in 1927.

Planned Quadruple Marriage.

Fu's death came at a time when he was busy arranging for the quadruple wedding of his four grandsons.

While the battle of Shanghai was still in progress in October of 1937, Fu became mayor of the Japanese captured areas of the city. A year later he formally was appointed mayor of the "Shanghai special municipality" which includes all districts outside the international settlement and the French concession.

Fu, a native of Ningpo, came of undistinguished parentage and never had much education. But he became one of Shanghai's leading business men, largely because of his natural shrewdness and irrepressible good humor. He had shipping, banking, and manufacturing interests.

In another incident today, bus and street car service in the French concession was suspended after the reported kidnaping of the trolley company inspector. Service had been on a partial basis for two weeks because of labor troubles.

WAR WITH TOKIO 'PROBABLE SOON,' CAPITAL REPORT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—A high government official disclosed privately today that the Roosevelt administration is proceeding on the assumption that war with Japan is probable soon. He said the government is rushing orders for large quantities of rubber and tin in the far east, supplies that such a war would cut off. He expressed the belief war would be averted only if Japan abandons her "greater Asia" expansion, which is believed unlikely due to her military alliance with Germany and Italy. War with Japan presumably would mean war with all three.

Petain Enlists France in Nazi Economic Bloc

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Oct. 10.—Chief of State Marshal Henri Petain tonight lined up France in the new European system of controled economy being worked out by Germany. He also formulated a fearful indictment of corruption and demagoguery in French politics for the last 20 years.

Turning to the recent battle with Germany, Petain in a lengthy statement said that "if Germany can dominate its victory, we will try to dominate our humiliation." He appealed to the Germans for a peace which would bring about well being for all.

Free France of Enmities.

The aged marshal said his government "must free itself of enmities which only served in the course of history to the profit of loan brokers and arms traffickers."

[The Associated Press reported that Petain said "Germany has the choice of a peace of oppression or an entirely new peace of collaboration," a statement which was interpreted as a proposal to end the "traditional enmity" between the two countries.]

A corrupt political régime, said Marshal Petain, was more responsible for the French military defeat than technical defects in her defense. Underlying the marshal's indictment was an accusation of blind and unnecessary subserviency to England.

End of Old Régime.

The marshal's pronouncement wrote an end to the old régime of France, based on what is now considered here to be the outworn principle of liberty and equality.

"Equality will be maintained, but it will be considered as a chance to serve, not to aggrandize," said the marshal.

He argued for the end of the class struggle and a chance for society to cultivate an élite leading class with a hierarchy for serving the state.

3 U. S. OFFICERS FLY ATLANTIC TO STUDY BOMBINGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson tonight disclosed an army air mission of three officers is en route by Clipper plane to England to observe British air defenses against German bombing attacks.

The members of the mission are Maj. Gen. Barton K. Yount, assistant chief of the air corps; Maj. Gen. James E. Chaney, commander of the new air defense unit at Mitchel field, N. Y., and Capt. Gordon P. Saville of the air corps, who is assigned to Mitchel field.

"The mission will observe and make a study of the defenses being put up by Britain against air attack," Secretary Stimson said.

It is expected that Gen. Chaney will incorporate any information gathered in the British tour into the new defense unit.

The mission is the second which the army has dispatched to Britain within a month. The first one, which included Brig. Gen. George V. Strong, chief of the war plans division of the war department, and Maj. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the general headquarters air force, returned to the United States from London on Sept. 20.

CLAIMS 330,000 GERMAN TROOPS SENT TO NORWAY

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Halvdan Koht, Norwegian foreign minister, today said the Germans are pouring tens of thousands of troops into the extreme northern tip of Norway. This great force is being created to guard against any Russian attempt to seize Norway's ice free ports on the Arctic ocean, Koht said, and there is evidence the Germans plan to seize Iceland.

Koht said the German troops in Norway number 330,000 and are stationed mainly in the vicinity of Varanger fjord. A concentration of ships in that region also supports the theory of a possible attack on Iceland, he said.

Surprisingly, Koht added, there are fewer German troops in south Norway, where most of the people live and which is nearest Britain, than there were during the summer.

BRITAIN SPEEDS WORK ON NEW RAID SHELTERS

'No Surrender!' Is Cry of Home Secretary.

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP).—Britain's new home secretary, Laborite Herbert Morrison, told the house of commons today the government had in motion a big new program to shelter the populace from air raids, but he warned Britons ironically they should "sue for peace now" if they hoped for complete immunity.

In his outline of his air raid defense policies, he declared it unlikely whole populations ever could be protected from air raids in modern war.

"We knew what to expect when we entered the war," Morrison declared, "and we are now experiencing, as civilians, what was experienced by soldiers in the last war. Horrible as it is, we must go thru with it or surrender."

Shouts "No Surrender!"

He shouted, "We are not going to surrender!" as the house thundered its approval, "because it would mean for many years something much more terrible than our present experiences."

Morrison said it was "very doubtful" if deep shelters could be provided for the whole populations of such cities as London, Liverpool, and Glasgow, and urged dispersal in small shelters rather than in large, communal shelters as the best immediate remedy. He pledged:

Quick speeding up of shelter construction; a quick survey of subway accommodations to make the best use of the tubes; an investigation of deep shelter possibilities with an "open mind"; official control of supplies, and prices of brick, cement and possibly other building materials; more Anderson family sized steel shelters; a "code of behavior" for people using shelters; first aid equipment in all public shelters; government pay for sanitary arrangements, and the taking over of large houses for billets for the homeless.

Promises Speed.

"We shall accelerate to the fullest extent," he said, "the work of additional shelter construction. If local authorities do not do their jobs, I will step over their heads."

He denounced the cry for deep shelters, saying, "There are people who are demanding this, sometimes, I am bound to say, for mischievous political reasons, and sometimes doing it in ways which are almost fifth column in effect, and I am not always sure they are not fifth column in intention."

In a written reply to a question, Morrison disclosed 4,400 German and Austrian civilians had been transferred to Canada and 11,000 still are interned in Britain."

Report Britain Will Get 100 Planes Built for Sweden

New York, Oct. 10 [Special].—Approximately 100 Republic Guardsmen dive bombers, built originally for Sweden, eventually will be delivered to Great Britain, it was learned from reliable sources at Roosevelt field today. Of the planes, worth more than $60,000 each, 75 already are finished and crated and ready to be placed aboard ships. For several months the planes have been stored in a circus tent on the field at the Republic Aviation corporation's Long Island plant at East Farmingdale, N. Y.

Petain Government Seizes 28 Reds in Vichy Area

VICHY, France, Oct. 10 (AP).—The Petain government today announced 28 communists had been arrested and "a great number of very interesting documents seized" in raids on communist meeting places in the Vichy area.

(Story in adjoining column.)

Comparison of the number of British civilians and members of various branches of service killed, wounded, missing or taken prisoner since the war started on Sept. 3, 1939, according to British figures.

BRITAIN STUDIES A NEW SYSTEM TO RATION FOOD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A new system of food rationing, which would dispense with millions of coupon books, is being considered by the government, Robert Boothby, parliamentary secretary for the food ministry, disclosed today. His announcement coincided with reports that housewives who have been getting "a little bit more" food than the rations allow, and shopkeepers who supply them, will be heavily fined instead of being let off with a warning. The practice of getting more than the ration allowance has spread extensively since the war began.

Canada to Speed Up Air Corps Training Program

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 10 (AP).—The rate of enrollment of students in Britain's empire air training plan, centering in Canada, is to be speeded up, Air Minister C. G. Power announced today. He said the program would be increased 40 per cent. Advance courses will be shortened to accommodate the larger personnel.

R.A.F. Loses 5,887; Raid Victims Total 21,500.

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP).—Great Britain's toll of civilian, naval, air force, and military casualties stands at 59,577 killed, wounded, and missing since war started Sept. 3, 1939.

Air force casualties stand at 5,887.

Official lists released today showed a total of 38,077 casualties in the army, navy, and air force since the war began. Of these 21,867 were dead, missing, or captured and 16,210 wounded.

Civilian casualties in the Nazi air siege of Britain were announced Oct. 5 by Prime Minister Winston Churchill as 8,500 killed and 13,000 wounded.

The official list of service casualties was divided this way:

Army—Killed and fatally wounded, 3,457; wounded, 13,502; missing, 3,267; died, 512; prisoners, 1,441.

Navy—Killed and fatally wounded, 3,077; wounded, 1,986; missing, 4,841; died, 78; prisoners, 29.

DUCE REVIEWS 20,000 YOUNG VOLUNTEERS AS ROME CLAIMS VICTORY

ROME, Oct. 10 (AP).—In a ceremony apparently intended to heighten the popular enthusiasm for war, Premier Benito Mussolini reviewed 20,000 'teen age volunteers today on the old plain of Padua, but kept unbroken the silence veiling whatever thrust is next to be made by the axis. While Europe waited for this next military move, which to many foreign observers here seemed imminent, the premier wound up a five day army inspection by watching his young soldiers fight a sham battle.

The high command today reported Italian troops had put British forces to flight near Uar Deglo, Kenya colony. It also was claimed that Italian planes bombed port works, docks, and warehouses at Aden and British encampments near Wajir.

Bombed Tobruk, Say British.

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 10 (AP).—Several ships in the harbor of Tobruk, Libya, Italian territory, including two oil tankers, were hit in a royal air force bombing attack yesterday, a British communique said today. One tanker was set on fire.

Take Mme. Lupescu's Gems, 375 Bottles of Champagne

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 10 (AP).—Police today confiscated large quantities of jewels owned by Magda Lupescu, red haired friend of former King Carol II. of Rumania, who fled with the abdicated monarch into exile. Officials said the jewels, along with more than $10,000 in cash and 375 bottles of champagne, had been dug up in the gardens of Madame Lupescu's brothers. The brothers were arrested.

FINDS GERMANS REBUILD BOMBED HOME IN 18 HOURS

Writer Visits Ruhr; Told Damage Is Slight.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COLOGNE, Germany, Oct. 10.—Buildings damaged by British bombs in the Rhineland and Ruhr are repaired with great rapidity by squads of high speed construction workers. Carpenters, bricklayers, and glaziers throw up walls and replace windows, while other workers restore the interiors. One house here which was damaged by a bomb at 3 a. m. was as good as new 18 hours later.

This policy of lightning reconstruction serves two purposes. It avoids any unfavorable effects upon the population's morale, which might be occasioned by an accumulation of damaged buildings, and restores to production in the least possible time any industrial and transportation objectives which might be damaged.

Hunts War Damage.

I came to Cologne in an attempt to assess the damage done by the British to the heavy industrial areas of the reich. While it is not possible to get very close to military objectives, the consensus of neutrals to whom I talked was that the damage usually could be repaired in a comparatively short time. Reliable sources said industrial production in the Rhine and Ruhr districts has not been diminished appreciably by bomb damage.

London Damage 'Slight.'

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP).—Military and industrial damage from German air raids during the last week was of "relatively slight character," the ministry of home security reported today.

According to confidential statistics of the ministry, the total number of military and industrial places hit was lower than in the previous week. Damage was of moment in less than 10 per cent of the cases and serious in only two. Utilities in London are practically normal.

TRIBUNE WRITER COUNTS GERMAN SHELLS AT DOVER

BY STANLEY JOHNSTONE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

IN THE DOVER AREA OF ENGLAND, Oct. 11, Friday.—Two German batteries on the French channel shore—one of four guns near the Cape Gris Nez lighthouse and one of two guns at the headland just north of Calais—bombarded the Dover area last evening.

The bombardment opened with two single shots from each battery, then a salvo of two from the Calais battery, followed by two more singles, then three four gun salvos from the Cape Gris Nez battery, and ending with final doubles from the Calais guns. This made a total of 22 shells fired at 2 minute intervals over 20 minutes.

Time: 61 to 63 Seconds.

Watching the bombardment from the sea front, I used a stopwatch to gauge the time from gunflash to explosion. Shells from the Cape Gris Nez battery, situated more than 400 feet above sea level, took 61 seconds to cross the channel [a little more than 20 miles], while the Calais battery, on the headland 280 feet high and farther away, took 63 seconds.

The shells reach an estimated height of at least 12 miles before plunging down at an angle of 55 degrees. The fact that they fall so steeply makes their accuracy speculative if aiming at specific objectives. No casualties have yet been reported.

Later at night I saw flashes from royal air force bombs exploding around the German battery positions, indicating a renewal of the British bombardment of French coastal areas.

CARRY ON RAIDS IN GALE

LONDON, Oct. 11, Friday (AP).—More than 50 London districts were struck overnight as German bombers swept in against a whistling gale and sowed deadly steel and fire over all England, concentrating on this city and the great west coast port of Liverpool. These attacks were followed by daylight raids.

A barrage of countless time bombs was laid down over the country.

The vigor of the British antiaircraft defenses kept the raiders high and damage and casualties were declared to be not as heavy as on recent nights. The raiders were reported over towns all over England.

The night's raids followed a day of attacks by Germans striking in deadly wedges. There were three swift forays to hamper the desolate work of cleaning up after Wednesday night's terrible hours of destruction.

Daylight revealed the score of ton upon ton of blast and fire bombs. It ran like this:

The superb high altar of St. Paul's cathedral half-buried in rubble, broken and torn; an air raid shelter in open ground hit directly and many killed; a street surface shelter demolished.

Royal air force bombers Wednesday night and early yesterday were said to have set off a fire every minute upon the German held coast from Amsterdam to Le Havre. They struck far inland, too, at a dozen vital centers of the German war machine.

British pilots returned late in the day with stories of heavy damage—"enemy" destroyers hit in the French port of Brest, great blazes left raging in the Krupp munitions factory in Essen—and with the word, too, that one of their bombers had been cheerfully and openly saluted by people in German held Holland.

These were among the results as announced by the air ministry:

HIT IN THE RHINELAND AREA—An oil plant and munitions works at Cologne, an oil plant at Homburg, an aluminum plant at Grevenbroich, an electric power plant at Reisholz; railway communications and freight yards bombed at Gremberg, Koenigshofen, Duesseldorf, Wesel, and Brussels.

IN HOLLAND—Three cargo vessels bombed in the River Maas west of Rotterdam; barges, bridges, and the canal junction attacked south of Helder; the Texel airdrome bombed.

FIRES NEAR PARLIAMENT

BERLIN, Oct. 10 (AP).—Four big fires splotching London near the houses of parliament were reported sighted early today by Germany's luftwaffe [air force] scouts while daylight squadrons ferried fresh cargoes of bombs to battered Britain.

The fires apparently were set by the overnight raid in which the Nazis said they dumped more than 100 tons of explosives on the British capital. In late afternoon a further reconnaissance was said to have shown one blaze still was out of control.

The high command said "the heaviest damage was inflicted on docks in the Thames bend" in the all night raid on London.

Aside from the battering of docks in the Thames bend, the high command reported:

Direct hits which destroyed grounded planes, barracks, and hangars at St. Eval, Penrose, and St. Merryn, among "several" airports attacked in central and southern England.

Submarine sinking of two British merchantmen and bomb hits amidships on a British merchant ship at sea, causing it to flame and list.

CANADA CREATES ARMY COMMAND IN PACIFIC AREA

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 10 (AP).—Creation of a Pacific military command to include the provinces of British Columbia and Alberta was announced today by Defense Minister J. L. Ralston. Maj. Gen. R. O. Alexander of Toronto will head the command.

Like the Atlantic command, it will have supervision over coastal defense forces and will direct the operations of all mobile land forces in the west.

Gen. Alexander has been commanding military District No. 2 with headquarters in Toronto. In that capacity he has been responsible for the extensive military training establishments at Camp Borden. He is 52 years old and was born in Ceylon. He is a world war veteran.

NEGRO LEADERS HIT JIM CROW POLICY OF ARMY

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, today protested against the policy of "segregating Negro units in the army."

They said that a statement issued from the White House yesterday had implied that they and T. Arnold Hill, industrial secretary of the National Urban league, had approved segregation during a conversation with the President and defense heads prior to announcement of the policy.

Randolph and White said in a telegram to the White House:

"We most vigorously protest your approval of war department policy regarding Negroes in armed forces which precludes Negro officers except chaplains and doctors in regular army units other than two National Guard regiments staffed by Negro officers. We further vigorously question your statement that morale is splendid in existing Negro units of the regular army. Many enlisted men in these segregated units have made repeated protests at being forced to serve as hostlers and servants to white army officers. We further question that Jim Crow policy of army 'has been proven satisfactory.' It has never been satisfactory nor is it now to Negro Americans."

Swedish Ship Reported Sunk, 18 of 27 in Crew Lost

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP).—The sinking of the 3,058 ton Swedish steamer Siljan off the Irish coast, Sept. 26, with the loss of 18 of her 27 crewmen, was reported tonight by Reuters, British news agency. The agency said its information came from the Swedish consul general at Dublin.

BRITISH DISCLOSE TALKS WITH U. S. ON JAP EMBARGO

Whole Question of Pacific Policy Discussed.

R. A. Butler.

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP).—Britain and the United States are canvassing the whole question of coöperation in the Pacific as well as the possibility of joint action in withholding war supplies to Japan, the British government disclosed today.

Guardedly answering or parrying questions in the house of commons, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs R. A. Butler refrained from giving the exact status of the discussions, asserting merely that "certain talks have taken place which are of considerable importance."

Pressed for an answer as to whether they are continuing, Butler replied "I would not say that they are concluded."

In Touch on Oil Question.

Liberal Geoffrey L. Mander asked whether, in view of reports the United States recently approved the export of up to 1,000,000 tons of oil to Japan, Butler would consider representations to Washington for concurrent action to prevent further supply of oil to Japan.

"His majesty's government understands the prohibition placed by the United States government on the export of oil relates only to certain grades," Butler replied. "They [the British government] are and have been in touch with the United States on the matter."

[Japan also has been affected by American restrictions on the export of aviation gasoline, scrap iron, and aviation engines and parts.]

Refuses to Answer.

Butler failed to answer Mander's demand for assurances that Britain is not going to "supply materials of a warlike nature to Japan" or whether the British and American governments are determined to take joint steps in this direction.

"This point is obviously important," Butler parried. "We fully realize the importance of it."

Welcome DeGaulle

(Story in adjoining column.)

Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the "free French" government, was given a wild welcome in Duala, Cameroons, on his arrival there. French colonies in Africa are shown in black.

CAMEROONS GIVES GEN. DE GAULLE A WILD WELCOME

DUALA, Cameroons, French Equatorial Africa, Oct. 9 (AP).—[Delayed].—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the "Free French" movement, today was given a wild welcome to this obscure corner of the French empire as he raised his standard on French soil for the first time since the French-German armistice.

On his arrival in the French colony which still is carrying on the war against Germany, De Gaulle said:

"Cameroons has set a magnificent example already, followed by a number of colonies, and others will follow.

"I cite Hitler's words in 'Mein Kampf' that a people may be beaten but when a people and their leaders accept defeat then they are forever lost.

"On the contrary, if a handful of men do not accept defeat, then everything is to be hoped for."

SAYS CHURCHILL "COMPROMISED" POSITION OF U. S.

ROME, Oct. 10 (AP).—Winston Churchill's commons speech Tuesday "seriously compromises" the position of the United States in any future peace treaty by crediting her with staving off German mastery of British skies, Mario Appelius wrote today in Premier Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia.

"Unless there is an official denial by [President] Franklin Roosevelt," Appelius wrote, "the responsibility for prolonging the conflict falls on the United States."

He said the British decided to open the Burma war supply road to China under pressure of "their American masters," who are demanding a continued supply of tungsten.

Germans Seize Belgian Prisoners They Liberated

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—Belgian prisoners of war who had been released have been taken into custody again in reprisal for sabotage against German army telephone lines in four towns, according to the military commander of Verviers. The prisoners will be held pending developments, the Brussels Zeitung said.

Fannie May Candy—That's Music to My Ears!

ART KASSEL and his famous "KASSELS IN THE AIR" orchestra, known to the radio audience from coast to coast, is now at the Bismarck Hotel for the eleventh consecutive year. After a visit to the Fannie May Kitchens Mr. Kassel said:

● "Do you know, I compare a piece of Fannie May Candy to a beautiful melody—both are produced by blending just the right ingredients in just the right proportions! In my orchestra each group of instruments has a part to play—the 'winds,' the 'brasses,' and the 'rhythm,'—and it is the blending of their varied sounds that produces melody. And it is so in Fannie May Candy! In the Kitchens I saw my favorite Black Walnut Creams made—the rich cream centers being blended with the plump black walnut nut meats, and then coated with deliciously blended bittersweet chocolate! Taste sensations combined into a true taste melody! To me, the name Fannie May Candy is always 'music to my ears!'"

AMERICANS RUSH TO LEAVE JAPAN; BREAK UP HOMES

Feel 'Zero Hour' Near in U. S.-Tokio Relations.

TOKIO, Oct. 10 (AP).—Under Japan's questioning eyes, the Washington advised withdrawal of American citizens from the orient gained headway tonight amid nervous tension and a deepening American conviction that Tokio-Washington relations were nearing a zero hour.

Yosuke Matsuoka.

Households were broken up rapidly, furniture packers were swamped with orders, and banks jammed with foreigners seeking to transfer funds. A partial Tokio survey showed 250 Americans either had booked passage or applied for reservations. A number are sailing Saturday.

Families of members of the embassy staff and of naval officers were expected to remain.

Says Pact "for" United States.

"For sale" columns lengthened in the classified advertising sections of the English language newspapers. Typical American household appurtenances, such as vacuum cleaners, refrigerators, typewriters, and sewing, washing, and ironing machines, were offered in profusion, and even a "child's doll carriage, blue, with rubber tires."

As if to lessen the possibility of an "awful catastrophe," Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka declared in a broadcast today that the new German-Italian-Japanese treaty "is a peace pact directed for the United States and not against the United States."

"I wish earnestly that such a powerful nation as the United States in particular and all other nations at present neutral do not become involved in the European war or come by any chance into conflict with Japan because of the China incident or otherwise."

Americans Questioned.

The average American in Tokio was questioned by Japanese friends and associates as to possible reasons for the withdrawal. tI was said withdrawal of Britons as well as Americans is having a sobering effect on the Japanese.

American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew has been seeing Foreign Minister Matsuoka and Vice Minister Chuichi Ohashi almost daily.

Yesterday Grew conferred with Matsuoka for two hours and, with Ohashi for an hour. The foreign office spokesman said both meetings were at foreign office invitation and he insisted the subjects discussed were "not startling."

The Japanese owned Japan Times and Mail, which often speaks for the Japanese foreign office, said:

"If America is nervous for its nationals, the reason must lie in its own contemplated acts and not in any measures in this country toward America."

Difficulty of Leaving Orient.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 10 (AP).—Congestion on Japanese controled shipping and railway lines will prevent several hundred Americans from leaving the orient for many weeks, it was learned today, even if the state department should send ships to Shanghai at once for their removal.

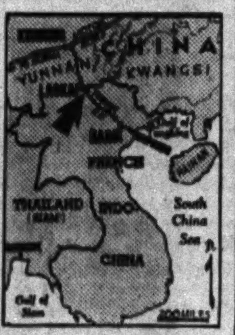
JAP AIR FORCE GETS BASE IN INDO-CHINA NEAR BURMA ROAD

HANOI, French Indo-China, Oct. 10 (AP).—The Japanese air force stationed at Hanoi has been granted use of Laokai, near the border of China's Yunnan province, as a subsidiary refueling base, authoritative quarters disclosed today.



Arrow Locates New Japanese Air Base.

Laokai, the last station on the Indo-Chinese railway before it crosses into Yunnan, is 160 miles northwest of Hanoi and only 190 miles from Kunming, Chinese terminus of the Burma road. A railway bridge near Laokai recently was blown up by Chinese forces. Japan's recently gained footholds in Indo-China are intended to improve her position to end the war with China.

BLOCK ARREST IN BIG CHINESE SWINDLE CASE

SHANGHAI, Oct. 10 (AP).—Japanese gendarmes today prevented Shanghai municipal council police from arresting L. A. Windler, a Swiss national, on a Swiss consular warrant charging him with a $1,000,000 larceny. The municipal police asserted Windler was known to have close connections with the Japanese.

Several municipal police entered Windler's penthouse apartment. Windler's lawyer, the police said, called 12 Japanese gendarmes, who forced the police to leave the hotel.

Authorities of the international settlement said the incident constituted Japanese interference with the settlement's police powers.

It is the biggest such case in Shanghai's history. Several years ago the American Trading company sold stamping machines to the Chinese government, which as security, deposited the coins and ingots in a warehouse in the international settlement. It is charged that Windler leased part of the warehouse, ostensibly to manufacture bullet proof vests, but actually removed the copper by trucks and shipped it across Soochow creek into Hongkew.

France Admits Submarine Sunk by British Off Africa

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—The German radio, in a broadcast heard here, said today the French admiralty at Vichy, France, had announced the loss of the French submarine Ajax. It quoted British reports as saying the craft was sunk by British naval forces in the Gulf of Guinea, and the personnel of 63 landed at Freetown, Africa.

HALT SHIPMENT OF U. S. PLANES BOUND FOR SIAM

State Department Holds Up Craft at Manila.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—The state department tonight announced it had halted the shipment of 10 NA-44 military planes, destined for Thailand [Siam] at Manila yesterday. The announcement was made after President Roosevelt conferred with Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Undersecretary Welles for an hour and a half on the Far Eastern "crisis" the administration has precipitated in advance of the Presidential election.

Trans-shipment of the planes was stopped in the Philippines on the ground that the planes are necessary the the defense of the United States.

Export of the planes to the Siamese government was authorized under a license issued last May 1, at a time when that nation was looked upon as a warm ally of Great Britain.

Warms Up to Japan.

Since that date Thailand has warmed up to Japan. At present its troops are mobilized on the border of French-Indo China and Thailand has been promised a slice of that territory in return for coöperation with Japan.

The state department did not announce the ultimate destination of the planes. It was believed that they might be turned over to Australia or possibly flown to China, even tho the excuse for cancelling the shipment was that the planes are needed for United States defense. Most of the military planes being made in this country today are going to Britain. The American share of present production is said to consist largely of training planes.

Confer at White House.

Hull and Welles called at the White House in the late afternoon and remained for an hour and a half. It was reported at the White House that the two called to review the international situation with particular emphasis on what New Dealers term the "grave Far Eastern crisis," which they assert has arisen out of the threat to the United States concealed in the German-Italian-Japanese alliance.

Officials here declined to comment on revelations in the British parliament, made by British Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs R. A. Butler, that the United States is discussing the question of withholding war supplies, particularly oil, from Japan with Britain. The British official said discussions are also under way on British-American coöperation in the Pacific.

FATALLY STABBED IN QUARREL.

Jack McDonald, 28 years old, colored, of 1227 Hastings street, a WPA laborer, was stabbed to death last night in a quarrel at 1223 Hastings street. Maxwell street police are searching for another colored man said to have done the stabbing.

BRITISH SEEK U. S. AID IN POSTWAR RULE OF TRADE

Vast Quantity of Wool to Be Stored in America.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 10.—American coöperation will be sought by the British government in a far reaching scheme to control the production and marketing of raw materials inside and outside of the British empire as part of a postwar, world wide reconstruction program. This fact, made public by the Daily Telegraph political correspondent, coincided with the disclosure that arrangements that already have been made under which the United States will purchase and store British empire and other products.

It was officially announced tonight that the British government had arranged to store in the United States 250,000,000 pounds of wool from the Australian clip, which is bought outright early this year.

The wool, it was stated, altho purchased and held on behalf of the British government, will be "available for purchase by the United States in the event of an emergency arising which makes it necessary for it to be used by that country."

Ordinary Purchases to Continue.

At the same time, it was officially declared, the new arrangement will not interfere with the United States' ordinary commercial purchases of wool in Australia or elsewhere.

[In Washington, D. C., yesterday the American defense commission said "the wool, to be stored in bond, may not enter the market without the approval of the appropriate American officials."]

In order to woo the sympathy of the African colonies, which were formerly dependent upon continental European markets and to compensate them for the loss of trade resulting from the British blockade, the government already has purchased tremendous quantities of cocoa and other tropical products for storage and release "after the British victory."

The cabinet of Prime Minister Churchill, according to the Daily Telegraph, already has made a start in framing its social and economic policy to meet peace conditions.

The cabinet is consulting experts from a variety of government departments in "planning to meet the many problems which will arise after victory," the paper declared.

Needs of Europe.

Closely tied up with the plans to seek the coöperation of the United States in controling what virtually amounts to the world production and marketing of raw materials is the problem of meeting the needs of postwar Europe.

Agriculture on the European continent, the Daily Telegraph predicted, "will have been ruined by Nazi pillage," but it added that stocks of food would be made available immediately to the "victims of the Nazis, including the German people themselves, so bread and liberty can come simultaneously."

ALEXANDER KIRK, ENVOY TO BERLIN, IS CALLED HOME

State Department Says It's Only for Consultation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Alexander Kirk.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—Alexander Kirk, member of the Chicago soap family, was recalled from his post as chargé d'affaires at Berlin, the state department announced today.

Kirk was ordered home for consultation on German-American relations and will not return to Berlin, it was said. The well to do career diplomat will probably go to Rome after reporting here. There he will act as chargé d'affaires in the absence of Ambassador William Phillips, who is ill in this country.

State department officials insisted that there is no significance in the transfer of Kirk to Rome and that no diplomatic snub is intended to Germany.

The shift was described as due merely to a desire to shift personnel at intervals in accordance with established departmental procedure. At Rome Kirk will replace Edward Reed, present chargé d'affaires, who has been transferred to the state department.

Leland B. Morris, counselor of the embassy in Berlin, will succeed Kirk. Morris was recently sent to Berlin from Vienna, where he had been consular general.

Kirk has been in Berlin since April 13, 1939. He came as counselor of the embassy from a tour of duty at Moscow. He has been chargé d'affaires of Berlin since May, 1939.

JIMMY ROOSEVELT, CAPTAIN IN MARINE RESERVE, CALLED UP

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP).—Marine reserves numbering 200 officers and 5,500 men were ordered today to report to mobilization stations on or about Nov. 7. The 23 battalions called included the 22d of Los Angeles, Cal., to which Capt. James Roosevelt, the President's eldest son, is attached.

The 22d was ordered to duty at San Diego, Cal., one of six mobilization points scattered along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

The other mobilization points are Quantico, Va.; Philadelphia, Pa., navy yard; Mare Island, Cal., navy yard; Puget Sound, Wash., navy yard, and Norfolk, Va., navy yard. The 9th battalion [Chicago] will report at San Diego.

NATIONAL GUARD CAVALRY TO GET A STREAMLINING

Announce Reorganization of Regiments.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP).—Reorganization of the National Guard cavalry, mostly into faster, partly mechanized corps regiments, was announced today by Maj. Gen. John F. Williams, chief of the war department's National Guard bureau.

The reorganization included also creation of several antiaircraft field artillery, engineer, and other National Guard units.

Seven cavalry regiments, of a type which already has been extensively tested in maneuvers, will be created from four existing Guard cavalry divisions.

Two of the regiments, described as "fast moving, hard hitting units, capable of rapid ground reconnaissance," already have been created in the regular army, and the seven new regiments will provide one such unit for each of the nine prospective army corps.

How Each Is Divided.

This type cavalry regiment, Gen. Williams said, was comprised of eight troops—a headquarters troop, a service troop, a horse squadron of three troops, and a mechanized squadron of three troops.

The headquarters troop, concerned largely with maintenance of communications, contains a motorized antitank platoon and a pioneer and demolition platoon, new units in a cavalry regiment.

The service troop, which supplies the regiment, consists of 46 cargo trucks, 73 truck trailers used to transport horses, and facilities necessary for vehicle maintenance. The horse squadron has approximately 450 men and animals, the mechanized squadron contains 2 scout car troops of 20 scout cars each, and a motorcycle troop of 12 motorcycles.

Some Regiments Involved.

The National Guard regiments to be converted into the new units, and their assignments to the army corps include:

The 4th cavalry of the regular army will be assigned to the 7th corps at Fort Meade, S. D., and the 6th cavalry to the 4th corps, Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

The 105th cavalry of Wisconsin National Guard will be converted into the 126th field artillery.

When brought up to full strength, Gen. Williams said, the new streamlined regiments would consist of 68 officers, one warrant officer, and 1,284 enlisted men. Each regiment will be equipped with 286 machine guns [caliber .30], 119 antitank guns [caliber .50], 12 antitank guns [37 mm.] 259 submachine guns [caliber 45], 88 scout cars, and 171 motorcycles.

MAKES SO MUCH PER DAY—AND ALSO PER DIEM

Woman WPA Official's Expenses Bared.

Traveler

(Story in adjoining column.)

Mrs. Florence S. Kerr of Grinnell, Ia., assistant commissioner of Works Progress administration, whose travels at government expense have been extensive.

Grinnell, Ia., Oct. 10 [Special].—Controversy over the increase of WPA expenditures with the approach of the national election has revived in this vicinity the story of Mrs. Florence S. Kerr of Grinnell and her remuneration by the government for the expensive traveling she did as a WPA administrative official.

Mrs. Kerr is now assistant commissioner in charge of the WPA professional and service division with offices in Washington, D. C. But at the time she set what has been termed an enviable record for travel, she was in charge of professional and women's work for the Chicago region of the WPA. She made her headquarters in her home town, altho at least half her work was in Chicago. That was from Dec. 1, 1935, to Jan. 6, 1939.

Likes to Travel.

A penchant for traveling, which caused Mrs. Kerr to make 157 trips to Chicago during the time her headquarters were here, cost the government $11,033. This information was brought out by Representative J. William Ditter [R., Pa.] during a house debate some weeks ago.

"Considering the period when her official station was Grinnell," Ditter said, "Mrs. Kerr was in Grinnell a total of 167 days, while she was out of Grinnell 941 days, for which she actually received per diem pay for 952 days.

[All government employés, including WPA administrative officials, draw a $5 per diem allowance plus traveling expenses when they leave the headquarters to which they are normally attached.]

Total Cost: $11,033.90.

"Of the 941 days Mrs. Kerr was out of Grinnell, 392 of them were spent in Chicago. Mrs. Kerr traveled to Chicago 157 times during the period her headquarters was Grinnell. The total cost to the government during this period was $11,033.90.

"In the period examined when Mrs. Kerr's station was Washington—Jan. 6, 1939, to Feb. 12, 1940—she was in Washington 261 days, while she was out of Washington 120 days, actually receiving per diem for 96 days. She was in Chicago 11½ days and in Grinnell 37 days. She traveled to Chicago 17 times and to Grinnell seven times during the period her headquarters was Washington. That cost has been $1,940.72.

"The total cost of travel and per diem for Mrs. Kerr has been $12,974.62. She was in her official stations 1,061 days, receiving per diem for 1,048¾ days."

Hostess to Hopkins.

Mrs. Kerr was hostess to Harry Hopkins, then secretary of commerce, when he came back to Grinnell more than a year ago to buy a home and establish residence so he could claim an Iowa background for his then budding hope of becoming a Presidential candidate.

However, the farm near here which he leased with an option to buy now is adorned with a "for sale" sign.

WALLACE'S CROP SLASHES BOOM SEED CORN SALES

Explain How Hybrid Ears Are Produced.

BY HOMER NEISZ.

Seed corn raising has become a big business since Henry A. Wallace, Democratic candidate for Vice President, established his corn acreage reduction program in 1934 while secretary of agriculture.

Farmers were given government checks for reducing their corn acreage under Wallace's crop control plan. They bought hybrid seed corn from him to make up the difference in yield, thus defeating the reduction program.

Wallace Firm Profitable.

Recent investigation of the earnings of the Pioneer Hi-bred Corn company of Des Moines, Ia., in which Mr. Wallace and his family are stockholders, shows that this corporation declared an 18 per cent dividend last year and listed net earnings of $260,480.69, and total assets valued at $1,102,846.43, altho paying no state corporation tax. Since its incorporation in 1926 it has paid a state corporation tax only once—in 1938.

The intricacy of raising hybrid seed corn has tended to make the business something of a monopoly. Farmers can not develop their own hybrid strain because of the way in which it must be produced. Scientists must do it for them. And because the hybrid seed produces corn which tends to revert to some less desirable original type when planted, the farmers must buy hybrid seed each year.

Five to seven years of careful crossing of strains and varieties, much of it by hand pollination, go into the production of each ear of hybrid seed corn sold to farmers.

Breed Desirable Strains.

First there is line breeding and inbreeding to establish desired qualities in certain strains of corn. These qualities may include high yield, deep roots, and resistance to drouth and insects and diseases. The crosses are made to take advantage of what scientists call dominant characteristics over recessive characteristics in the plants. If the qualities they want are dominant, the right crosses will eventually establish those features in the seed.

Finally comes the crossing of two or more strains that have been developed in line and inbred crosses. This final cross produces the hybrid that is used for seed. Its main advantage lies in what is known as hybrid vigor, the quality of two varieties of a plant to produce an offspring more vigorous than either of the parent plants.

This last cross is made by planting alternately three rows of one variety and one of another in a field and then detasseling the three rows, thus making sure that the silks on these stalks are fertilized by pollen from stalks in the fourth row. The detasseled stalks are called the "female" stalks and the ears are used for seed. The other stalks are called "males" and the ears they produce are not used for seed.

Yield Limit Avoided.

Hybrid corn first attracted widespread attention among farmers in 1934, the first year Wallace restricted corn acreage. Pioneer and other large seed companies already were getting into production on their initial crosses. The set up seemed ideal, both for farmers and hybrid seed corn merchants. Farmers cut their corn acreage and grew hybrid corn to make up the difference in yield. The seed companies sold them the seed corn.

There was not enough hybrid seed to go around for the first two or three years and what there was brought high prices. It cost $9 to $11 a bushel then. Soon hybrid seed corn companies sprang up all over the corn belt. Last year they sold enough seed at about $6.50 a bushel to plant 80 per cent of all the corn grown in Iowa and more than two-thirds of that grown in Illinois. The percentage of hybrid in other corn belt states was nearly as high. It has increased again this year, according to official reports.

Iowa offers a striking example of how the hybrid seed corn business has boomed. In 1933 Iowa farmers planted 140,000 acres with hybrid seed. Last year they planted 7,343,000 acres with it.

Tax on Estate of Duke Killed in War Is $782,318

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP).—Under the new wartime formula for officers killed in action the death duty payable on the estate of the duke of Northumberland was fixed today at $782,318.90 instead of the $2,017,500 it would have been in peacetime. The 27 year old duke, a lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards, was killed in Flanders May 21, leaving $5,838,035.71.

"Why hasn't somebody told me these things?"

Maybe you're in the same boat—so listen. I like smart looking clothes, same as the next fellow. Been paying plenty, too! Now how would you feel, when a lot of the fellows who call you "Boss" start putting up a better front? Frank W.—he's one of my salesmen—gave me the lowdown. "Frank", I grunted, "What have you got that I haven't got, to make your clothes fit and look so much better?"..."Guess it's the Bond habit, Boss", he chuckled. "You see, Bond clothes are made in Rochester. And those Rochester fellows do things with a needle and thread that'd make The Hunchback of Notre Dame look like Gable. Try Bond's and see." Best advice I've had in years. Never knew a few subtle style touches could make such a difference. Got a good lesson in sensible spending, too! "The Bond habit"—humph! Should have had it long ago.

Bond's low-set collar gives you that vigorous square-shoulder-look flattering to all men. A Rochester-quality feature seldom seen in any but expensive custom suits.

Bond's long, rolling lapels magically appear to make you inches taller.

Quiz Committee Counsel Called Conniver.

hours after Senator Donahey had arrived in Knoxville," Heffernan said. "The hearings were to start the following week after an inspection trip by the committee.

"Senator Donahey was indisposed and had retired to his hotel. A long distance call came to the committee's headquarters for him. To save the senator from being disturbed, I offered to take any message. Back came the reply: 'This is a White House call. Senator Donahey himself must take it.'"

The call was transferred to the chairman's hotel. Then, Heffernan noted, some of the plans agreed upon by the chairman with reference to the routine of the investigation were changed.

Another instance of White House interference with the committee's work was noted by Heffernan in August, the following month.

Senator Berry Protected.

On Aug. 9, 1938, the committee began inquiring into the Berry marble claims which had touched off the explosion in the TVA the previous winter. The Democratic majority had decreed that this phase of the investigation should not be entered upon until after the primaries in the first week of August in which Senator George L. Berry of Tennessee fell by the wayside.

Berry and associates had claimed a minimum of 5 million dollars from the TVA for marble deposits submerged by the backwaters of Norris dam. Dr. Morgan had denounced an offer by his colleagues to conciliate these claims, terming the claims an attempt at a barefaced steal. A federal court commission upheld Dr. Morgan's stand by declaring the claims were commercially worthless.

On Aug. 12, Charles G. Mynatt, a TVA investigator, told the committee he had been informed officials high in the TVA were in collusion with Senator Berry. Political dynamite seemed on the point of exploding.

That night, Heffernan reveals, Chairman Donahey was called to the White House in Washington to see the President. He returned the following Monday morning. He told the committee only that he had tried to get additional funds for the investigation, but had been unsuccessful.

Roosevelt Fears Indicated.

That President Roosevelt was perturbed about the Berry evidence and had therefore sent for the chairman is indicated by what occurred subsequently.

After Donahey's return to Knoxville the hearings were resumed, with Senator Berry and his associates taking the stand to deny any plot to mulct the TVA. But there were no more witnesses called to tell of collusion between Berry and TVA officials.

And on Aug. 22, after a hot debate behind closed doors, the committee voted to shift the hearings to Chattanooga. As a result of the switch, which was made over the protest of the three Republican members, further hearings on the Berry marble claims were delayed. The Democratic majority at this time also forced postponement of any further hearings on the subject of the electric power yardstick until after the elections.

Prominent in the many conferences which resulted in the balking of committee members who wanted to get to the bottom of the TVA scandal was Francis Biddle, attorney for the congressional committee. And never told before, the story of Biddle's appointment as general counsel of the committee illustrates the manner in which the Roosevelt administration early laid plans to smother the TVA investigation.

Counsel's Pose Important.

The committee met in executive session to consider the selection of a general counsel. The matter was highly important. The counsel of a congressional committee is, in reality, the leader of the investigation. It is he who selects the witnesses to appear and his line of questioning determines the amount of information to be elicited.

Suddenly, Senator Fred H. Brown [D., N. H.], who previously had announced that his mission in congress was to "destroy all utilities," popped forth a name which had not hitherto been mentioned.

"I suggest Francis Biddle of Philadelphia," he said.

As if by prearrangement, Representative Ewing R. Thompson [D., Tex.], inquired: "How soon can Biddle get here?"

"In two hours," was Senator Brown's prompt reply.

Biddle Waiting for Call.

Democratic members of the committee were informed that Biddle was President Roosevelt's personal choice. The appointment was so cut and dried that Biddle already had come to Washington. He appeared promptly and was accepted by the majority.

The Republican minority, notably Representative Thomas A. Jenkins [R., O.], protested against Biddle's appointment on the ground of his known radical tendencies. A warmer sympathizer with the New Deal's experiment in socialism could not be found, Jenkins noted, and Biddle could not be expected to inquire impartially into Dr. Morgan's charges that the half billion dollar venture was being mishandled in a dishonest manner.

When Biddle went to Knoxville, where the main hearings were to be held, hotel space had been assigned to him. A hotel did not provide the committee counsel with the privacy which he required. He leased a pretentious dwelling on the outskirts of Knoxville which commanded a magnificent view of the Tennessee valley. Here there was an opportunity for long distance calls to Washington without the necessity of communicating thru a hotel switchboard.

[The Aluminum Company of America yesterday disclosed plans to construct a huge dam on the Little Tennessee river in North Carolina to provide additional power for its Alcoa, Tenn., plant. The aluminum company is a large purchaser of TVA generated power. Story on page 37.]

Gets Annulment

VIRGINIA MAYPOLE.

An annulment proceeding of last Aug. 22 came to light yesterday, revealing the elopement on Oct. 16, 1939, of Virginia Maypole, 23 years old, daughter of State Senator George M. Maypole. The annulment was granted by Judge Oscar F. Nelson after the young woman had testified in chambers that the marriage followed a party at the home of a friend, Miss Mary Malahy, 1100 North Austin boulevard.

The bridegroom is Walter Blohm, who represented himself as a Los Angeles business man earning $15,000 a year, Miss Maypole testified. They were married by a justice of the peace in Dubuque, Ia.

Their wedding trip lasted more than three months, taking them to Madison, Wis., and New Orleans, where Miss Maypole pawned her jewelry and Blohm was eventually locked up.

Owner of Delicatessen Loses Job as Policeman

Policeman Joseph F. O'Connor of Morgan Park station was ordered discharged from the police department yesterday by the civil service trial board. He was found guilty of operating a delicatessen while a member of the force, using profane language to a superior officer, and using insolent language to tenants in a building he owns at 6855 Anthony avenue.

BOY, 5, IS KILLED NEAR HOME WHEN STRUCK BY CAR

William Gregerson, 5 years old, 11647 Wallace street, was killed in front of his home yesterday by a car driven by David Dykstra, 10920 State street, a furnace repair man.

Chester Mitchell, 55, of 7410 Merrill avenue, president of the Mitchell Brewing company of Mokena, Will county, was injured fatally when his car left La Grange road south of 95th street and plunged into a ravine. He died in Little Company of Mary hospital.

Mrs. Marion Diggs, 55 years old, colored, of 3902 South State street, died in the county hospital of injuries incurred on Aug. 24 when she was struck at 38th and State streets by an automobile driven by James Littlejohn, 3759 South State street.

Steve Zniewski, 63, of 640 East 151st place, Phoenix, died in Ingalls Memorial hospital, Harvey, from injuries suffered Wednesday when he was hit by an automobile at 152d street and Vincennes road, Phoenix. He was a watchman. The driver was Andy Hoesktra, South Holland.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 672 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 493 were killed in Chicago where 18,223 were injured in the period.

Drunken Driver Gets 10 Days in Jail; Second Fined

Raymond Clement, 4230 Crystal street, was sentenced by Judge George B. Weiss in Safety court yesterday to 10 days in jail for drunken driving. Lee Haske, 2114 South 47th court, Cicero, was fined $100 on the same charge.

GETS 1-14 YEARS AFTER CRASH ON SPREE KILLS BOY

Erwin Boeglin, a former convict who climaxed a three day drinking spree by smashing his speeding automobile into a group of eight young cyclists, killing one and seriously injuring another, was sentenced yesterday to one to 14 years in the penitentiary for manslaughter.

Boeglin pleaded not guilty but testified in a bench trial before Judge Julius Miner in Criminal court that he was so drunk he didn't remember the accident. It occurred on Sept. 2 in Marine drive near Irving Park road. The youth killed was William Duclos, 16, of 1734 Roscoe street, a Carl Schurz High school junior.

Five witnesses said that Boeglin was so drunk when police arrested him after his automobile had struck two other cars that he was unable to walk. Police had to wait eight hours before obtaining a coherent statement from him. Boeglin admitted having 15 drinks of whisky in a tavern and then drinking half a pint more while driving.

STOP NEW DEAL DESPAIR! BUILD! WILLKIE PLEADS

Warns Present Course of Nation Leads to War.

Wendell Willkie's address before a Republican rally in the Bees field, Boston, Mass., will be broadcast over WLS, Chicago, and the NBC Blue network from 7 to 7:30 p. m., Central Standard time, tonight.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Providence, R. I., Oct. 10.—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for President, called upon America tonight to start building a new world, not sink back into the philosophy of the New Deal, which, he said, leads toward government pay rolls, concentration camps, and war.

"We get closer to war every day," he told a huge crowd at the Narragansett race track on the outskirts of this city tonight.

"The philosophy of the New Deal leads to weakness," he continued. "Weakness leads to war. Under that philosophy we are being pushed toward war. Only if we discard that philosophy, only if we set our energies free [under a Republican administration] can we hope to prevent war. Our hope for peace lies in a strong America in which every man has a job and every man has a future."

Tours in Three States.

Willkie toured the sunny New England countryside today, touching Connecticut, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island at various industrial centers. His theme was that the third term means the rising of dictatorship and tyranny in this country; that the workers cannot trust the financial methods of the New Deal to meet their needs of the future.

He rode part of the day in his special train and toured for several hours by motor caravan, meeting large crowds in the cities. School children turned out to make the day shrill and colorful for him.

The nominee was accompanied on part of his tour by Gov. William H. Vanderbilt of Rhode Island, one of the original Willkie boosters at the Republican convention. In Massachusetts the candidate was met by Gov. Leverett Saltonstall and by Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr., Republican national chairman, whose home is in Attleboro. Senatorial and other candidates met Willkie, and as he traveled thru the states he urged the people to support these Republicans.

Hits Back at Democrats.

Willkie called attention in his speech tonight to a statement of the Democratic national committee ridiculing him for promising to make a job for every man, saying he could not do it, that no man could. But he said he would stand by his promise.

"If that statement means anything," Willkie asserted, "it means that the New Dealers believe there is no future for America. That is precisely the philosophy that has made it impossible for the New Deal to solve our economic problems, and no man who subscribes to that philosophy will ever be able to solve our problems."

Urging the nation to "get out of the blind alley of the New Deal and back on the high road," Willkie enumerated many possible lines of progress. We must build new homes, he said, and modernize old ones. He advocated construction of better roads, bridges, and elevated highways. In the field of chemistry new uses are being opened up for farm products, he said.

"But we cannot do the job," he added, "under an administration that has lost faith in America."

SUPPORTS SOCIAL GAINS

The text of Willkie's address here tonight follows in part:

"Those of us who live in industrial states know very well the risks that confront a worker in industry. If the factory shuts down, he has nowhere to go. Once his meager savings are gone, he can only tramp the sidewalks in search of another job, and failing to find that he is reduced to the bare subsistence of relief.

"I know what this means. As a young man I worked in factories. I worked in a tin factory, and I have worked in bakeries. I worked on harvesters. I worked in various types of industrial plants. I know what it is to work and to hunt for work.

"Let me say to you at once that I am for all the social gains that have been obtained for labor in this country. No one in the United States will fight harder for their preservation than I will.

"But before discussing the social gains, we must all recognize that these gains have been robbed of substance for nearly 10 million of our unemployed fellow citizens. It is not enough to pass social legislation, unless it can be preserved and maintained by a people that is working and producing.

Roosevelt Is Quoted.

"Eight years ago, when the third term candidate was running for his first term, he told us that our industrial plant was all built. 'A mere builder of more industrial plants,' he said '. . . is as likely to be a danger as a help.' And Candidate Roosevelt went on to say this:

"'Our task is not necessarily producing more goods. It is the soberer, less dramatic business of administering the resources and plants already in hand. . . .'

A "Mature Economy."

"No more industrial plants, no more of the new inventions, the new investments, the new industries which have in the past brought about the continued expansion of America and raised our standard of living to the highest in the world.

"The New Deal tells us that we have a mature economy. There is no more room for growth. Our industrial plant is all built.

"And what is the inevitable conclusion? Harry Hopkins has stated it more than once. It is that we must resign ourselves to facing large permanent unemployment. It is that millions of our people will never be able to find jobs. With that philosophy also, I emphatically disagree.

An Excuse for Failure.

"The gloomy theorists of the New Deal seek to excuse their own failure by telling us that the American economic system is a failure. They try to postpone their own finish by telling us that America is finished. The alibi is palpably false. More than that, it isn't even new.

"The prophets of despair are always with us. Down thru the centuries, gloomy theorists have told us repeatedly that progress was at an end. Nearly 100 years ago a United States commissioner of patents solemnly reported 'that the advancement of the arts from year to year . . . seems to presage the arrival of that period when human improvement must end.'

"And at the very moment that he spoke, the world was barely standing at the threshold of the modern industrial era. Yet, in the face of this example, two generations later a federal commissioner of labor announced that there was no more room for a further marked extension of industry. And that was long before the invention of the telephone and the electric light, not to speak of the automobile, the airplane, and radio.

Poisoning Our Minds.

"Today the Democratic national committee, headed by a city political boss, stands up and tells us the same thing all over again. And for eight years the New Deal has been poisoning our minds, and the minds of our youth with this old disproven theory that mankind has reached the limit of progress.

"This is the theory that I deny. This is the theory that I am out to fight.

"I know that the American people believe with me that that theory is untrue. It is a theory manufactured for the purposes of politics—demagogic in origin, and hopeless in prospect. If the men who preach this doctrine are given the third term they seek, they may yet succeed in making that theory come true. Then, with no one else to work for, the state would be our only master, and the permanent unemployed would be in concentration camps. When you vote in November, make your vote mean that it can't happen here.

Position on Social Gains.

"Now when I talk about American social gains, I am talking about the preservation and extension of social gains in our free republic. My position is this:

"First, I am solidly for the right of labor to join together in labor unions. Their right to bargain collectively thru agents of their own free choice and the right to strike are fundamental privileges of every American.

"The safeguarding of the rights of free labor is one of the great principles which sets us apart from the enslaved peoples of the dictator countries. The freedom and independence of labor are essential to our democracy.

"That is why I am for the National Labor Relations act. That act is a simple recognition of law of labor's basic rights. I was for the principle of that measure before it was passed. I was for it after it was passed. And I am for it now. As President of the United States, I will see to it that this law is vigorously and impartially enforced.

Proper Labor Conditions.

"You here in New England have shown your understanding of this principle by the enactment of progressive labor laws. I have followed with admiration the development of legislation which guarantees the weekly payment of wages, which requires that the worker be protected against dangerous machinery, which insists on proper working conditions in factories and which insures the worker compensation when he is injured.

"I want to see this course renewed and continued. Here in this industrial region and thruout the country every decent man hates the notion that men and women should be employed under sweatshop conditions. To me, it is wrong that men should have to slave for such long hours that life is deprived of much of its value. It is wrong that men should be forced to work for wages so low that they will not decently support life.

Wants Fair Compensation.

"It is for that reason that I heartily support legislation which sets minimum standards below which wages cannot go, and which establishes maximum limits of hours beyond which no one may be asked to work without just additional compensation.

"I have held those views for many years. As a matter of fact, the first time that I ever went into court as a young lawyer was with my father, who was representing a labor union. I am no last minute convert to the wage and hour law.

"Our Republican administration will insist that adequate funds be appropriated for the enforcement of this law and will insist that it be vigorously and fearlessly enforced—not only in the north but in the south as well.

"But, besides protecting the rights of those who have jobs, we must also protect those who have been kept out of jobs by the New Deal.

Relief Must Continue.

"So long as unemployment continues, we must continue federal relief. We promise you that when I am President no man will be taken off relief until he has a job. There is going to be no debate about that, and don't let any one tell you different.

"Not only will we continue federal relief as long as there is any unemployment but we will improve it and expand it and make it mean more to the men on relief and to the public. In later speeches I shall discuss unemployment relief in detail.

"Protection of labor's rights and continuation of relief are fundamental to our Republican program. In addition there are other protections to which the American worker is entitled.

"Specifically, he is entitled to full protection against the unfair competition of the enslaved labor of totalitarian countries. I want to be frank with you. I look forward constantly to the day when international tariff barriers will be reduced.

Decent Living Standards.

"I hope that in the years to come we can see the flow of international trade increased. But it is absurd and contradictory that we in America, who believe in decent standards of living and who support proper wage and hour standards, should permit the entry into this country of goods manufactured by the oppressed workers of the dictatorships.

"In the last 10 years, when the New Deal has been telling us that no further progress was possible, I am proud to say that our scientists and engineers have been knocking on the door of the future.

"Within the last 10 years we have seen a whole stream of revolutionary new inventions.

"The new inventions, the new industries that we need are here. All that is lacking is the courage and the opportunity to use them.

Still Much to Be Done.

"But we have not even begun to reach the limits of expansion of our older industries. Thousands upon thousands of American farms and urban homes still do not have electricity. How can any one say that America has reached the limit of its growth when so much remains to be done?

"Here are just a few of the unfinished jobs we have before us:

"We must build new homes for our people and modernize old homes. Today we are short by many thousands of the number of dwellings our people need. Here alone exists the equivalent of a new industry that will give employment to many thousands of our people. We must bring electricity to all the homes in the United States. We must put electrical appliances in those homes. We must provide central heating in all homes. We must bring air conditioning within the reach of millions of our people.

Great Opportunities Ahead.

"The constant improvement of the automobile calls for more and better roads, great bridges, elevated highways and high-speed arteries. The airplane is still in its infancy. Unlimited opportunity lies ahead for the development of this industry.

"Our railroads need modernizing to provide greater speed and greater comfort. In the field of chemistry we have vast new opportunities opening up—opportunities which mean new uses for the products of the farm; new, cheaper, and better materials for the clothes we wear and the houses that we live in.

"And all those things are only the beginnings of the great future that lies before us. We have the inventive genius; we have the industrial skills; we have the men, the money, and the machines. For all the discouragements of the past seven and a half years, we still have the enterprise and the courage to do the job. But we cannot do that job under an administration that has lost faith in America.

Open Up a New World.

"I touch briefly on these things merely to reassure you, merely to indicate how little the New Dealers know about the world in which they are living.

"Of course there is a future for us. Of course we are going ahead. The inventiveness of man proceeds at an accelerating rate. Fifty years from now we may scarcely be able to recognize the new world that we are about to build.

"The big job now is to open up that world, to start building it.

"And the way to do this is to set free the energies of our people, to eliminate as much as possible the red tape, the friction, the unscientific taxes, and above all, the philosophy that men are better off on a government pay roll than they are on a private pay roll."

Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota predicted in Chicago yesterday that his state's 11 electoral votes will be cast for Wendell L. Willkie. The young Republican leader stopped here on his way to Fort Wayne, Ind., where he was to speak in behalf of Willkie last night.

"Republican sentiment has been growing in Minnesota since 1936," Gov. Stassen said. "We expect Mr. Willkie to clinch the state for his ticket when he speaks in St. Paul and Minneapolis on the 19th."

Issues which are bringing Minnesotans into the Republican column, he asserted, are the third term, the New Deal's meddling foreign policy, and the confused administration of domestic problems such as unemployment.

Dog's Barking Discloses Death of His Master

The barking of George Lawrence Cole's dog led yesterday to the discovery that Cole had died in his room at 1217 Albion avenue. But the dog, part chow and part airedale, would permit no one to enter. Detectives George Helstren, Henry Bobene, and Thomas Curtin finally tricked the animal into entering a bathroom and locked the door. Cole was 53 years old. His wife had been away for several days.

MOTHER DIES OF POISON.

Mrs. Sophia Skibinski, 36 years old, mother of nine children, died in South Shore hospital yesterday of the effects of poison which she drank in her home at 8827 Buffalo avenue. Her husband, Anton, told police she had been grieving over the death of a daughter.

MINERS INFORM BROOKS THEY'LL SUPPORT G. O. P.

"Tired of That Roosevelt Stuff," One Says.

BY EDWARD WILSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Marion, Ill., Oct. 10.—Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for United States senator, found friends down in this coal country today in places far removed from Republican county headquarters and massmeetings.

Brooks left West Frankfort this morning and stopped off at the famous Orient coal mine, reputed to be the largest in the world. That wasn't new, because among other dignitaries who have stopped there is Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President.

But it was new when Brooks walked up to the mine shaft, unannounced and introduced himself to a row of about 20 grimy miners who had just stopped work and he was told that with the exception of two they were for Willkie and Brooks to a man.

Boys Switch This Time.

Rufus Rice, a miner, said: "Lots of the boys have switched this time. The mine is about 50-50. They're tired of that Roosevelt stuff."

Roy Kanchoff, an examiner, who was on his way down the shaft, grabbed Brooks' hand and said he heard him talk last night at Zeigler.

"We need a change," said Kanchoff.

On the road toward Marion, Brooks stopped to visit with Pete Novensky, a farmer, who was planting his winter wheat.

"I'm for you, Mister," said Novensky, "and I have four sons and I'm telling them to vote that way too. I'm sick of that guy Wallace."

Earlier at West Frankfort Brooks and his caravan of Republican candidates, which includes William G. Stratton, candidate for congressman at large, and Arthur C. Lueder, candidate for state auditor, talked at a street meeting.

Veteran Quits Democrats.

At the West Frankfort meeting grizzled old Bill Baker told Brooks, "I've been 76 years a Democrat, but I ain't no more. I'll never vote Democratic again."

The spot selected for the West Frankfort talk was in the heart of the Democratic side of that mining town of 16,000 people. The Democrats are strong on the east side of the "tracks," and the Republicans on the west. West Frankfort is in Franklin county, which has a population of 60,000. In 1936 the county went Democratic by 3,103 votes, with 26,901 voting, and in 1938 the Democratic lead was cut to 1,824, with 23,390 voting.

At noon the candidates talked to several thousand persons who crowded into the square here at Marion. Marion is a city of 9,000 people in Williamson county. The county went Democratic by 1,419 votes in 1936, with 27,586 votes cast, but cut the lead down to 407 in 1938. However, in 1938 only 24,961 votes were cast in the county.

COUPLE WITHOUT A COUNTRY AFTER ROOSEVELT VETO

Michael and Berenice Buzas of 10544 Edbrooke avenue remained the couple without a country yesterday, despite efforts of the immigration officials to help them solve their problem. President Roosevelt yesterday vetoed a house bill which would have permitted the couple to stay in the United States but would have barred them from citizenship.

The Buzases were born in Lithuania, but gave up their Lithuanian citizenship to become Canadians. In 1926 they entered the United States illegally from Canada. They lost their Canadian citizenship by remaining out of Canada five years in violation of Canadian regulations for naturalized citizens.

Fred J. Schlotfeldt, director of immigration here, tried to deport them two years ago, but found they had no country to which they could go. Since then, efforts have been made to find a way for Buzas, a tavern keeper, and his wife to remain here.

BROWDER BALKED IN SIGNING UP TO VOTE; WALKS OUT

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 10 (AP).—Communist Presidential Candidate Earl Browder—his right to register for voting privileges challenged by a member of the board of registry—abruptly left registry headquarters today when he saw that the form asked whether the person appearing had ever been convicted of a felony.

Browder is free under bail pending an appeal to the United States Supreme court from his conviction for passport fraud.

"I'll consult with my attorney and come back a week from Friday," said Browder after a quick glance at the form questions. Ernest Riegelman, chairman of the election district board, challenged Browder and cited election laws requiring him to answer questions on the challenge form.

NO THIRD TERM LEGION APPEALS, AND 700 ENROLL

Frederick A. Thulin, attorney for the No Third Term Legion, which sent out an appeal for members Monday, said yesterday that nearly 700 persons have responded. The legion, which has headquarters at 105 South La Salle street, also received 17 pro-Roosevelt letters, he said.

Thulin predicted that the membership club will climb to 1,000 by the end of the week. The group, originally consisting of 25 Chicago business men, attorneys, clerks, secretaries, and housewives, was formed to oppose "any violation of the very fundamental tradition safeguarding government, to wit: the third term."

How Willkie Can Be Elected

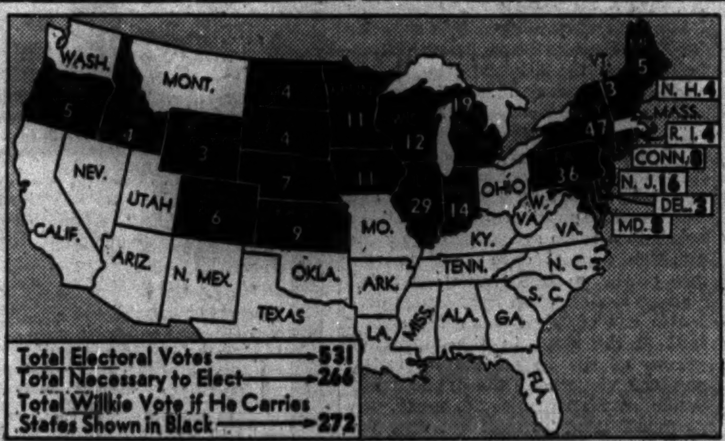
(MAP No. 6)



A possible combination of states with California and Ohio excluded which would give Wendell L. Willkie the 266 electoral votes required for election Nov. 5 is given in the map above, sixth in THE TRIBUNE series. In 1916 Hughes lost Ohio and California and was defeated by 23 votes. That year Ohio was the main anchor state west of the Mississippi for Wilson, whose remaining vote came almost entirely from the south, the mountain states and other states west of the Missouri.

In today's possible combination, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut, a string of eastern states now a battle ground, with 107 electoral votes are put in the Willkie column. Massachusetts, with 17 votes, is excluded.

In the west a string of states which two years ago registered a great Republican upswing are the key states in this possible combination. They are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, South Dakota, Oregon, Wisconsin. In all they have 114 electoral votes. In 1928 this area was the scene of many Republican victories at the November elections. In Iowa, Republicans elected a governor, in Indiana, a secretary of state, and nearly elected a senator; in Wisconsin, Kansas and Oregon, governors and senators; in Michigan and Minnesota they swept the state house, and in Illinois, Richard J. Lyons for senator came up to the Chicago boundary 159,689 votes ahead of Senator Scott Lucas, and was beaten by the Chicago plurality of 255,277 for Lucas rolled up by the Democratic machine.

NEW DEAL POLICY THREATENS WAR, DEWEY CHARGES

Lashes Roosevelt for Economic Failures.

years averaged 46 billions, compared to only 37 billions in the New Deal years. One dollar out of every five taken away. Is that effective pitching for the people?"

"How about the farmer?" Dewey went on. "In the last seven Republican years the average cash farm income was 9 billion dollars a year. But it was only seven and two-thirds billion dollars in the New Deal years, and this includes every dollar of government benefits paid to the farmers.

"You all know the most devastating fact. Mr. Roosevelt's pitching has kept an average of ten million of the workers out of jobs. On the average, there have been six million more unemployed in the last seven years than during the Republican years. No man can figure in dollars the cost of that New Deal failure!"

"Now, is this all of the price we have paid? In the Republican years the taxes averaged three and one-third billion dollars. Under Mr. Roosevelt the average went up to four and three-quarters billion dollars. Even without the defense levies, the tax increase is 40 per cent—to be paid with reduced income allowed you by the New Deal."

Such, Dewey said, is the difference between "promise and performance"—"lower incomes—higher taxes—more unemployment."

The answer, he said, calls for a new administration in the White House.

Dewey assailed the conduct of the Democratic convention which nominated Roosevelt for a third term and the alliance of the National party with Democratic city machines.

"That spectacle in Chicago last July which some fun loving fellow called the 'Democratic National convention,'" he said, "was not 'Democratic'—it was New Deal. It was not 'National' because it was run by telegrams from Washington. And it was not a 'convention' because a rubber stamp can never be a convention."

SAVE YOUR HAIR!

Overcome the One Common Cause of Baldness

And each man's thinning hair will show in one of about six different "standard" patterns of thinness or baldness;

(1) An ever enlarging spot on the crown.
(2) General thinning or high temples.
(3) Receding hair line at forehead.
(4-5-6) Combination of the above.

All this time the hair at the sides and back of the head stays where it belongs because the circulation is still good there.

Our treatment reaches the circulation and improves it. Takes care of the various symptoms caused by its lack. Dry, scaly, itching scalps show almost immediate improvement.

G. O. P. REPORTS 200,000 DUBIOUS REGISTRATIONS

Cook county Republican headquarters announced yesterday that it will demand the erasure of almost 200,000 names from the Chicago poll lists for the election of Nov. 5.

A list of 199,384 names was completed yesterday for presentation to County Judge Edmund J. Jarecki and will be sent to him with a statement that in their house to house canvass the Republican precinct captains discovered that none of the persons named is eligible to vote from the address at which he is now shown to be registered. Many of them have died, a still greater number have moved and in some instances no trace of the persons named could be found.

An official canvass under the direction of the board of election commissioners is to be begun today and the G. O. P. list will be used in this task.

WILLKIE WINNER BY LANDSLIDE IN DE PAUW'S POLL

Greencastle, Ind., Oct. 10 [Special].—Republican Presidential Nominee Wendell L. Willkie can cross DePauw university off his doubtful list. In a straw vote among the university's students, Willkie polled 853 to 175 for President Roosevelt and 46 for Norman Thomas, Socialist party candidate. In another poll on preferences for President in the event of American entry in war, Willkie received 793 votes to 232 for Roosevelt and 37 for Thomas.

A vote of the students on a proposal to introduce Civil Aeronautics authority flying instruction on the campus showed 922 in favor and 120 opposed. The question of an R. O. T. C. unit brought 687 affirmative votes and 353 as opposed.

THE CAMPAIGN
Both Sides of it

REPUBLICAN.

They're After Your Life Insurance.

BY CARLISLE BARGERON.

(Assigned by Republican National Committee.)

The ambition of the New Dealers to get control of the insurance assets of this country reveals the extent of their fiendishness. They contemplate the BILLIONS which you and some 64,000,000 other Americans have invested to provide for your loved ones, and their mouths water.

The manner in which they have already moved against the insurance companies is one of the most amazing chapters of the so-called American revolution. And it is convincing evidence of what they intend to do should they be returned to office.

It is important that you know just what has happened. First, 64,000,000 Americans have laid aside 113 billions of dollars so that when they die their children will continue to receive an education and their other loved ones will be provided for.

These savings under proven insurance management have weathered pestilence, wars, and depressions. They have been used to build up the country. These savings have financed the federal, state, and municipal governments. They have built our railroads, our schools, our water works, our irrigation projects. These savings are inextricably intertwined with the development of this nation.

Tempted by the Money.

Now, the New Deal leftists—Madame Perkins, that great protector of Harry Bridges; Ickie the Ick, Harry the Hop, Henry the Morgue, Tommy the Cork, et al.—they would like to get control of this money for such projects as the Florida ship canal or Passamaquoddy, or to carry on their spite war against business.

Their advance against this vast reservoir of wealth was graphically exposed in a series of articles in the Saturday Evening Post by Dr. Raymond Moley, who from early close association with Mr. Roosevelt knows the workings of the crowd well. Indeed, this advance had all the stealthiness and scheming of Lenin's and Trotsky's capture of Moscow and St. Petersburg.

Under the guise of wanting to find out why so many men were unemployed in a land of plenty, they brought about a congressional investigation which came to be known as the senate monopoly committee. Then over a period of several months they would launch an attack designed to discredit the insurance companies, and then immediately back away so the senators and the general public would not catch on to what was happening.

They even had prepared a dictionary giving a new meaning to words. For example, "spending" was to mean "investment."

As the story unfolded the insurance companies became justifiably alarmed, and the newspapers about as much so. The metropolitan newspapers, confronted with the duty of "printing the news" but nevertheless not wanting to be a party to an irresponsible attack on the very foundations of the country, solved the problem by putting "financial" or "technical" writers to cover the story. These writers don't think in terms of sensational headlines. Certainly they were the proper men for this work. But the New Dealers were so provoked that they set up an attack in the leftist press charging the NEWSPAPERS with suppression.

Framed with C. I. O. "Salesmen."

Nothing was suppressed. The story is all there in detail if you will look back over your papers. The only sensational headline the New Dealers put over, however, was one day when they had several "salesmen" of one insurance company testify they had forged the names of policy holders in elections of directors. You know just how much interest you take in the ballots you periodically receive. And the fact is that state laws tend to make these elections more or less routine, unless there is a controversy.

IT DEVELOPED THAT THE "SALESMEN" WERE C. I. O. STRIKERS.

The investigation was carefully planned to make a CASE AGAINST the insurance companies.

Dr. Moley was responsible more than any other one person for exploding the plot. Mr. Roosevelt's sudden switch to war mindedness brought about the temporary abandonment of the attack.

DEMOCRATIC.

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee.)

Full (of What?) Dinner Pail.

"If we are patient we shall see the time when men like Girdler are recognized as the true heroes of America."

Wendell Willkie speaking. The quotation was taken from the files of the stanchly Republican New York Herald-Tribune, reporting a speech which Willkie delivered at the dinner of the Ohio State society in New York on April 11, 1939.

Note the date. That speech was delivered before Wendell Willkie ever dreamed of becoming the 1940 Presidential candidate of the Republican party. It was delivered when Willkie was in the pay of big corporate interests, when he did their bidding, protected their interests, and voiced their sentiments.

Tom Girdler is chairman of the board of Republic Steel and the most bitter foe of collective bargaining and the national labor relations act thruout the length and breadth of the United States.

Girdler has fought with every resource at his command to avoid complying with the labor relations act. Some of the most deadly labor battles in recent times have taken place around the plants of Republic Steel. Shrewd, hard bitten, uncompromising, Girdler is a throwback to the days when employers enforced their decrees against unionization with the club, the gun, and the iron fist. He prefers strikes, riots, disorders of any kind to avoid yielding up an inch of his kingly authority in the industrial realm.

Tom Girdler was at the dinner along with Willkie. In fact he got top billing over the head of Commonwealth and Southern. His speech was a sharp attack on Senator Wagner, author of the labor relations act, and a demand for the act's emasculation.

What Does He Really Believe?

Because he was a comparative unknown, compared to industrial giants like Girdler, Willkie's speech rated only a paragraph in the press. Here it is:

"Mr. Willkie said that 'these politicians didn't build America and they won't rebuild it.' He added that 'the great industrialists of America, the Girdlers, the Irwins' made the country, and that people thruout the country with 'returning sanity' were coming to realize it. 'If we are patient we will see the time when men like Girdler are recognized as the true heroes of America.'"

If Wendell Willkie can reconcile his praise of Girdler, when the latter was spearhead of the drive to destroy the Wagner act, with his repeated campaign pledges of devotion to the Wagner act, he has an intellectual agility befitting a subtle lawyer who can make black night seem as bright as day.

Whatever his real views may be, this kind of fence hopping hardly instills confidence in those who like stability and balance in the White House.

PRESIDENT HEADS OUT FOR DEFENSE TOUR IN 2 STATES

Politicians to Join Him in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—President Roosevelt left tonight for a rendezvous with Democratic politicians in Pennsylvania and Ohio, two traditionally Republican states, on the eighth of his "nonpolitical" defense tours.

Shortly before his special train left the capital Mr. Roosevelt arranged a halt at Johnstown, Pa., tomorrow morning. There a delegation of Pennsylvania Democratic candidates, headed by Senator Joseph F. Guffey, seeking reëlection, and a delegation of Ohio politicians, headed by former Gov. Martin L. Davey, seeking to make a comeback, will get aboard.

The Pennsylvania delegation will ride on the President's coat tails in the Keystone state. When the Ohio line is crossed, they will yield their chosen seats to the Ohio politicians, who hope to reap votes as a result of their proximity to the party standard bearer.

Dam to be Inspected.

Near Johnstown Mr. Roosevelt will inspect the dam built to safeguard that city from floods. He will continue on to Pittsburgh, where he will inspect steel mills and defense projects.

From Pittsburgh he will proceed to Youngstown for a similar inspection. Newton, O., was added to the schedule for Friday when it was arranged that the special train pause to permit Mr. Roosevelt to look at a prairie selected as the site of a new gunpowder plant.

Saturday the President will visit Columbus and Dayton. In the latter city he will see his son Elliott, whose appointment as a captain in the air corps, despite a complete lack of military experience, has proved a source of embarrassment to his father. That night he will deliver a defense talk to the western hemisphere by radio from his private car at Dayton.

Away for Many Days.

Since his radio address accepting the third term nomination at Chicago, Mr. Roosevelt has been away from the White House more often than he has been in the structure he would like to occupy for another four years, altho in that speech he promised to stay at home and refrain from political activity.

"Events move so fast in other parts of the world that it has become my duty to remain either in the White House itself, or at some nearby point where I can reach Washington and even Europe and Asia by direct telephone, or if need be, I can be back at my desk in the space of a very few hours," he said.

"I shall not have the time or inclination to engage in purely political debate. But I shal' never be loath to call the attention of the nation to deliberate or unwitting falsifications of fact which are sometimes made by political candidates. . . ."

In the 85 days, including today, which have passed since that speech was delivered Mr. Roosevelt has been away from the White House 45 days.

Candidates' Tours

(Story in adjoining column.)

CROSS CONDEMNS STATE REGIME OF LITTLE NEW DEAL

Hugh W. Cross, Republican nominee for lieutenant-governor, last night extended the third term issue to the state administration situation in Illinois.

"Are we going to tolerate a third term of the Little New Deal in Illinois under an administration that was handpicked by the corrupt and all-powerful political bosses?" he asked in a radio speech. "This same machine expects once more to ride into power on Roosevelt's coattails."

Cross also assailed the "Humanity" battle cry of the Democrats, saying that if the dead in the unmarked graves of the Peoria state hospital and the victims of the typhoid epidemic at Manteno could speak, the "corrupt gang" would not dare use the word.

HERSHEY CALLS HIS PARTY AN AID TO STATE TRADE

Dares Rivals to Show Retarding Law.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

Harry B. Hershey, Democratic candidate for governor, last night dared his opponents to mention any state legislation since 1933 which has retarded business. He spoke at meetings in the Elgin Masonic temple and in the Aurora armory. There were about 500 persons at each meeting.

"Policies of the state administration since 1933 have been based on the belief that government should operate in the interest of all the people," Hershey said. "State prosperity is being furthered by the effective, nonpolitical, program in which the administration, in coöperation with business and industrial leaders, is working to attract new plants to Illinois. Neither labor nor agriculture can thrive unless business also prospers."

Addresses 400 at De Kalb.

Earlier in the day Hershey addressed a crowd of 400, including many farmers, at the Eagles' club in De Kalb.

"I've been a lawyer down in Taylorville for many years," said Hershey. "But I've been in farming, too, and I know the farmers' problems.

"There never has been a national administration which gave the farmer the break that this one has, and it is particularly fitting that De Kalb county should be a chief beneficiary because this county was the first to establish a farm bureau.

"We've all been for you at Springfield, too. Gov. Horner was the friend of the farmer, and when I am elected governor, I can think of no finer heritage than the responsibility for carrying on and extending his principles."

Other Speakers at Meeting.

Other speakers were Congressman John C. Martin, who is a candidate for state auditor; State Senator Harold G. Ward, candidate for attorney general, and George Brown, representing Edward J. Hughes, who is seeking reëlection as secretary of state.

Martin's speech took the form of an attack on Wendell Willkie.

"I read that in a recent address Willkie said he would make a new world if elected," Martin said. "He said this world would be built of concrete and steel and with the flesh and blood of man. Was there ever such an open declaration of proposed dictatorship by a candidate?"

INQUIRY ORDERED ON ELECTION YEAR INCREASES IN WPA

Senate Group to Summon Relief Agency Head.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Howard Hunter.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—The senate committee on campaign expenditures today ordered an investigation of charges that the Work Projects administration is padding its rolls in places where it will do the most good on election day, Nov. 5.

Senator Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], chairman of the committee, announced that Howard Hunter, acting WPA commissioner, will be called to testify next week concerning complaints from various unidentified localities.

Meanwhile it was learned that the WPA employment total went up 43,142 during the week ending Oct. 2, the last week for which figures are available, notwithstanding the boast of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins that, "month by month, employment on defense contracts is rising."

Altho employment increases in defense industries should be much higher in October than in August, when the program was just getting under way, the WPA authorized an increase of 100,000 in its employment quota for October, raising it from 1,700,000 to 1,800,000. The authorized limit of 1,800,000 will permit an actual increase of more than 100,000 in WPA employment, for the actual September level was below the authorization of 1,700,000. On Sept. 18, for example, there were 1,689,042 persons on WPA rolls.

Rise to Limit Expected.

By Oct. 2 the figure had risen to 1,746,518, an increase of 43,142 over the previous week, and the total for Oct. 9, not yet available, is expected to be close to the authorized limit of 1,800,000.

WPA officials deny that politics is responsible for the current increases, insisting that the approach of winter calls for more relief. The authorized increase of 100,000, they assert, includes 28,400 for seven southeastern states where the cotton picking season soon will be over.

Republican leaders, however, call attention to the law of concomitant variations which seems to govern the relationship between federal relief rolls and election years. In 1933, a nonelection year, the number of persons on federal relief declined 15.4 from June thru October, while in 1934, an election year, the number increased 11.6 per cent during the same period.

Other Years Compared.

In 1935, a nonelection year, the federal relief rolls declined 9.6 from June thru October, and in 1936, an election year, they increased 14.4 per cent.

In 1937, a nonelection year, the federal relief rolls declined 16.9 per cent from June thru October, and in 1938, an election year, they increased 19.2 per cent.

In 1939, a nonelection year, the rolls decreased 25.5 from June thru October, while in this Presidential election year the rolls are being increased from an average of 1,755,526 in June to 1,800,000 in October.

The commonly accepted estimate is that the average WPA worker represents four votes, so that the increase of 100,000 in the WPA rolls from September to October will affect 400,000 voters. Only a few thousand additional WPA jobs would be required to swing a reasonably close election in any state, according to the political experts.

Quotas Shown in Table.

| State. | September. | October. |
|---|---|---|
| Illinois | 111,000 | 117,000 |
| Wisconsin | 38,690 | 40,000 |
| Iowa | 19,103 | 20,850 |
| Michigan | 66,000 | 69,000 |
| Indiana | 41,000 | 44,000 |
| Ohio | 105,000 | 105,000 |
| Pennsylvania | 155,000 | 155,000 |
| New York | 148,000 | 148,000 |
| California | 78,500 | 83,700 |

IMPORTANT NEW EVIDENCE ON WHERE TO PUT YOUR 1941 ADVERTISING!

United States Consumer Purchase Survey Gives 4 New Insights into America's Richest Market Opportunity!

1 Today, the total retail purchases of rural families are twice as great as the retail sales in rural* places!

2 Today's average rural family has as much money to spend as the average urban family!

The term "rural" in this study refers to towns under 2,500 population and adjacent farms.*

NEW FACTS
that may well change your whole sales picture

It will pay you to see NEW FACTS THAT MAY WELL CHANGE YOUR WHOLE SALES PICTURE, Country Gentleman's analysis of the United States Consumer Purchase Survey. When our representative calls, let him show you this important study... or write Country Gentleman Advertising Dept., Phila., Pa., for a copy.

YOUR merchandise is not advertised nationally unless it is advertised in rural America's publication. Depending on the slop-over circulation of urban publications is not enough. You must use a magazine with rural coverage and a rural wallop . . . one that digs in and shares the lives of the people it serves.

Country Gentleman is your best buy. Its authoritative farm departments keep its readers up to the minute on what's going on in Agriculture. It has backed every worth while idea for general rural advancement for more than 100 years. Its top-quality fiction and women's service departments make it a magazine for every member of the family. Do you wonder it gets unequalled attention?

Given the vast potential of the upper-half rural market plus Country Gentleman's unique power to sell it, we challenge any other combination of market and medium to present an advertising opportunity so surely worth while!

MR. WILLKIE MEETS SOME NEW DEAL PARTISANS.

It is not recalled that Mr. Landon in his campaign of four years ago encountered any violence when he traveled or any discourtesy when he spoke. He wasn't egged or stoned and his traveling companions and local hosts did not have to dodge showers of vegetables. Mr. Willkie and the people who are about him, including Mrs. Willkie, have had some unpleasant experiences with hostile crowds in certain regions where the New Deal agitators have succeeded in developing a greater class antagonism than America has known before.

For the most part these were the places where the New Deal encouraged industrial warfare immediately after the election four years ago. They are regions where the communist party, with the coöperation of federal departments in Washington, undertook property seizures with governmental encouragement. They are the regions where state laws were suspended to permit the occupation of plants and the control of industry.

Mr. Roosevelt was paying his debt to John Lewis and the C. I. O. Lewis had permitted the communist militants to take command of his army of occupation because he regarded the communists as the most experienced and most determined organizers of riot among his adherents. Some of his own intimates told him that the Red vanguardists would get him if he gave them enough leeway, but he thought he was stronger than any of them, that he could use and still control them. That may still remain to be determined.

The new animus of class hatred which the New Deal has raised in American political action can be easily traced to its sources as it demonstrates itself. The National Labor Relations board, ever since it began operations, has preached and practiced a doctrine intended to make workers believe that the private enterprises which provide employment are the natural enemies of the men and women given employment. The labor board truly reflects the opinion of the New Deal administrators in Washington and is authoritative.

The attack upon business of all kinds proceeds with the dictum that private enterprise is unscrupulous as well as incompetent. It must be put down, and the business men who have conducted it must be deprived of their independence and their initiative. That is the principal reason why unemployment is as big a national problem now as it was in '33, when Mr. Roosevelt undertook to end it in less than a year and at the same time stop deficit financing and cut the national debt, which he said was putting idle men on the streets.

The hostility Mr. Willkie has encountered in certain sections, where the New Deal poison has taken effect, hasn't hurt him politically. Fortunately, it hasn't hurt him physically. He can hold his own good naturedly against such demonstrations, and the spirit of foul play and unfairness exhibited by the New Deal groups may make him votes rather than take them from him.

The general temper of the country is not represented or illustrated by a minority of truculent men who express the hatreds they have been taught to feel for a political opponent. The New Deal, in subsequent undertakings against the country's institutions in a third term, might use these violent revolutionaries as shock troops, but the majority of the citizens may gain some profit from observing the consequences of violent teachings which have not been confined to circles outside the White House.

When Mr. Willkie speaks for the unity of interests and of the stake all Americans have in solving their domestic problems, he refers to the destructive New Deal effort to create classes and turn them against each other, making the common effort impossible. Dictatorships in Europe have been promoted by minority groups organized for violence. When the people have been persuaded to vote away their rights and relinquish their control of government, the Shirts have stepped in and taken over. Then it was too late to change.

TIME OFF TO VOTE.

On election day every political jobholder in Chicago will have a holiday. To the last man and woman they will cast their votes for Roosevelt, humanity, and continuance on the pay roll. They will have ample time left over to round up the reliefers and herd them to the polls.

The law of Illinois provides that private employers, upon request, must grant any employé two hours off to vote. These requests are seldom made, and when made frequently result in authorization to leave work late in the afternoon. That means that many men and women who are self-supporting, tax paying citizens get to the polls at the time of the closing rush when election thieves are most active and surveillance on behalf of an honest election is most difficult.

The proposal has been made that on election day private employers adopt the Saturday schedule of hours and dismiss all employés for the day at lunch time. The plan has much to recommend it. It is to be hoped that it will be adopted wherever the employés desire it and wherever it can be instituted without imposing loss or hardship upon them.

FAILURE AT THE TOP.

Paul G. Armstrong, who is in charge of the draft in Illinois, is of the opinion that only 6,000 men will be summoned from this state in the first call. Mr. Roosevelt originally announced that he wanted 24,000 men from Illinois in November and another 24,000 a few months later. Now it is explained that the failure to provide barracks and equipment has forced a drastic revision downward in the quotas. As was reported in THE TRIBUNE a few days ago in a dispatch from Washington, the first call for 400,000 men from all the states has been slashed to 100,000. A 75 per cent reduction in Illinois is therefore to be expected.

It is not likely that many of the young men eligible for the draft will rejoice over this delay. Their position today is an awkward one. It is difficult for those of them who are out of work to land a job because they may be called away at any moment. For the same reason advancement to positions of greater responsibility at higher pay has been withheld from many who have employment. Only the fewest of the men eligible for the draft are unwilling to make the sacrifice demanded of them and not even the bad example set by Elliott Roosevelt has, as yet, seriously affected their morale; but they are indignant at the wholly unnecessary hardships which Mr. Roosevelt has imposed upon them through his executive bungling.

The country, said Mr. Roosevelt to congress last May, is in fearful danger. Give me billions to buy the arms we haven't got. A few days later he asked the right to call the 350,000 men of the National Guard into federal service for a year. And then he demanded the draft. I want 400,000 conscripts in November and another 400,000 in April, he said.

All these requests congress granted as rapidly as could be desired by any executive. Congress placed hundreds of millions of dollars in the President's hands to spend at his discretion in addition to the billions appropriated for specific purposes. The draft act was passed almost as promptly and there never was any doubt that it would be passed.

And now Mr. Roosevelt's war department confesses that it can't take 400,000 conscripts in November. It hasn't the barracks for them. It hasn't the uniforms or the weapons for them. None of these things is ready because Mr. Roosevelt is deficient in executive capacity. He doesn't know how to plan things; he doesn't know how to get things done.

If the President had had any real talent for administration he would have started his planning for the enlarged army long before he asked congress for money and authorizations. By the time the money was voted his camp sites would have been selected and all the contracts would have been drawn and agreed upon. Work would have started as soon as the signatures could be placed upon the dotted lines. It would now be far advanced toward completion.

That kind of planning and preparation is quite beyond Mr. Roosevelt. He is accustomed to delude himself with the notion that the appropriation of a lot of money is equivalent to an accomplishment. And from the start he has been using the war scare for political purposes. He has deliberately whipped up fear in this country in the expectation that it will give him the third term his ambition craves. He was more concerned to frighten the country than to strengthen its defenses.

The fact that his executive bungling has disorganized the lives of several hundred thousand members of the National Guard and some millions of other young men who are eligible for the draft but don't know when the call may come, means nothing to him. He hasn't even the grace to apologize for his failure. Perhaps he thinks that he has done a workmanlike job.

This is the man who says that in a time of national danger he is irreplaceable and indispensable.

MR. HINES IN THIS CAMPAIGN.

The final court of appeals in New York has affirmed the sentence imposed on James Hines of the New Deal black wing. He will not be able to do anything for the third term. He will not be able to vote for it. He will be in prison, sent there by Thomas Dewey, who is familiar with the gangster end of the more abundant life. Mr. Hines was very helpful in the second term campaign. A New Deal judge tried to save him for the third term, but failed.

Friends of Mr. Hines in New York and in other states, his companion pieces, are carrying on for the cause. They need a win. Mr. Willkie has promised them a trip to Mexico—or to some other place.

ALBEN CAN STILL GET IT.

Kentucky newspapers note that the Civil Aeronautics board has allocated 89 flying fields to their state in the national defense program subject to congressional appropriation. The cost of the ports is estimated at $8,080,500, a minor item for Senator Barkley, but it helps to keep him in practice. One Kentucky observation was that the state was favored in airports because of the gold at Fort Knox. If the New Deal decided to put it back in circulation the boys could be flying in from all parts of the state. That's a golden dream even for Alben. Certainly some of the other fellows would want their cut in the sharing of our wealth.

BOSS HAGUE'S DOMAIN.

[New York World-Telegram.]

Bitter words were exchanged in the United States senate over charges that "pressure" had been applied to prevent a senate campaign investigating committee inquiry into political conditions in Jersey City.

The charges were made by Republicans, denied by Democrats. And the inquiry has been postponed until Oct. 15, which won't give the committee much time to do a fact-finding job and make a report before the election on Nov. 5.

Certainly political conditions in Jersey City are overdue for investigation. That is the bailiwick of Boss Frank Hague, mayor for 23 years and vice chairman of the Democratic national committee since 1924. Just now Mayor Hague is fighting an attempt by the Republican majority in the New Jersey legislature to put voting machines into Jersey City, and to apply election reform laws there.

Elections in Jersey City have smelled ever since Boss Hague came to power. His success in delivering huge Democratic majorities has been matched by his success in blocking investigations of his methods. Republicans contend that many of their votes never get counted and that thousands of Democratic ballots are cast in the names of nonvoters, nonresidents, and dead persons. President Roosevelt and other New Dealers have always welcomed his corrupt machine assistance at election time, and this year is no exception.

THINGS THEY ASK US.

What are the two bright stars, close together, that seem to be running interference for the moon early in the evening?

They are planets to us, and their names are Jupiter and Saturn.

What is the glorious morning star that greets me when I go on an early back porch prowl to see if the milkman has come?

The planet Venus, always a handsome wench.

* * *

The word is an American corruption of a French name for a similar container: Dame Jeanne. We do not know why the French adopted this nickname; maybe the shape suggested a plump little old woman to the Gallic eye.

* * *

What is the origin of the expression, "The devil and Tom Walker," which I haven't seen or heard for years?

This is a tough one. Our books supply us with only half answers, and we will have to do some guessing. The usual form of the expression is, "That beats the devil and Tom Walker," which may be translated as "that surpasses everything." We assume that the deeper meaning is, "that goes beyond anything ever invented by the Father of Lies and a famous human liar named Tom Walker."

But who was this Walker? Well, there is an old expression in London street slang, "Walker!" meaning "humbug" or "nonsense." You can find it in Dickens' "Christmas Carol." It has an expanded form, "Hookey Walker!" It signifies that the story told is not true or the thing promised will not occur.

Now, then, there is a London legend about a clerk who was charged with the duty of reporting loafing workmen to his employer. But whatever story he told was always denied by the workmen, who gave this Walker the reputation of being a terrible liar. He had an eagle beak nose; therefore he was nicknamed "Hookey."

But "Hookey's" first name was John and not Tom, and maybe he doesn't hook up with "the devil and Tom Walker" at all.

These are towers of stone and lace,
Wrought in beauty, wrought in grace;
These are the towers of fantasy
Washed by a green and sapphire sea,
Lifting out of the hazy morn,

These are the towers a poet wrought,

Let's Go Out and Eat Weeds.

Among your marigolds, pushing up between the alley fence and the garbage can, in the empty lot down the street, almost anywhere that there is an inch of ground and a spot of sun grows the most plentiful weed of gardens and fields—the common pigweed, goosefoot, or lamb's quarters. You'll find this plant or its close relatives growing from six inches to six feet in height in many places all over the world. Its history is longer than yours or at least better known.

Remnants of lamb's quarters have been found in the early lake villages of Switzerland, which date from the stone age. Doubtless the prehistoric housewives gathered its spring shoots and relished them as potherbs. Perhaps like the squaws of our western states they ground the seeds and made of them a bread or mush. The Zuni Indians claim that a related species was one of the principal foodstuffs of the infancy of their race before the gods made them the gift of corn.

Country people here and in Britain now call it wild spinach and many of its old names—baconweed, mutton tops, hen fat—indicate its ancient and honored use in the kitchen. The Scotch call it midden meals, or myles in dialect, an apt name pointing to its chosen habitat on the kitchen rubbish heap and also its reputation as a potherb.

This weed also glories in the name of dirty Dick! Virginia Moe.

Referred to the Religious Editor.

Can any one of your antiquarian churchgoing experts answer this one: What is, or was, a "jug breaking"? This expression appears on an admission ticket, printed on a lithographed cardboard, ornately adorned with a cluster of red roses, announcing: "Concert and jug breaking, Pleasant Hill church, March 10, 1885." ### AUTUMN GALE.

The winds swept in all night, the winds converging
From Laramie and towns along the Platte,
From prairies where they set the wheat to surging,
Winds from Pierre and Fargo and Medicine Hat.

The winds sang thru the streets, washed wall and gable,
Swept baleful things away. When I awoke
I saw the golden city sought in fable,
I breathed the sweetness of a crystal smoke,

A smoke invisible which still came streaming
In from the land, and left this mortared heap
So palpable, so clarified, so gleaming,
I thought at first I still must be asleep.

Outposts of Empire.

Not long ago I was in Calgary and became interested in the names of hotels there. I suppose this is just another of the British schemes to create bonds of empire. The following are some of the names: Queen's, Imperial, Alexandra, Carlton, Empress, York, Royal, Empire, Wales, Victoria, Palace, Dominion, Arlington, King Edward. The worst thing about it is that nearly all the beer drinking is done in these same hotels. So when a stranger in town wants a bed or a beer, it is pretty hard to forget that he is somehow tied up with England. Ossian.

Speaking of Old Band Leaders.

At Electric park, on the banks of Brush creek, down in Kansas City, the eccentric band conductor [Oct. 8] was billed as Ferullo. Maybe here, at Sans Souci, he put on the dog as Furrello, but I doubt it! Anyhow, Creatore was my favorite baton flinger. He was matchless! The Saxon.

EPIDEMIC DIARRHEA IN INFANTS.

NATURE seems to surround the newborn babe with every safeguard. With the mother in good health, food is immediately available, and if the tot can be kept clean and warm that is all he asks for. Comfort and a full stomach make for good digestion and a happy babyhood.

But every now and then a peculiar type of epidemic may break out in the nursery, the cause of which has practically defied modern methods of investigation. The mortality rate may be high and the autumn months are even more dangerous in this respect than those of spring and summer.

Youngsters of from 2 to 20 days of age seem to be selected for this uncanny visitation. The first signs include refusal to eat, no gain in weight, an increase in the number of stools, listlessness, a pouchy abdomen, and occasional vomiting. While these symptoms are presenting themselves the temperature may be normal.

Unless something is done—and that speedily—the toxic stage will soon appear. Diarrhea then becomes pronounced and—because so many minerals are thrown off via the stools—acidosis may develop. Then come unconsciousness and shrinking of the tissues due to lack of fluid.

The bowel movements are frequent, liquid, and yellow in color. When milk is given it is vomited immediately. By this time the fever has risen to 100 or 101 degrees and, search as he may, the physician can find no explanation—no pneumonia, middle ear disease, or other malady.

Of course, it is far wiser to control the ailment than it is to cure it. Accordingly, on the first indication of diarrhea, the infant should be assumed to be ill despite the fact that there is no distress. A complete change of environment is demanded. The victim should be removed to another room and new bedding and fresh clothing provided. Visiting must be prohibited strictly and every effort must be made to identify the organisms found growing in the little patient's nose and throat as well as in the discharges. If the mother is not well—even if she only has a cold—feedings must be omitted or special precautions taken to avoid infection.

Inasmuch as we do not know the specific origin, the objective is to treat the diarrhea and prevent the absorption of toxins. We much recall that the chemical balance of these mites of humanity can change quickly. It is essential, therefore, to give dilute salt water by mouth or inject it beneath the skin. Sometimes small transfusions of blood are life saving. It is absolutely necessary to keep the total ratio of fluids in the tissues at par. In other words, all that is lost via the intestinal tract must be replaced—and that promptly.

As we can well understand, no food of any character should be introduced into the stomach. There will be few babies who cannot endure bold starvation for from 12 to 24 hours. Solutions of glucose are also indicated, for by this means nutritive material may be supplied without the slightest strain on the part of the digestive apparatus. If these procedures are begun in time, the symptoms will vanish.

In most of these cases—in the acute stage — the sick infant is so exhausted that he cannot even cry. Only with the return of natural bowel habits may nourishment be given by mouth and then with great caution. Fractional amounts are administered first and the quantity augmented slowly. A return to a full schedule should require several days, perhaps a week or more. Because the child is hungry the tendency to feed too generously and too often must be guarded against.

Sulfanilamide is of value should complications arise—such as an abscess in the middle ear or pneumonia.

RADIUM BURN.

Mrs. D. R. H. writes: Does the use of radium sometimes leave a burned or inflamed area?

REPLY.

Yes, if the dose is not properly gauged and adequate protection is not provided. The effect is to destroy cells. Those that have been killed may slough away later.

ARSENIC SPRAY.

C. C. writes: Is it possible to remove arsenic spray from apples by merely washing them under the cold water faucet?

REPLY.

A HERITAGE TO PRESERVE.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—A handful of American colonists championed the cause of freedom for their fellow man and fought and died in 1776 that their progeny might live free from the control of others and enjoy the privileges of citizenship. Later, the sons and grandsons of these men fought against the crooked balloting of the shanty system of New York, the chain system of voting and the mob intimidation of the larger cities. They fought for registration to prevent double voting and for the official card for identification.

All this fighting and dying by the pioneers was done so that you, Messrs. Gregarach and McIan, and you, Messrs. Malezewski and Rodziewicz, and you, dress extra in Hollywood, and that pretty waitress in Piedmont, S. C., and you, Mr. Cowpuncher, snoozing in the shade of a wistaria in Node, Wyo., and you, young announcer of Greensburg, Pa., and that shapely miss sweating on the tennis court at Folkston, Ga., and that big chested Greek sponge diver at Tarpon Springs, Fla., and that old sourdough prospecting in the Stanley basin of Idaho, and you, Russian naturalized citizen, cleaning casings in the Union Stock Yards of Chicago, and you, Indian guide up in Maine, and you, harvest worker in Darina, Minn., and you, drilling that well in Econtuchka, Okla., and you, Mr. Sheepherder in Ekalaka, Mont., and you, reading that detective mystery in the caboose of the fruit express speeding thru Farisita, Colo., and you, telephone operator in Newport, Ark., and you, mister, down there in Frydek, Tex., cutting broom straw, and you, school teacher of Kalkaska, Mich., and that ravishing, raven-haired clothes model parading along Park avenue, and that handsome gas station attendant in Nebraska, Ind., and you, reporter, legging it in Muscatine, Ia. And you, traffic cop, blowing the whistle for the east and west traffic in Norwich, Conn.; and you, fat lady, lugging those bundles and waddling along Seven Mile road, Detroit; yes, and for that matter each and every one of you in these United States—that you might understand the importance of your heritage as free Americans and ballot as you choose and with all secrecy.

Yes, a handful of early Americans fought and died so that a candidate's name might be printed in black on white or colored paper so that you might put an X wherever you thought it would do the most good for the most people.

It was an inheritance bequeathed to you, Mr. and Mrs. America, by those American colonists. Don't let them down, seek out your polling place every election and VOTE. CHET SWITAL.

FIGURES APPLY TO ALL.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Referring to Mr. Welborn's statistical table in THE TRIBUNE: I thought that that particular joke had been exhausted by this time. He cites Mussolini, Hitler, Stalin, and Roosevelt as the four horsemen, due to the fact that if you add the year in which any one of them was born, came to power, years in power, and present age, you would arrive at the same result, which divided by two would give you 1940. Does he not know that the same is true with any one?

P. R. CHAMBERLAIN.

IN MEMORY OF PULASKI.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—In August, 1779, Casimir Pulaski, a young man from Poland, made the following speech to the continental congress: "I could not submit to stoop before the sovereigns of Europe, so I come to hazard all for the freedom of America and am desirous of passing the rest of my life in a country truly free and and of settling as a citizen to fight for liberty."

On Oct. 11, 1779, this young man died in action at the age of 31, giving his all for the United States of America!

Now, on Oct. 11, 1940, 161 years later, young Americans of Polish descent will reëcho their hero's spirited determination to fight for freedom as they rally at Pulaski park, Blackhawk and Noble streets. Like Pulaski, they will reaffirm their 100 per cent allegiance to the United States, and will pledge their lifeblood so that American independence be preserved.

STAN LEE KAPUSTKA,
Pulaski Day Committee.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—For the 22d time since 1918 Chicago has gone off daylight saving time to return to central standard time for the winter.

Since April 28, 1940, when daylight saving time went into effect, the city has saved 150 hours of sunlight. Each day there has been that extra hour for safe driving, an hour more for children to play safely outdoors, and an added hour for relaxation for all before nightfall.

This changing of clocks twice a year is a nuisance. Why not try eastern time for one full year and then have a referendum on the question?

EDWARD T. HEINEMAN.

QUERY ABOUT THE PENSION.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Can anybody explain why one-third of the meager old age pension was withheld from the good old citizens who have spent their lives making this country prosperous, and worked and denied themselves all recreation so that they would be able to live when they are old and worn out?

We all know where their savings went, but where did part of their pensions go—and why? A. B. R.

LIGHTS ON THE BUSES.

Cicero, Ill., Oct. 7.—Chicago is noted for Courtesy and Safety weeks. Isn't it a violation of the state law for the Chicago Motor Coach company to operate its buses without directional lights? The drivers do not always use the arm signal. The Chicago and West Towns Railway corporation have them on their buses.

CHARLES G. HURLBERT.

SOME WERE OVERLOOKED.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—To "Unsigned," who wrote from Cicero, "God Bless 'Em All":

You forget to mention the superintendent of Chicago sewers, Mayor Hague, Tom Pendergast, Capt. Elliott, Colonel of Marines Jimmy, Ensign of Navy John [the last three are sons of our charming President], and last but not least, good old Henry Wallace who killed 'em to the last pig, and acid tongue, Harold Ickes.

TRUST ESTATE.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a trust be attached by creditors?

2. If so, how may I prevent this from taking place? I own some real estate, title is vested in my name, part of the moneys paid on the property is being held in trust until parents' death, then I receive it. There is a mortgage for $6,000 held by HOLC.

3. Now the question in my mind is: If I sell, which I contemplate doing, could creditors come in on it and attach it, other than liens, real estate fees and lawyers' fees? I understand that these have to be paid but I also understand that judgments on husband or myself would be unable to attach a trust. However, if and when the trust came in my hands they then could attach it, if they knew it.

4. Am I right about this?

5. Another thing—how could I protest the amount of moneys in trust when it does come to me [from my husband's creditors]. I am not to blame for his creditors and I have kept up all payments on this property; therefore do not feel that I should be responsible for these judgments. I probably could cover the amount with a blanket mortgage but that may make it look skeptical and questionable since it is quite a sum.

W. C.

1. Yes, as to an ordinary interest of a beneficiary which is payable in all events. No, as to the beneficiary's interest in what is called a spendthrift trust.

2. If what you are considering is the creation of a spendthrift trust, we advise you to employ an attorney for this purpose.

3. The money would not be payable to your creditors any sooner than it would be payable to you, if that is what you mean to ask.

4. See 1.

5. In general, it would be too late for you to put the money out of the reach of your creditors after it comes into your hands.

DWIGHT GREEN'S DRIVE PICKS UP NEW CONFIDENCE

He Is Hailed in Former Democratic Stronghold.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Belleville, Ill., Oct. 10.—The campaign of Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor, gathered an upsurge of confidence here tonight.

In this Democratic stronghold and hometown of Sam Nudelman, deposed boss of the Democratic machine, 1,500 listeners applauded Green's denunciation of machine politics.

The crowd was a bit different from the usual political gathering. It was earnest, alert, and eager. Phony applause was absent.

Assails Machine Rule.

Green's audience listened carefully to his speech and applauded agreement with his statement that "prosperity cannot return to Illinois until the vicious grasp of the statehouse machine is broken."

Earlier he spoke to 800 farmers in St. Libory, 27 miles southeast of Belleville. It was the first time a gubernatorial candidate ever had spoken in the town. There, and in a reception in the Hotel Belleville and in visits to other towns hereabouts, Green learned that the farmers are tired of "not being our own bosses."

"It ain't enough to be a farmer any more," one veteran of the plowed acres told Green. "You got to be a bookkeeper and a hired hand for them Washington wiseacres."

Meets Grange Chief.

At noon Green spoke to 150 business men in Belleville, telling them:

"The Kelly-Nash-statehouse gang stand ready on Nov. 5 to rob ballot boxes and to intimidate and force persons on relief and WPA to sell their votes for bread."

The Republican candidate declared that the New Deal is desperately eager for the 29 electoral votes of Illinois and said "our people must be prepared to defeat the most desperate effort ever made by these masters of crooked politics."

70 of 90 Yale Professors Pledge Support to Willkie

New York, Oct. 10 [Special].—Seventy of the 90 full professors at Yale university are supporting Wendell L. Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee, Dr. Alan Valentine, executive director of the National Committee of Democrats for Willkie, announced today.

MRS. H. D. LOCKWOOD DIES.

CALLS VOLUNTEERS OF 1936 TO ORGANIZE CLUBS FOR WILLKIE

Chauncey McCormick, the national chairman of The Volunteers, the organization of independent voters who supported former Gov. Landon for the Presidency in 1936, called yesterday upon the 60,000 former members of the organization to form Willkie clubs in the present campaign. Files and records of The Volunteers were turned over to the Associated Willkie Clubs of Illinois, at headquarters at 22 West Monroe street.

"Just as The Volunteers did four years ago, the Willkie clubs are now giving expression to the political convictions of the 'plain citizen,'" McCormick said. "They are forming in every neighborhood, checking registrations, holding meetings and discussion forums, and bringing the issues home to their friends.

"As former chairman, I appeal to every member of The Volunteers to work now for Willkie clubs. If your neighborhood does not already have a Willkie club, the headquarters will assist you with advice and material to form one. I intend this call to illustrate also the alliance and coöperation of separate organizations created for a like purpose."

TWO TRAINMEN KILLED IN RAIL CROSSING CRASH

Two trainmen were killed early yesterday when a 69 car freight train plowed into a 13 car freight train being switched across the main line of the Indiana Harbor Belt Line railroad south of Roosevelt road in Broadview. Police Chief Edward Grant said the accident occurred during a heavy fog.

Those killed were Edward Wallish, 1151 Sibley boulevard, Hammond, Ind., the fireman, and A. I. Burns, of Hammond, the head brakeman. They were thrown from the cab of the main line freight and buried under a boxcar. Harry Ernst, 53 years old, of 2727 Martha street, Hammond, the engineer, was critically injured.

DINES ON STEAK, KILLS HIMSELF IN RESTAURANT

Charles M. Curtright, 27 years old, 9220 Winchester avenue, ordered a steak dinner last night in a restaurant at 3204 North avenue. During the meal he told a waitress that "life is very complicated." When he finished he congratulated the proprietor on the "delicious steak," then walked to the rear of the restaurant and shot and killed himself. He was honorably discharged from the army signal corps in 1938.

In a note left for his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Arkenberg, with whom he lived, he stated that he had been "a bad son, an ineffective patriot, and an indifferent Christian," but did not elaborate on the statements. Before joining the army he was a law clerk.

LYONS RIDICULES TALK HERSHEY TO TURN ON BOSSES

Hints Whisper Campaign by Party Workers.

Astoria, Ill., Oct. 10 [Special].—Richard J. Lyons, stumping for the Illinois Republican ticket, today exposed and condemned a concerted whisper from Democratic campaign workers, especially downstate, that Harry B. Hershey, the Democratic nominee for governor, will dump his Nash-Kelly and his state house supporters after Nov. 5.

Lyons, a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination last spring, spoke here this afternoon. "I'm sure that Mr. Hershey has more honor than is attributed to him by some of his zealous precinct captains," he said. "Even thieves hate a double crosser.

Decries Democratic Tactics.

"This whispering campaign is inspired by desperation. To carry their precincts, some of the Democratic workers are trying to cleanse their candidate of his sponsorship by Ed Kelly, Pat Nash and back room boys of Springfield who are involved in state house scandals.

"On public platforms, Hershey is proclaiming that he has no boss. He cannot, however, deny that he needs and wants the ballot thieves of the Chicago city hall to oppose the candidacy of Dwight Green. He cannot deny that his downstate campaign is financed by a shakedown of contractors and state employés managed by a state house clique.

Appeal to Independents.

"In whispers to independent voters, the Democratic workers are apologizing for their candidate's associates. They say that Hershey can't avoid this association during the campaign, that he would be helpless without it, but that he is such an honorable man that he would end the association were he to become governor next January.

"A promise of a double cross is hardly trustworthy. Hershey can't be relied upon to bite the hands that are feeding him slush money. It's more likely that the double cross would be given to any independent voter who would swallow this whispered argument."

LYONS WILL DELIVER SERIES OF SPEECHES ON TRANSIT POLITICS

Former State Representative Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville will make the first of a series of eight radio talks tonight on "Politics Behind Chicago's Traction and Subway Muddle." Lyons will speak each Monday and Friday from 6:45 to 7 p. m. over station WMAQ.

Lyons said he will expose the political manipulation of the car lines by the Democratic machine which, he asserted, has for years postponed the long delayed traction unification and now threatens to hold up for several more years the operation of Chicago's subway system.

His first talk will be an outline of Chicago's traction problem and its relation to Democratic machine politics, he said. In subsequent talks, Lyons said, he will expose the politics in the subway, the operations of the Chicago Motor Coach company, the use of the traction fund, and will discuss the future stake of the transit employés and the taxpayers in the traction unification plans.

THAT 2 PCT. CLUB IS JUST A JOKE TO STELLE—NOW

Laughs Off Queries About System He Fought.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 10.—Gov. John Stelle laughed off questions about the Democratic 2 per cent political assessment against state employés during a press conference this afternoon.

Pete Rossiter.

"Nudelman left the state house so hurriedly I didn't get a chance to ask him how the system worked," Stelle said jocularly.

Finance Director Samuel L. Nudelman, head of the sick room cabinet during the invalidism of the late Gov. Henry Horner, resigned yesterday.

In the spring primary, when he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in opposition to the Hershey ticket successfully favored by the Nash-Kelly machine and the sickroom cabinet, Stelle condemned the 2 per cent club for shaking down state employés, including those under civil service.

They'll Join Forces.

Any worries Candidate Harry B. Hershey may have entertained about the future course of the state machine were relieved today by an announcement that Stelle will join him at a meeting of pay rollers in the state armory here Monday. The employés are to learn there will be no relaxation of the pressure upon them to deliver on Nov. 5.

Department heads and others, especially those conspicuous in the primary campaign, are still worried about their jobs. Pete Rossiter, local Democratic boss appointed administrative auditor yesterday, today was asking the chiefs of all code departments to submit their resignations.

"Every governor is entitled to select his personnel," Stelle said by way of explanation.

Casey Reappointed.

The governor announced that Charles P. Casey was reappointed director of public works. Casey succeeded F. Lynden Smith, whose body was found in a bathtub of a Springfield hospital March 9.

The governor didn't reply to questions about the future of Ernst Lieberman, chief highway engineer under Smith and Casey. A second reappointment today was of John Hallihan as director of education and registration.

Director of Public Welfare A. L. Bowen, who is under pressure to resign, told reporters that he will not quit while under fire, nor will he fight should the governor discharge him. Bowen, 71 years old, who has served under five governors, is appealing a conviction for neglect of duty in the deadly Manteno state hospital epidemic.

Resignations of Health Commissioner A. C. Baxter and of Conservation Commissioner Thomas J. Lynch were reported to be on the governor's desk. Stelle declined to comment about them.

At his press conference, Stelle said he has ordered all departments to submit their biennial budgets to him by Dec. 1, in accordance with statute.

OPEN ARGUMENTS TO JURY ON FATE OF BILL JOHNSON

Prosecutor Calls Him Gambling Czar.

Closing arguments were begun yesterday in the income tax trial of William R. Johnson in the federal District court. The government branded him "the gambling czar of Chicago." His own lawyer pictured him as nothing more than a lone wolf dice player.

Johnson and eight other men are charged with conspiracy to defraud the government of $1,887,864 in income taxes. The government alleges that Johnson owned 23 gambling houses, pocketed the profits, and then tried to conceal his vast income by having his codefendants pose as owners of the places.

May Go to Jury Today.

Paul M. Plunkett, assistant United States attorney, spoke for the government. Floyd E. Thompson, chief defense counsel, argued for the defense. Thompson will resume his talk today. He will be followed by Edward J. Hess of defense counsel. Earle C. Hurley, chief prosecutor, will wind up for the government, after which Judge John P. Barnes will instruct the jury.

It is expected the case will be given to the jury late this afternoon.

Traces Rise of "Empire."

Plunkett traced the rise of what he called the Johnson gambling empire. He said it began with a handbook at 4020 Ogden avenue, and grew up to include 23 places in all, including the Bon Air Country club, which he called one of the biggest gambling houses in the country.

Attorney Thompson asserted there was no proof that Johnson owned gambling houses, nor any evidence to show that Johnson had not paid his full income taxes.

BUTLER CALMS FACULTY; SPEECH MISINTERPRETED

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—Peace apparently returned to the Columbia university campus today with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president, assuring his faculty of "academic freedom" and eight professors thanking him for his sentiments.

Dr. Butler said that his recent speech had been misinterpreted as suggesting the curtailment of intellectual freedom for faculty and students.

He wrote the teachers that "academic freedom is and has long been so firmly established at Columbia that no one should have the least fear that our university opinion would permit its abandonment or qualification."

EVANS, REPUTED 'BRAINS' OF NITTI GANG, GIVES UP

Quizzed on Racket Tieup; Freed on Bond.

Investigation into the reputed hoodlum control of the Chicago bartenders' union, local 278, brought these developments yesterday:

1. Circuit Judge Robert J. Dunne upheld the action of Roy D. Keehn, receiver for the union, in dismissing three business agents closely allied with Louis Romano, alleged union front for Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti. Keehn had announced their dismissal on Wednesday "for the good of the service."

2. Frederick Evans, accused of being the financial "brains" for the Capone gang and who was indicted with Romano, Nitti, and four others for alleged piracy of the bartenders' union, surrendered at the state's attorney's office. He was questioned briefly, then released on a $3,500 bond.

Owner of Loan Firm.

Evans, 41 years old, tall and distinguished looking with slightly gray hair, was questioned by Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, and his assistant, William Crawford. Evans told the prosecutors he was a salesman and part owner of the Security Discount corporation at 100 North La Salle street.

He said he is acquainted with Romano, Murray Humphreys, and Louis [Little New York] Campagna, who also are named in the piracy indictment. Evans denied that he knows Nitti or another defendant, Paul Ricca, and said he had never had any business dealings with the bartenders' union or any of its officials.

Evans said he became acquainted with Humphreys and the others when he operated a garage 17 years ago at Van Buren and Halsted streets.

Denies Part in Meeting.

Evans denied he was present at a meeting when Humphreys is said to have informed George McLane, business agent of the union, that Louis Romano was taking over. Evans did not comment on reports that he had traveled extensively with George Scalise, ex-convict, pander, and convicted union head, and that he had been introduced to Nitti by Jack Guzik, former Capone collector.

With Evans' surrender yesterday, only two of the defendants in the piracy indictment have not been apprehended. They are Campagna and Ricca.

The three business agents whose ouster by Keehn was upheld by Judge Dunne are Thomas Panton, another of the defendants in the piracy indictment, Walter Bergan and Henry Thiebeau. Investigators said all are known as members of the inner union council controled by Romano.

Quake Rocks Los Angeles Area; No One Is Killed

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 10 (AP).—A severe earthquake was felt in Los Angeles and adjacent cities at 9:57 [11:57 p. m. Chicago time] tonight. The shock, the heaviest in several years, lasted 10 seconds. Santa Monica took the brunt of the quake, which was confined to the metropolitan Los Angeles area. The shock was felt in Redondo Beach, Inglewood, San Pedro, Long Beach, Anaheim, and in the San Fernando valley. There was no property damage of consequence and no loss of life.

HOODLUM PURGE IN N. Y. BUILDING UNIONS LAUNCHED

Scalise Local 1st Target of Labor Chieftain.

A far reaching move to drive racketeers from positions of trust in the Building Service Employés International union and its subsidiaries was started yesterday by William L. McFetridge, new president of the union. Formerly the organization was bossed by George Scalise, convicted racketeer now under sentence of 10 to 20 years in prison for looting the international's treasury.

William L. McFetridge

McFetridge opened his cleanup drive by suspending the officers of one New York local. Regarded as more important, however, was his appointment of an impartial committee of three men of known integrity to investigate the affairs of nine locals in New York City. This committee was given broad powers. McFetridge pledged to be guided by their recommendations in making reforms.

Labor Leaders Hail Move.

Chicago labor leaders said he had charted a new course by his vigorous action, one that opened the way for unions all over the United States to drive out racketeering locally without appeals to the courts or to public prosecutors. With such committees functioning faithfully, it was held, such incidents as Scalise's looting of union treasuries would be impossible.

In explaining his order, McFetridge said:

"Certain officers of our international union and some local unions have been the subject of derogatory comment. They have been called racketeers.

"As general president, it is my definite job to safeguard the welfare and well being of our 70,000 members. I intend to carry out my job to the end to insure that our members are represented thru decent, law abiding, well directed, democratic local unions. I intend to utilize every resource of the international union to bring this about.

"No union can function properly without the respect and support of the public. We will, in my administration, secure that respect."

Receiver Named for Union.

The union whose officers were suspended was 32A of the Hotel Service Employés. A receiver was appointed to handle its affairs. The committee which is to investigate any or all of the New York subsidiaries is composed of Thomas Murtha, president of the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York; Hugh S. Robertson, engineer and industrialist, executive manager of Rockefeller center, and successful arbiter in building service strikes, and Arthur S. Meyer, member of the New York State Mediation board.

None of these men has any direct interest in the building service employés and will have a free hand in making his investigations. McFetridge appointed David V. Cahill, a former assistant United States attorney general, and William Cooper of Milwaukee, to coöperate with the committee. Cooper is a vice president of the international.

The 32A union nominally has a membership of about 4,000. Its funds, estimated at $25,000, have been impounded pending investigation. In New York it was said that about 2,000 members have deserted and joined another union, and that the status of the organization as a bargaining agency has become uncertain.

Other Locals Under Fire.

Included in the locals that will be investigated is local 54 of the Theater and Amusement Employés' union [New York], which is headed by Thomas J. Burke. Burke is a vice president of the Building Service Employés' International. Recently allegations that he was allied to Chicago and New York racketeers and to Scalise, reached State's Attorney Courtney. He has denied this.

McFetridge has taken over the control of the Chicago Elevator Operators and Starters union, whose president, Mat Taylor, made a deathbed statement accusing Burke. Scalise has been indicted here for the theft of $118,000 from the international's funds.

SHOT BY TWO BANDITS.

Cy Harris, a WPA employé living at 2222 Madison street, was shot twice and critically wounded last night by two Negro bandits who tried to rob him in the 2000 block of Lake street. He was taken to the county hospital.

Colds' Coughing

Here's Easy Time-Tested Way To Get Relief

Get after those distressing spells of coughing and ease misery of the cold the widely used Vicks way... Boil some water. Pour it into a bowl. Add a good spoonful of Vicks VapoRub. Then breathe in the steaming medicinal vapors. With every breath you take VapoRub's medication soothes irritation, quiets coughing, helps clear head and breathing passages. FOR ADDED RELIEF... At bedtime rub Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest and back. Its poultice-vapor action works to bring you comfort while you sleep.

'STRONG MAN' BATISTA TAKES OFFICE AS 13TH PRESIDENT OF CUBA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 10.—Col. Fulgencio Batista became the 13th president of Cuba in an impressive and colorful ceremony in the ballroom of the presidential palace at noon today.

President Batista.

More than 600 prominent guests watched as Cuba's 39 year old "strong man" and youngest chief executive repeated the oath of office before Chief Justice Federico Edelmann of the Supreme court, his right hand raised over a copy of the island's new constitution. He was elected July 14.

Dr. Gustavo Cuervo Rubio, representative of the republic's conservative classes, was sworn in as vice president.

OLANDER HAILS BUILDING UNION RACKET PURGE

Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor, informed last night of the purge of racketeers in the Building Service Employés' International union, said:

"Splendid! That is the sort of action that I expected President McFetridge to take sooner or later. He has long since made it clear that the organization over which he presides be operated as a trade union should be, on the basis of the highest integrity on the part of all concerned.

"His plan is unique and I believe it is thoroly practicable. I am positive the results will be good. I am sure it will arouse the interest of the whole labor movement in the United States."

Navy Building Boats Like British Used at Dunkirk

New Orleans, La., Oct. 10 [Special].—A fleet of small flat-bottomed boats ordered by the navy are under construction here at the Higgins Industries plant. The craft, being built by the score, are sturdy little vessels designed for reconnaissance and landing troops or for evacuations such as the British found necessary at Dunkirk, France, in the retreat from Flanders.

BROKER SHOOTS SELF TO DEATH IN LOOP OFFICE

Eli Brandt, president of the mortgage brokerage firm of Brandt-Strauss, ended his life with a revolver yesterday in the company office at 33 North La Salle street. He was 70 years old.

Brandt left a note saying he was unable "to hold out any longer." This was presumed to refer to ill health, altho associates said that he had worried about investments made by clients of the firm he headed before the depression.

The broker lived at 5038 Woodlawn avenue, according to Coroner A. L. Brodie and Sergt. Francis Donohue of the coroner's office. He was the husband of Mrs. Sadie Brandt and the father of Mrs. Jane Bloom.

JAILED IN JOBLESS FUND FRAUD.

Lawrence A. Rhivers, colored, of 4647 Winthrop avenue, was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail by Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli yesterday for fraudulently obtaining state unemployment compensation benefits.

SCENTS 'PAYOFF' IN NEW ASPHALT PAVING CONTRACT

Busse Points to Lower Cost of Cement.

The Asphalt Combine

Evidence of reorganization and revival of the asphalt combine supposedly dissolved by the death two months ago of Mike Carrozzo, gangster labor chief, was revealed yesterday in threefold fashion. The combine, an invisible but potent force in Illinois' $32,000,000 paving industry, left its trail in:

1. Cook county, where the county board voted Wednesday to use asphalt for repaving of a Chicago street. The decision was a reversal of all precedent and will cost the taxpayers $168,000 more than concrete paving.

2. Springfield, where Gov. John Stelle announced that he will open an investigation into reports that slush funds for the Democratic state machine are being wrung from paving contractors by the combine.

3. The Chicago city hall, where for nine months not a single contract for new paving has specified asphalt. The council finance committee yesterday ordered Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, to advertise for bids for asphalt paving of three streets.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Approved by the county board of contracts totaling $909,915 for the resurfacing of Pulaski road with asphalt rather than cement had repercussions in the county building yesterday after Maj. George Quinlan, county highway department superintendent, gave a public explanation of his recommendations for the use of this material.

County Commissioner William Busse, the lone member of the board who attempted to block the awards, later declared:

"I've heard Maj. Quinlan's story but no one yet has given a valid reason why Cook county taxpayers should spend $168,537 more on this paving contract than they would if Pulaski road were resurfaced with cement.

"I think that Maj. Quinlan took orders in this affair. I believe that these contracts are paying some one off for campaign contributions. The late Mike Carrozzo organized the asphalt industry for political donations and he used to collect in contracts. The asphalt people have been quiet since his death but now it appears they are having their innings again."

Pulaski road is to be repaved with an asphalt surface from Belmont avenue to Cermak road. Busse yesterday and in previous statements charged that if cement is used as has been the county's practice in the past a better street can be laid for $741,376.

"I learned today," said Busse, "that the asphalt people have been having lean pickings. All the city's new paving done since Jan. 1 has been in cement.

Parks Go to Cement.

"Also I learned that the park district's new paving in connection with the development of the southern end of Lincoln park is in cement. The parks always have used asphalt in the past."

In approving the asphalt contracts on Wednesday the county board laid the responsibility for its action on the shoulders of Maj. Quinlan, who has been the highway department's head since 1914. Yesterday Maj. Quinlan said:

"Yes, I recommended asphalt for Pulaski road. And it's true that this is the first time in history that the county has specified asphalt in a street paving contract in Chicago. We've always recommended cement.

"But I still hold for asphalt on Pulaski road. The reason: we are repaving a city street where street cars are in constant operation and we are not able to keep the street blocked off long enough to allow concrete to 'cure' properly.

Asphalt Easier to Repair.

"Furthermore asphalt is easier to repair when we have to open up the street for repairs to gas and water mains or light cables. True, we have to break thru the foundation slab of concrete but it's easy to cover this break with asphalt while it's almost impossible to repair a cement street and let the repaired spot cure properly."

The attention of Commissioner Busse was drawn to the asphalt when he discovered that the cost per square yard of the asphalt was $3.71, exclusive of excavation, demolition, etc. He compared the Pulaski road project with a similar paving job in Lincoln avenue where concrete surface is specified.

He discovered that the county will pay only $2.19 a square foot for the cement surfacing. That is $1.52 less per square yard than the asphalt.

Furthermore, Busse said yesterday, the difference between a concrete street and an asphalt covered one is slight. Both pavements have cement foundations, concrete gutters, manholes, and catch basins. Where the concrete is to be used as surface, the layer is generally eight inches thick. Where the asphalt is used as the surface, the cement slab is 7 inches thick and this is covered with three inches of asphalt binder and surfacing material.

Compares Two Contracts.

"In looking over the Pulaski contracts," said Busse yesterday, "I found that the county is going to pay $2.24 for a 7 inch concrete foundation slab with an unfinished surface. In the Lincoln avenue contract we're getting an eight inch slab with a finished surface for that $2.19.

"Actually the taxpayers are being asked to pay $1.47 for that three inches of asphalt on top of Pulaski road."

At Springfield yesterday Gov. Stelle told a press conference he will open an investigation into evidences of conspiracy to control state highway business. He said he has reports that the state's paving industry has been "organized" to provide slush funds for the Democratic campaign.

The governor also said he was interested in looking into charges made by Speaker of the House Hugh Cross that collusion in the state's highway paving business, temporarily interrupted by the death two months ago of Mike Carrozzo, the Chicago labor boss, has been revived. Cross, ranking Republican leader in the legislature, charged that this return to corrupt practices was being sanctioned so the Nash-Kelly and downstate machines could raise party bank accounts.

City to Use Asphalt.

During the day Commissioner of Public Works Oscar Hewitt in Chicago disclosed that he will ask for bids for the repaving of Stony Island avenue from 79th to 95th streets in asphalt. The decision to ask for asphalt, he said, was made by the city council finance committee. This will be the first contract in asphalt paving that the city has made this year, he said.

He disclosed also that he is preparing specifications for bids that may be asked soon for asphalt covering of State and Dearborn streets.

Women World Wide

by Ruth DeYoung Kohler

WITH the march of events the past several days, it becomes increasingly apparent that the present administration in Washington intends to do everything possible to insure its return to power.

First, by maneuvering a crisis in international affairs that will either place a diplomatic victory aimed toward peace before the voters on election day or, more likely, a situation so dangerous that the leader of the New Deal can cry there must be no change of administration.

Second, by using the sorely needed national defense to woo New Deal votes however, whenever, and wherever possible.

In the latter method of campaigning two women, high up in official Washington, are proving useful. One of them is Madam Perkins, the labor secretary. The other is learned Defense Commissioner Harriet Wiseman Elliott.

Secretary Perkins does not miss an opportunity to stress that the administration is going to bring great impetus to labor by way of employment in the national defense. In a recent speech before the Illinois State Federation of Labor, not without political complexion, the lady secretary emphasized that "4,400,000 man years of labor" would be created by the defense program.

Again the last week-end in Washington, she stated that defense orders, at the anticipated rate of expenditure, should involve a direct increase of employment in defense industries of at least 3,000,000 and possibly 4,000,000 workers by the end of 1941. The administration, we grant, is fast leading us toward war but when it comes to the defense program, we ask, how about credit to the taxpayers of this country who are going to provide the enormous sums involved in this employment and to private enterprise that is going to do the employing—shackled as it is by New Deal control?

FROM three different sources there have come to my desk this week statements by Defense Commissioner Elliott which indicate that the defense should be made to include a program of social rehabilitation in this country, not only planes, guns, and such military things.

One of these statements, printed in the new weekly pictorial magazine issued by the National Defense council at government expense, says in part:

The defense "means maintaining the health and physical fitness of our people, furthering their economic well-being and security, preserving and increasing the benefits of our democratic way of life."

And then it goes on: "Every undernourished family, every person who is ill or who is without proper medical care, every person living under crowded, unhealthy, insanitary conditions is as truly a weak spot in the nation's defenses as an unguarded point on the coastline."

Lush words. Good New Deal campaign appeal.

ONE statement by Miss Elliott, appearing in the Consumers' Guide, published by the consumers' division of the department of agriculture, and also in the Journal of the American Association of University Women, has brought comment from Miss Marion E. Martin, director of the woman's division of the Republican party.

The statement by Miss Elliott is to the effect that 45 million persons in the United States "are living below the safety line right now because they are not getting the right kinds and amounts of food necessary for strength and health."

Miss Martin points out that this deficiency constitutes evidence of the failure of Mr. Roosevelt to remove the blight of poverty from the country as a whole.

There is sound, common sense in the observation by Miss Elliott: "We have the lands, machines, and hands it takes to produce, and move, and market all the food we need to assure every one an adequate and safe diet."

It is evident that Miss Elliott realizes the United States has unlimited possibilities for future growth. She has indirectly emphasized the same point stressed by Wendell Willkie—that for the philosophy of spending we must substitute the philosophy of production.

Cuddle Toy for Infants

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Cuddle toys have enjoyed a vogue which was almost unheard of 40 or 50 years ago. These soft crocheted dolls possess all the charm and characteristics of their more sturdy brethern, but are positively harmless to the infant who decides to pound the hapless creature or throw it with all the power of his tiny arms. The single crochet and loop combination again have united to create one of the most amusing and decidedly lovable dolls of the season.

For instructions in crocheting the cuddle doll, No. X-304, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

You are South and hold:
♠Q62 ♥AK6532 ♦985 ♣Q

What card do you select for your opening lead?

Answer: The diamond nine. Your partner's double of three diamonds, in connection with his double of three no trump, absolutely demands a diamond lead. You know he has good diamonds, but he may have nothing in your suit, hearts. Indeed, it is almost certain that East has two heart stoppers. If you lead a low heart your partner may have a singleton, and you may never again get on lead to cash the A-K of hearts or to lead a diamond thru dummy. [If you opened any heart take 25 points demerit, any other lead except a diamond take 50 points demerit.]

| 2 spades | Pass | 2 no trump | Pass |
| 3 clubs | Pass | 3 spades | Pass |

West couldn't resist the lure of his "safe" diamond opening and led the queen. The ace won, and the ace and a small club were played. West won and, too late, shifted to a trump. Declarer won in his hand and ruffed a club. Later, when he regained the lead with a ruff, declarer drew the opposing trumps, conceded a club trick, and still had a trump left to regain the lead and cash his last club for the ninth trick.

On a trump opening the contract would be impossible of fulfillment. West, when he takes the lead in clubs, has only to knock out dummy's second trump and declarer then cannot avoid losing three club tricks as well as a diamond and a heart.

(The Greeks had a word for it)

MAYBE YOU KNOW your vitamins, but do you know your proteins?

Proteins are the backbone of nutrition. Without them muscles get flabby, tissues disappear—even life itself fails.

Without proteins in our life we would not be able to "carry the ball" or "carry on" in living.

Beef, pork, lamb, veal, ham and most other meat foods are a concentrated and dependable source of proteins—not only proteins, but the complete type of proteins—proteins containing all ten of the essential amino acids—those famous "body-building blocks".

Remember, when you get your proteins in meat you get your fun in eating too. . . . AMERICAN MEAT INSTITUTE, Chicago.

MEN LIKE THESE THRIFTY MEAT DISHES

FLANK STEAK, CREOLE—rolled around a cylinder of bulk sausage meat, tied, and cooked in the oven with tomatoes, bay leaves and onion.

SURPRISE MEAT LOAVES—individual meat loaves made with ground beef chuck, with a hard-cooked egg in the center of each.

BEEF STEW WITH TOMATO DUMPLINGS—make dumplings by usual recipe, using tomato juice as the liquid, and adding small amount of ground meat to dough.

POT ROAST WITH PRUNES—cooked with half a pound of dry prunes (which have been soaked) and a cup of cider, or diluted vinegar.

SMOTHERED BEEF—cubes of beef shank or neck, braised with onions, ½ cup of sour cream and ½ cup of water and 2 tablespoons of grated cheese.

Melons Almost Gone, but They're a Good Buy.

BY MARY MEADE.

The melon season is almost over. You'll find a few cantaloupes, however, and there are honeydews and Persian melons available. Honeydews are higher in price, but they are larger than they've been, too.

Look for bargains in potatoes and spinach. Cauliflower and cabbage are good buys this week-end. Broccoli is lower, and Brussels sprouts are priced about the same as they have been. Tomatoes are a little lower, cucumbers and lettuce a little higher than they were last week.

Pears a Good Choice.

Pears from California, Washington, and Oregon are somewhat higher than they've been, but they still are an excellent fresh fruit choice.

Eat all the apples you want these days, and make as many pies as the family wants, for this most popular fruit is plentiful. Jonathans, Delicious and McIntoshes are best for eating. For pies, pick on Rhode Island Greenings or Wealthies.

Michigan Concord grapes haven't changed in price. They're ready for eating, or for jams and jellies—even for pies, and they make delicious ones.

Squashes, of course, are plentiful, and there are all kinds. You'll be likely to encounter good buys in sweet potatoes, onions, rutabagas, and green beans.

Some Fine Touches.

And for those finer touches in your meal planning, you may pick up avacados, California raspberries, or strawberries, tho not at bargin prices. Pomegranates and persimmons are becoming more common.

Ham and lamb seem to to be the best meat buys this week. Stewing chickens, bacon, pork sausage and braunschweiger are other bargains. Veal is rather high, tho veal shoulder is featured in some stores. Fresh pork has advanced some in price, too. Lard is very reasonable.

There are week long sales on canned goods in one group of stores. These foods include peas, corn, tomatoes, peaches, pears, pineapple, cherries, grapefruit, beans, spinach, salmon, tomato juice, apple sauce, carrots, asparagus, crabmeat, soups, baby foods and chop suey ingredients. Perhaps now is the ideal time to stock our shelves with many of these items.

Keep the Fruit Bowl Full.

There are specials in other stores on salt, noodles, canned pears, apricots and peaches, tuna, prunes, French dressing and cleansers.

This is the time of year to keep a bowl full of fresh fruit on the table at all times. Make it attractive and appealing with several kinds of grapes, rosy and yellow apples, an orange or two, a few bananas and maybe some pears and Italian plums.

Keep the fruit in the refrigerator at night so that it won't spoil.

Between meal nibblers might better lunch on fruit than on other foods which rob them of their appetites for lunch and dinner. And fresh fruit is as attractive a house decoration as are flowers.

Orange Flavored Crust Enhances a Cream Pie

Orange flavored pie crust is just the thing for a cream pie or a fruit pie. You'll like it with pumpkin pies, too. Sift 1⅓ cups of flour with ½ teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon sugar. Add 1 teaspoon of grated orange peel and cut in ½ cup of solid shortening. Add about ¼ cup orange juice gradually, mixing lightly with a fork until particles hold together. Wrap in wax paper, chill, and roll out for a single crust. Fit into a pie pan, prick bottom and sides, and bake at 450 degrees until browned.

The Borrowed Cottage

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1940: By Alice Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce, in England, to do some studying. Arriving at night she is frightened by footsteps. Investigating, she finds a dead man in a closet. As she rushes from the house, she runs into 32 year old Stephen Smedley, whom she later learns is a publisher who has come to the country for a rest and lives in an old chapel, near her cottage. Rowan tells Stephen her story and he goes off to get his car. When he fails to return, Rowan starts out searching for him and stumbles upon him prostrate. Helping him into the house, he collapses on the sofa. Rowan leaves him and goes to her bedroom for a nap, but is awakened by him entering her door, holding a butcher knife. A sharp command from her makes him drop the knife and retreat. The next morning Mrs. Faithful, the housekeeper, fails to show up but sends Mrs. Yallilee, mother of Egbert, the caretaker, to get Rowan's breakfast. Stephens seems to remember nothing of the knife incident and when he and Rowan look for the body it has disappeared. Rowan has discovered Stephen's brief case and unbeknown to him, hides it with her bloody skirt just as the Rev. Bogge and Lord Romrytch, Rowan's neighbors, arrive searching for the vicar's brother, Bertram, whom they say was allowed to study in the Fordyce cottage. Stephen admits to Rowan that the dead man was Bertram Bogge, who was trying to get Stephen interested in publishing a book he had written. He advises her not to mention finding the body. Lord Romrytch invites Rowan, the vicar, and Stephen to lunch and they are forced to listen to Forbes. Romrytch's secretary reports on his fruitless efforts to locate Bertram. Rowan learns that Bertram had a bad reputation and that he had assaulted the vicar's maid who was engaged to Egbert. Romrytch tells her that Bertram forged an introduction to him, and hints that he was insane, claiming to know Hitler, Mussolini, and a lot of prominent persons. Rowan and Stephen walk back to the cottage and see the vicar searching alone in the bushes. Stephen makes Rowan go to his place before returning home. Doubting Stephen one minute, trusting him the next, Rowan decides to return his brief case and invites him to dinner. As she opens a closet door in the cottage, the corpse falls out on her. She faints. When she comes to Stephen is standing over her.

INSTALMENT XXIII.

QUICK DISAPPEARANCE.

Rowan stopped. In the kitchen doorway Mrs. Yallilee appeared—out of breath, as tho she had run a long race.

"O, dear, O, dear! Is the young lady took bad?"

"In here, you," gritted Stephen. "I want you to hear this. Be quick!"

Rowan was dumped ignominiously on the big sofa facing the fire. Her red comb had fallen out. Stephen restored it to her, standing over her while she stuck it into her ruined curls. Tho the room eddied round her she could register the fact that he was spent, too, done up from terror, exertion, or both, yet nervously braced for what was to come.

"That woman was here," he muttered. "She's got to be told, that's all, after which I'll see what's been done with the body. This time it can't be far off."

No, not far off; but it would be, presently. Stephen had demonstrated his carrying powers.

Rowan shut her lips, pulling out the white fringed ruching round the neck of her cretonne. Grunting something about a glass of water, Stephen turned on his heel; but he was back directly with Mrs. Yallilee in tow, and it was she who held the tumbler in her skinny claw. Rowan drank. Stephen switched on the tall lamp.

"Now! What about it?"

"There's very little I can say." Rowan spoke dryly, eyes steadfastly fixed on the fountain of blue iris and the dim windows beyond. "I was having a look around and I happened to notice a key in that cupboard door. I just thought I'd glance inside. The next I knew I was lying flat, fighting with a thing that had tumbled out on me. It was wrapped in velvet from top to toe—bound round with cord. I know what it was, tho. It was a dead body."

Egbert's mother shrieked. "That there Mr. Bogge! Done in. What did I tell my boy?"

"Be quiet. Well——? Is this all you saw? What did you hear—afterward?"

"Nothing. I passed out. When I came to you were with me. The body was gone."

"Gone?" Sarah Yallilee goggled. "Here, suppose I——"

"Sit down!" Sternly Stephen turned to Rowan. "Any notion how long you were unconscious?"

"None; but it had got much darker. I came downstairs at a quarter to 8."

"It's 8:03 now." Stephen pulled down his cuff. "I suppose you did other things before you opened the cupboard?"

"Not many." She needn't mention the peep into the attic room. "I'd say I saw the key at about ten to."

"Call it seven minutes you had the black-out. And it was a total black-out? You can swear that?"

"Yes, thank God!" Rowan put her hands over her eyes.

"I see. Well, stay put for a moment."

She heard Stephen go outdoors, but it didn't occur to her to raise objections. Let him finish what he had to do, then, if it pleased him, vanish. Or come back. It really didn't matter. She was feeling desperately sick. This time the shock had been two-fold. Something more fragile than her nerve had been shattered. She longed for solitude. When Mrs. Yallilee, after frustrated offers of camphor and what-not, had faded restlessly away she simply closed her eyes and lay, trying not to think.

The fire flickered. Stephen was back.

"Vanished again," he said shortly. "And no one about—not that that's surprising. Well, I'll have to leave you with the woman for a bit while I get thru from the postoffice to the chief constable. And, of course, the vicar."

She found her feet. "No! I'll do that." Her head swam, her knees crumpled, and Stephen caught her just in time.

"I think not." His tone was curt. "Bed's your number, and while I'm about it I'll ring a doctor. Mrs. Yallilee!"

A rusty form glided in from the garden. "Yes, sir?" Stephen gave orders. Rowan was hoisted upstairs to the white curtained bed, where a quilt was thrown over her. Mrs. Yallilee pattered down, pattered up, bringing a hot bottle. Stephen tried the switch, cursed, found a bulb from another room and screwed it in.

"Feeling steadier?"

"Yes, thanks."

"My advice is to eat something. I've told her to bring up a tray. Then try to sleep."

"Please don't bother about me."

She saw his face change. He started to retort, choked it down.

"When the police officers come," he said woodenly, "tell them what you like. Only you might tip me off. It'll be better if our stories match."

"You can hear what I say."

"Quite." He turned, but came back. "While you're lying there you might just think things over," he said, and was gone.

She heard his feet on the oak treads; heard him speaking abruptly to Mrs. Yallilee, going out over the stone flags.

Those rough shoes protruding from under the curtain—shoes covered with fresh mud—they might easily match the print their owner had taken care to deface; and she could not be sure she had seen any one at the doorway, the impression being swift as a shadow, too fleeting to pin down. Stephen himself could have tampered with the car. He had plenty of time for several operations while he was supposed to be getting the tea, and what about those long moments of absolute hush? Putting the Rover out of action and saying it had been in working order two days ago would make her think some one had been desperately opposed to his calling the police.

The leaden lumps of argument sank into her mind.

"O, I am a fool," she whispered.

For an uneasy second Sarah Yallilee's visage hung over her. Then it faded away.

Slowly Rowan opened her eyes. The meal beside her looked decently cooked if served in a rather slap-dash manner. It was the thought of food that sickened, with the stench of that decaying body still in her nostrils. She felt she would never eat again.

Why was her green scarf lying on the floor? She had left it neatly folded at the back of the dressing table. Had she noticed it there while she had been changing for dinner? No, positively not; yet there it was, fallen behind the table, one bright corner catching her eye.

Obscurely the altered position of the scarf assumed grotesque importance. When exactly had she last looked at the chiffon square? Yes! It had been when she was smoothing up, all in a rush, to join Lord Romrytch for lunch. She had thought of wearing it, only it was the wrong green to go with her blue things.

SERVE PANCAKES AND YOU'LL NEED NO ALARM CLOCK

Griddle Aroma Gets All the Family Up!

When there's a chill nip in the air, then's the time to serve griddle cakes for breakfast. Better than bells or an alarm clock for getting the family down to breakfast is the smell of griddle cakes with sausage or crisp bacon.

Those fancy fruit pancakes are fine in summer or for a change, but for first crisp fall days, plain griddle cakes made with white flour, buckwheat, or perhaps cornmeal, are best. Stack 'em up three or four high, with little golden pools of melted butter between layers and on top of the pile put a couple of little sausages on the plate and have the maple sirup handy. Then the family is in for a treat.

OLD-FASHIONED FLANNEL CAKES.

2 eggs
1 pint buttermilk
3 cups all-purpose flour, sifted
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda

Beat eggs and add the buttermilk. Sift flour with salt and soda and add liquid ingredients gradually, beating until smooth. Bake on hot griddle.

SOUR CREAM GRIDDLE CAKES.

1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sour cream
2 eggs, beaten

CORNMEAL PANCAKES.

1 cup flour
1 cup cornmeal
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 cups milk
1 egg

Sift flour and combine with other dry ingredients. Beat egg and add to milk. Combine two mixtures and beat until smooth. Bake on hot griddle.

QUICK BUCKWHEAT PANCAKES.

1 cup white flour
1 cup buckwheat flour
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1 beaten egg
2¼ cups milk
4 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift flours together with salt, baking powder and sugar. Add egg and melted shortening to milk. Add liquid to dry ingredients all at once and beat batter until smooth. Bake on an ungreased griddle, turning the cakes only once. Sour milk may be used in place of sweet milk if one teaspoon of soda is added and the baking powder is reduced to one teaspoon.

PLAIN PANCAKES.

2½ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons melted butter

Sift dry ingredients together. Beat eggs, add milk and melted butter. Add to dry ingredients and stir until all flour is dampened. The batter should be somewhat lumpy. Drop by spoonfuls on to sizzling hot griddle and turn with pancake turner when bubbly. Serve hot with butter and sirup and jelly.

WHOLE WHEAT PANCAKES.

Use recipe for plain pancakes, substituting 1 cup graham or whole wheat flour for 1 cup white flour.

Leftovers in Chicken Loaf

This tempting loaf is made with leftover chicken. To make it, combine 2 cups cooked, diced chicken, 2 cups canned peas, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, ⅓ cup chicken stock or milk, 2 slightly beaten eggs, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon minced onion, and 1 tablespoon minced pimiento. Pack lightly into a greased baking dish and bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for about 40 minutes. Unmold and serve with hot chicken gravy or a mushroom sauce. Sauteed mushroom caps garnish the loaf pictured here.

EGG IS SECRET OF SUCCESSFUL OYSTER RECIPE

Oysters are in season and this recipe for scalloped oysters is particularly good. It's the egg yolk that does the trick.

SCALLOPED OYSTERS

½ pint small oysters
1 cup rolled cracker crumbs
4 tablespoons butter, melted
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
⅛ teaspoon celery salt
1 egg yolk
¼ cup milk

Look over oysters carefully and remove any bits of shell. Mix crumbs, butter, and seasonings. Sprinkle a few crumbs in bottom of buttered shallow baking dish and cover with a layer of oysters. Sprinkle with a little of the egg mixed with the milk. Cover with half the crumb mixture; then remaining oysters and milk mixture. Top with remainder of crumbs. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate [350 degrees] oven.

Angry Hosts Once Dished Out Real Cold Shoulders

In medieval times honored guests were served hot, savory roasts of lamb, but if they overstayed their welcome, they got a cold shoulder of lamb instead. Hence, the term giving one "the cold shoulder."

WOMEN'S CHOICE by 3 to 1 for getting clothes SPARKLING WHITE

NEW SPEED FLAKES WIN BY LANDSLIDE ON THESE WASHDAY COUNTS

On the North, South and West sides of Chicago—hundreds of women who do their laundry at home—were interviewed by a well-known independent research organization. And asked which washday soaps they chose for (1) whiteness, (2) safety, and (3) best results in washing machines! Here's their choice and how they voted:

☑ For Washing White . . . American Family Speed Flakes won by more than 3 to 1 over nearest competing soap.
☑ For Washing Safely . . . American Family Speed Flakes won by more than 5 to 1 over nearest competing soap.
☑ Best in Washing Machine . . . American Family Speed Flakes won by more than 3 to 1 over nearest competing soap.

AMERICAN FAMILY SPEED FLAKES WIN SMASHING VICTORY OVER ALL OTHER SOAPS IN INDEPENDENT CITY-WIDE POLL OF HUNDREDS OF WOMEN!

By a landslide vote of more than 3 to 1—these women chose the new, improved American Family Speed Flakes for getting clothes really white and bright! Yes, these Flakes stood out over all other soaps—received even more votes for white, bright washing than the strong granulated soaps!

Their Choice For Safety, Too

What's more—in this independent city-wide survey American Family won not only on the score of whiteness—but on safety too! In fact, these remarkable Flakes received more votes for washing clothes white with safety than all other soaps combined.

Remember, the women voting were housewives like yourself, with no "axe to grind." They were simply giving their honest opinion, based on their experience in meeting their own washing problems. Virtually the same problems you face week after week. So, when you think over their opinions—aren't you missing something in not trying these safe gentle Flakes that are especially made for the hard water of this area?

Moreover, American Family Speed Flakes are safer for delicate washable colors and fine fabrics than strong granulated soaps. Safer for your hands too. And recently these Flakes have been wonderfully improved—now made tissue thin—so they suds up almost instantly. No new "mysterious" chemicals added—these Flakes are simply marvelously rich in soap content!

So get American Family Speed Flakes today. See if you, like these hundreds of other Chicago women, don't find they give you as white and bright a wash as ever floated on a line!

GIVES LOADS MORE SUDS—IT'S RICHER SOAP

1. FASTER. New American Family Flakes make suds more than twice as fast as average of 10 of the largest selling "washday" soaps (flakes, granulated, chips) tested in our laboratory.

2. RICHER. These Flakes give up to 33% more suds than many modern granulated soaps . . . Up to 70% more suds than cheap chips tested! Big soap savings for you!

"My choice for washing machines" voted hundreds of Chicago women. They gave these amazing Flakes more votes than the next 12 soaps combined.

COOKING GAME? MARY MEADE TELLS YOU HOW

Seasonable Booklet Is One of Many.

With the hunting season opening shortly, it's time to brush up on methods for cooking wild game.

Wild birds are cooked pretty much like the domestic ones except that they are dryer and need to be well brushed with butter or covered with fat salt pork. But the cooking time and handling varies with the species of bird and it's always well to have the proper recipe on hand.

All the recipes for cooking wild game of all kinds—furred and feathered—will be found in Mary Mead's booklet "How to Cook Wild Game." This complete and handy booklet is yours for only 5 cents in stamps or you can have it for 3 cents at The Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower lobby. Please address mail requests to Miss Meade.

Dish Made in a Jiffy

A tender, puffy omelet and a can of prepared macaroni and cheese comprise this ready in a twinkling dish. Make the omelet according to your favorite recipe, adding a little flaked fish—about a half cup for each 4 eggs. When it's all folded over on the platter, lift the top fold and pour the heated macaroni between the layers—then serve pronto.

LEFTOVER MEATS ARE MAIN INGREDIENTS OF CORN CASSEROLE

This casserole dish makes good use of leftover pork. It calls for but one cup of cubed, cooked pork, but if you've more left over, use it without fear for the results. The dish will take up to 2 cups of leftover meat, which needn't all be pork.

PORK CORN CASSEROLE.

[Serves 4 to 6.]

1 cup corn
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 cup cubed, cooked pork
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
¼ cup chopped celery
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
⅔ cup gravy or milk.

Combine all ingredients and turn into buttered casserole dish. Cover tightly and bake 30 minutes in a moderate [350 degrees] oven. Uncover last five minutes to brown top.

USE PIE PLATES TO MAKE SHELLS RETAIN SHAPE

1. Fit the pastry over the back of the pie plate.
2. Prick pastry and fit loosely into pie plate.
3. Fit pastry into pie plate, cover with waxed paper and half fill with dried lima beans or navy beans.
4. Fit a second pie plate inside the one lined with pastry. Pie plates must be of same size.

APPLE BUTTER ON DROP COOKIES —IT'S A TEMPTER

A little apple butter goes a long way in adding flavor to these crisp drop cookies. Better store the cookie jar out of the kiddies' reach, or there'll be nary a cookie saved for the school lunch box.

APPLE BUTTER COOKIES.

[Five dozen.]

1⅓ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter
⅔ cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon lemon extract
Apple butter

Sift flour once, measure, add soda, cinnamon, and salt and sift again. Cream butter and add sugar gradually, beating after each addition. Add eggs and lemon extract, and beat until light and fluffy. Add flour mixture and beat until smooth. Drop from spoon on ungreased baking sheet. With back of teaspoon make a depression in top of each cookie and fill with apple butter. Bake in hot oven [425 degrees] about 10 minutes.

Finances Bar Altar March in This Case

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I am deeply in love with a young man four years my senior. I am 20. He has proposed to me and I have accepted. My mother likes him, and admits she cannot find fault except with his finances and my youth. Twenty for a girl hardly classifies her as a child don't you agree, Miss Blake? I have supported myself on a pretty fair job for the short time I have been working.

"My young man is obligated to give more than half his salary to his family, as they are too young to work yet. This leaves only a small amount for himself, as you can see. We rarely go places that cost much.

"But to show what kind of man my fiancé is, he says that even in spite of his love for me he would remove himself from the picture so that I could meet other and more eligible men. I tried it once at my mother's persuasion and nearly had a breakdown those months we were apart. No amount of reasoning can make my mother understand. Now, when he calls, she tells him that I am not at home. His mother, on the other hand, says if she were in my place she'd elope. She says we could live with her. Of course, I would keep on supporting myself until things were better. DISTRACTED."

We wouldn't encourage eloping, Distracted, nor would we encourage you to move into the young man's home. What can be done with unreasonable mothers we frankly don't know. But there is that money angle you young people are confronted with which had better be given serious thought, because two do NOT live more cheaply than one, even tho two may be working. It's difficult to be patient at your age, Distracted, but try waiting a while longer for marriage.

St. Ignatius Fathers' Club Is Sponsoring Festival, Homecoming

The Fathers' club of St. Ignatius High school, 1076 West Roosevelt road, is sponsoring a one night festival and homecoming for the alumni and friends of the Jesuits, who operate the school. The affair will take place Saturday night Oct. 19, at the 132nd Infantry armory, Madison and Rockwell streets. Circuit Judge Joseph A. Graber, an alumnus and former teacher and likewise father of four Ignatian alumni, one a Jesuit, will be general chairman. The event will commemorate the four hundredth anniversary of the confirmation of the society.

The high school is the alma mater of seven bishops, and more than 500 priests and members of religious communities, and eight of the present judges of Cook county. One of the oldest alumni is Carter H. Harrison, former mayor.

The bishops are the Most Rev. Edmund Dunne, formerly of Peoria; Most Rev. Joseph A. Murphy, formerly of British Honduras; Bishop William O'Brien, Bishop Edward Hoban, Bishop James Griffin, Bishop Paul Rhode, and Bishop William Griffin.

All Kinds of Brushes Aid in Your Program of Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"You can brush your way to beauty," says lovely Hilda Burke, blonde soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, "for to be well brushed is to be well groomed.

"A good brush in the bath never hurt any skin. It stimulates the circulation and leaves your skin clean and glowing, just as a good stiff toothbrush leaves the teeth clean and sparkling.

"To give your skin that clean look and to be well powdered isn't difficult," says Miss Burke. "All you need is a camel's hair face brush. Put your powder on generously, then brush off the excess. Remove excess powder from your eyebrows with a stiff, tiny brush, and a touch of mascara with a brush on your lashes if they are light; plain vaseline if they are dark. For your mouth a lipstick brush is quite effective.

"Too much stress cannot be placed on the importance of brushing the hair, and with a good, stiff brush," counsels Miss Burke, whose own silky blonde hair is truly a crowning glory.

"After completing your makeup, you are ready for your clothes. Are your suede shoes brushed with no sticky or shiny surfaces? The same wire brush you use for your shoes will do the job on your new suede purse and gloves. And if you brush your furs, they honestly look like new! And don't forget your hat."

Rid your hair of surplus oil with salt treatments, as described in Antoinette Donnelly's booklet, "Bring Out the Beauty in Your Hair." On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. Postpaid, 7 cents.

Two Frocks and a Hat

WOMAN'S AND MISS' AUTUMN DRESSES.

Two frocks today and a companion hat. One, a dressy model, for crêpe or satin, has an interesting front panel and shirring at either side. The skirt, too, is shirred directly in front. Grand frock for "dates" and faculty teas as well. The other model is a tailored two-piecer for classroom and office. Use woolen, heavy silk or corduroy.

Style No. 3231 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material for short sleeved model.

Style No. 2682 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 1¼ yards of 54 inch material for blouse; 1¾ yards for skirt.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! ## 'Toughening' Little Boys Is Not Wise

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

There are fathers who have waited long for a son and, when he is born, have in their great delight favored him above his sisters.

There are fathers who have waited long for a little girl, and when she arrived they have let her walk over them. In their eyes she can do no wrong.

Then in between are, you might say, the fathers who believe boys should be treated quite differently from girls.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"Don't you feel, as I do, that boys need the same loving understanding and forbearance that girls do? My husband thinks that boys must be toughened, and that 'babying' them, as he calls it, is working in exactly the opposite direction. Our son is not quite 2 yet, and while very mischievous, is not old enough to understand the punishment, to my mind. I make as much fuss over him as I do over our little daughter. Am I wrong? I really don't feel I am overdoing it and he is still such a baby."

Indeed, I agree absolutely with the writer of this letter. She is not doing wrong in showing as much affection for her small son as for her daughter. And not yet two!

Strictness is not the cue to managing children. Consistency and firmness achieve the same results. Little children are only repelled by strictness. There is always the danger, rather, the certainty, that too much strictness will lessen or even kill affection. Children can't understand that behind it may be a tender and loving heart.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

Oct. 11, 1940.

Universal day—Watch out for nervous "blow-ups" today. Make progress but don't forget to be tactful.

Fortunate days—Those born on the 2d [or 11th, 20th, or 29th] have to use a slightly different technique in using their same number days than the others in the group. They will find that they can make more progress on the four and eight days, with special emphasis on the eight days. They must be wise and cautious, since they are using a higher vibration of their birth number, which is two. Those born on the 11th have a better chance of making real progress on these days if they keep their ideals to the front. No one in this group should force issues on the two days.

Year ahead—The coming year looks highly emotional for those born on this date. They need to slow up and calm down now.

Golden Season of Symphony Has Gala Start

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, founded by Theodore Thomas in 1891, proudly began its 50th season last night with a gala concert in Orchestra hall. At the same time Frederick Stock, Thomas' successor, started his 36th season as conductor.

Still a third item of interest was the fact that W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system put the 9:30 to 10:10 portion of the program on the air. The corresponding part of succeeding Thursday concerts will likewise be broadcast.

The evening's gala character was established long before a note of music was heard. We regular patrons, feeling civic and festal and somehow noble, obstructed lobbies and aisles to welcome old acquaintances back into the fold and to make pleased little sounds at one another. Then we turned stagewards to watch the men of the orchestra pile out and to mark the entrances of First Cellist Edmund Kurtz and Concertmaster John Weicher with salvos of applause.

Soon there was a thunder of handclapping as those high in balcony and gallery descried Dr. Stock making his way out the door. The applause swelled in volume as he approached the front of the stage, and the house rose as one man in tribute to him. He brought his men to their feet, and conductor and orchestra together received the homage of the audience.

The musical business of the evening began with a performance of a Festival Fanfare written for and dedicated to the Chicago Symphony orchestra by Dr. Stock himself. We had been told by the composer himself that the new piece had parts for everything but the cash register, and as we listened to the fanfare we concluded that the omission was of no moment, for what humble instrument would certainly have been drowned in the flood of brilliant, cheerful sound produced by drums, cymbals, castanets, sleigh bells, glockenspiel, and 80 or 90 other instruments.

Toward the end of the fanfare the orchestra's great garish schellenbaum, or bell tree, came into its own. One of the percussion men was delegated to shake it as one would shake a naughty child. Its bells chattered cheerfully and its tassels swung crazily about.

The Festival Fanfare was the first of a bewildering number of new works which have been written and are being written for the orchestra's golden jubilee season. As was the case last night, several of these new works will be conducted by their composers.

Following the fanfare came Beethoven's "Eroica" symphony. The performance was marked by pure and transparent tone colorings, long and serene phrases, moderate dynamic patterns, and insistent tempi. The whole work held together admirably. A more than usually receptive audience was deeply stirred by the symphony's sublimity of thought, and offered another ovation at its end.

Before leaving the "Eroica," note must be made of the skilled use of nuance which softened its lines. The theme of the last movement, one of the world's great tunes anyway, became increasingly exciting on each reappearance by reason of the flexible, eloquent way in which it was treated.

At this point in the program the audience was multiplied a thousandfold as W-G-N and Mutual began their broadcast. Now the music was being heard not only by the 2,500-odd persons in the hall but also by men and women in distant cities and isolated villages and mountain cabins and on ships at sea.

What they heard was, first of all, Strauss' rondo, "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks," then Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Capriccio Espagnol." These distant listeners were able to share in the exultation of this opening concert of the golden jubilee season, for the performances which these two works received were touched by that extra fire which distinguished the whole evening.

Never in the experience of this listener has the heavy brass thundered more ominously at poor frightened Till than it did last night. Never did those smoking rhythms of the capriccio set the blood boiling more satisfactorily.

The evening ended as it had begun, with a great burst of incredibly splendid sound.

The attention of 36,000 Chicago members of the Young Men's Christian association will be focused today on London where ceremonies honoring Sir George Williams, founder of the Y. M. C. A., are scheduled on the occasion of his 119th birthday anniversary. Founded originally for "overworked drapery clerks," the movement has spread to 69 countries, in 11,000 cities, and has a membership of over 3,000,000. Special anniversary programs have been arranged today for the neighborhood and downtown branches of the Y. M. C. A.

There's Drama in Newest of Dress Up Garb

BY REA SEEGER.

Long fitted sleeves for dinner and evening gowns, fine bead embroidery plus a covered up appearance all combine to make the most dramatic evening clothes ever presented to a slightly bored 1940 audience. Extreme necklines have vanished, the difficult sleeveless models are temporarily out, and the costumes of this year of grace and flattery for dinner and dress parade are miracles of distinction. Lovely all silks are featured in both daytime and evening clothes, silk that is every inch silk, thereby assuring the best of fit, the smoothest of drapery and shirring and the liquid poured in look of the high fashion costumes.

Bright red, carmine and burgundy, along with a new azure blue, are new colors for the silver coiffures of the sophisticates. Both shades alternate with pale grays and the inevitable blacks and midnight blues. These stunning new dinner costumes are particularly effective with short fur coats, with the new fur stoles and capes, with long fur wraps or high colored wool evening coats.

Fine handwork has been revived, beading and embroidery with colored silver, copper, and gold thread. This manner of high lighting a dark costume is most successful when the designs are restrained or in the effective scroll patterns.

Shoulders, chest pockets, hip pockets and belts are accented with such handwork. Fringe is another perennial. It swings provocatively from sheath skirts, from bodices and along the outer line of sleeves. This superb collection is well worth a trip to town to appraise or buy!

Fashion photograph . . . fine tissue gauzes from India are used for the newest wrapped evening turbans. Such a headdress makes an evening gown into something as individual as the upturn of your own eyebrow. This lovely affair is as thin as foam, composed of silver and gold threads woven with moonflower white gauze.

Shofar to Usher in Yom Kippur at Sundown Today

The plaintive voice of Shofar, the ram's horn, sounding at sundown today in synagogues thruout the city, will announce Yom Kippur, the sacred day of atonement, to Chicago Jewry. The holy day culminates a 10 day penitential period beginning with the first day of Tishri, the first month of the Jewish year. The day, with its ancient rituals and prayers, will close at sundown tomorrow.

Kol Nidre, a service of prayer and sacred music, will be conducted at 8 p. m. in Temple Sholom, 3480 Lake Shore drive, and, beginning at 10 a. m., services will continue in the temple thruout Saturday.

Kol Nidre will be sung at 7:30 p. m. today in the Washington boulevard temple, Washington boulevard and Karlov avenue, and the memorial service of Yizkor will be conducted at 3 p. m. tomorrow. Congregation Rodfei Zedek, 1022 East 54th place, will hold a sunset Kol Nidre service today.

15,000 Lutherans to Hold Their Annual Rally Sunday

More than 15,000 Lutherans from the metropolitan area will gather on Sunday afternoon at the International amphitheater, 4200 South Halsted street, for the annual Lutheran Hour rally. Dr. Walter A. Maier of Concordia seminary, St. Louis, Mo., will be the speaker. A mixed chorus of 1,500 voices, directed by Walter Sassmannshausen of Pilgrim Lutheran church, Cuyler and Lincoln streets, will open the program at 3:30 o'clock.

Mount Holyoke Club Giving Reception for Dr. Ham

Rare Audience at Symphony's First Concert

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

"'Twas a rare audience that greeted Theodore Thomas last night. . . . It was an audience of culture and refinement. . . . Above the glittering horseshoe of blinking lights that curved around the auditorium from wing to wing of the stage, sat the élite in the boxes. The élite had on its dress suits and its white opera cloaks and its décolleté gowns. It turned its lorgnettes down into the pit upon a gathering no less richly robed. It was a sea of frosty bosoms set in the enamel of black coats, and a sea of glittering headdresses and some gleaming shoulders. It was an audience given to quiet demeanor and appreciation."

Thus wrote a society editor about the first audience that heard the Chicago Symphony orchestra in October, 1891.

We might write in much the same vein about the audience that greeted Dr. Frederick Stock and the Chicago orchestra last night at the first concert of the golden jubilee season. Half a century has passed, Mr. Thomas is gone, the élite no longer wear dress suits, white opera cloaks and décolleté gowns to the concerts. There were no glittering headdresses nor gleaming shoulders in Orchestra hall last night.

The only dress suits were worn by the musicians, each of whom had a camellia pink carnation on his lapel, the gift of Mrs. Frances Glessner Lee, who is carrying on the tradition started by her mother, the late Mrs. John J. Glessner, of giving each man a flower for the first concert of each year.

The 1940 audience was attired in dinner coats and gowns or business suits and street ensembles. It was none the less a rare audience, for it represented Chicago's best, Chicago's most appreciative of the best in music.

It was a gala occasion, one in which those who consider themselves friends of the orchestra and of our city were proud.

Chief among those who were showered with congratulations and best wishes last night were Edward L. Ryerson, president of the orchestral association; Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, chairman of the woman's committee; and Henry Voegeli, business manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryerson had with them in a box their house guests, the Donald Frosts of Boston, and the John Alden Carpenters. Mrs. Osborne sat on the main floor with her parents, the Henry Bartholomays, and the junior Henry Bartholomays. Mrs. Osborne was one of the few women in an evening gown; most of them wore dresses with sleeves or jackets. Mrs. Osborne was stunning, as always, in black with several mammoth white orchids on one shoulder.

Col. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague had with them their daughter, Miss Laura Sprague, and their son, Otho S. A. Sprague, and his lovely young wife. There were two Spragues among the boxholders at the first concert fifty years ago, Col. Sprague's father, for whom Otho is named, and his granduncle, for whom the colonel is named.

A few others of the audience that filled the hall were Dr. Stock's wife and their daughter, Mrs. Alfred Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Telfer MacArthur, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell and their sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Higginson Wendell.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Cable, Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr., Prince and Princess Rostislav, Miss Helen Gurley, Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Bowe, Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kribben, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ranney Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Loud.

To Hurricane by Wind.

The strong northwest wind that helped the Cincinnati Reds win the world series also carried Nobel Prize Winner Arthur Holly Compton's nine pound cosmic ray apparatus to, of all places, Hurricane, W. Va. The cosmic ray counting apparatus was sent aloft by balloons as a part of the launching of the University of Chicago 50th anniversary celebration Tuesday, and is 19th of a series of such experiments to determine the intensity of the cosmic ray at various altitudes. A Mr. F. E. Miller of Hurricane found the apparatus, to which was attached a "Please return" note. He will receive $10 from the university for his trouble in returning it.

An infant in a class of beginners called out to a little friend across the room, "Eileen, let's play school and I'll be the teacher."

Miss Helen Heier, the teacher, looked astonished for a moment, then explained how things were.

Migrating birds can find an excellent hotel right in the heart of Oak Park's downtown shopping district. It's in a forest preserve at Lake and Harlem. Two decades ago when forest preserve territory was designated in Illinois, this land was surrounded by only a few scattered houses. Now the wooded section is encircled by two large department stores, office buildings, and street car and bus lines. But the land still boasts a large wooden sign proclaiming "Forest Preserve," and it's sometimes used as the meeting place for members of the Borrowed Time club, an organization of Oak Park men and women who are over 70 years of age.

Arts Club Announces Opening Lecture by French Composer

BY JUDITH CASS.

ARTS CLUB members will receive in this morning's mail cards announcing the first lecture of the season. It is an especially interesting one, for the lecturer is to be Darius Milhaud, eminent modernist composer, who will conduct two performances of his newest symphonic composition in Chicago next week. The composition was written especially in honor of the 50th anniversary of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, which will perform the work Thursday night and Friday afternoon.

Mr. Milhaud's lecture will be given on Friday morning at 11 o'clock. His subject will be "Modern French Music." The composer, known as the leader of the group in France called "The Six," now is on the faculty of Mills college in Oakland, Cal. It is doubtful if the lecturer will be able to accept a luncheon party on Friday, for he will want some time to relax between his lecture and the concert. Mrs. William B. Hale is acting president of the club. Her successor will not be named until after the new directors are elected at the annual meeting on Nov. 7.

C. Colton Daughaday Jr. to Be Married Tomorrow.

Various members of the C. Colton Daughaday family are going to Kansas City for the marriage tomorrow of C. Colton Daughaday Jr. and Miss Kathryn Reed. Miss Reed, a daughter of Prof. Homer B. Reed of Kansas State college in Hays and Mrs. Reed, is on the faculty of the Girls' Preparatory school in Chicago. She attended the Chicago Art institute after being graduated from the college in which her father teaches.

Mr. Daughaday, who was graduated from Harvard in 1938, and his bride will reside in Chicago. The Rt. Rev. Edwin J. Randall, suffragan bishop of Chicago, and the Rev. Robert Mize of Hays will officiate at the wedding, which will be attended by the families and a few friends.

Miss Elizabeth Head Buchen and Albert F. Winston, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Winston of Evanston, have decided to be married on Nov. 9. The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock in Christ church, Winnetka, and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walther Buchen of Winnetka.

They have not decided what sort of party they will give, but the directors of Emerson house have set Jan. 25 as the date for their annual benefit. Mrs. Solomon B. Smith is president of the board of the settlement and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr. is benefit chairman.

The finale of the St. Luke's fashion show is to be an episode entitled "The Rainy Day Parade," in which eight cunning girls are to take part—girls who are rather too short to be regular mannequins, but who are too pretty and attractive to be left out of the show. The girls—the Misses Ruth Louisa Burrows, Jeanne Stenson, Adrienne Ely, Margaret Stuart, Joan Littlefield, Caryl Harrison, Sally Perry, and Byrd Littlefield—will wear the latest conceits of the fashion dictators for bad weather. Some one, it isn't decided yet who, will sing an appropriate song, and, all in all, the committee

Looking at Hollywood - - - - - By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 10.—In the offing is a re-teaming of Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh, in a pair of rôles as glove fitting as Rhett Butler and Scarlett O'Hara. The story would be James Street's best selling historical [1790-1817] novel, "Oh, Promised Land," which deals with the move from Georgia to Natchez. Number 1 rooter for the project is Carole Lombard. Metro would do the picture and it would cost a mint of money.

One of the most infuriating topics in Hollywood is the well known clicknobs method, and its sponsor, one Albert Morin, has had invitations to fistic duels from a be-medaled English lord, Noel Coward, and Frank Buck, and among those who have said they would like to take a poke at him are J. Edgar Hoover, Jack Benny, Eddie Cantor, and Rudolf Friml. Albertina Rasch once threw bottles at him. By the time this appears Alfred Hitchcock will have been steamed into a ponderous wrath, even if it takes the Sapatola school, as well as the clicknobs method, to do it.

Morin, a slight, good looking South American, is a ribber de luxe—a guy who can double-talk in eight languages. He is back at his nonpaying profession after a season of summer stock in eastern theaters. His new list of victims would make the victims tremble if they knew it.

On the side, and for the money that's in it, Morin is an actor. He got into the movies in Mexico, making Spanish films, and was brought here by Warners for the part of a Brazilian flyer in "Wings of the Navy." Then he got a bit in Robert Z. Leonard's "Maytime." For fun on the "Maytime" set he began kidding the camera man, with such success that Leonard told him he could work again the next day if he'd keep pouring it into the photographer.

This was the beginning of a career which has led into countless dangers but no injuries to date. Leonard sicked him onto Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy, and many others. Wearing a makeup beard, he was introduced to G-man Hoover as Jacques Du Bonnet, chief of police of France. He proceeded to tell J. Edgar and other police officials that cops in this country were big bums who tried to solve crimes by beating people. "Me," he said, "I'm leetle, but by strength, she comes from my head, not my foot."

At a recent party at Barbara Hutton's he told Elsa Maxwell she didn't know how to throw parties because she didn't follow the clicknobs method or the Sapatola school. La Maxwell was about to explode when Noel Coward intervened. "Who are you?" asked Morin. Coward gave his name and Morin said, "O, the fellow who steals all his plays." When Coward and Maxwell were both fuming a titled Englishman, here to buy war planes, stepped in and invited Morin outside the genteel Hutton grounds for a small roughhouse.

Morin always has some one in on a rib, so that when physical danger threatens he touches his ear and the friend steps in to explain it's all a gag. One of his most furious victims was Albertina Rasch, who was teaching Jeanette MacDonald a dance at Metro. He told the noted Rasch she was doing it wrong and she began heaving pop bottles. He followed Frank Buck as a speaker of the Authors' club, having been introduced by the unsuspecting Rupert Hughes as a noted French novelist, and told the club Buck was a faker. Frank was about ready to send Morin back dead.

Ribbing is a labor of love for Albert, for he gets no pay, but it's good business. He proves he can play any kind of character part; he makes friends; he's getting himself a name and he wins jobs.

Alice Faye has been floored by flu and they're shooting around her on "tin pan alley." . . . Another "alley" player, John Loder, has received word that his Paris home has been looted. Loder has taken over Elsa Maxwell's lease on a Hollywood house, with Miss Maxwell reserving one room—a large closet filled with champagne. . . . Add to the ailing list Orson Welles, bedded with a cold believed to have been brought about by breathing gypsum dust used in a snow scene. They now call the "Citizen Kane" outfit the Silicosis company. . . . Morton Downey planed yesterday for New York for a radio audition. Mrs. Downey [Barbara Bennett] is around again after a major operation. The Downeys have leased a house for another year and she says she wants to remain in California.

Friday, Oct. 11.

A jerky and uneasy day here. Temptings to feel that action in any and all directions will somehow help—which it won't. Early inspirations not likely to work out well; evening urges as-is-ing, even in the face of domestic or social friction.

Distressed Receive Ninety-six Per Cent of Community Fund

Ninety-six cents of every dollar contributed to the Community fund actually goes to hungry children, distressed families, and the aged and infirm, it was disclosed yesterday by Dexter Cummings, president of the United Charities. Campaign expense and administration cost are kept to a minimum, he explained, because the 50,000 workers who raise the money volunteer their services. The fund's 1940 quota has been set at $3,604,000. Merle J. Trees is campaign chairman.

feels that it has hit upon a very satisfactory way of ending the show.

All Boxes Sold, Some Resold for Passavant Benefit.

Every box has been sold, some twice, for the Passavant benefit on Nov. 21, but that does not mean that any one who wants to give a box party on Thanksgiving night cannot buy a box, for every committee member has signified her willingness to turn back the box she has purchased and take instead seats on the main floor. Already a number of the members of the woman's aid society of the Passavant Memorial hospital have done this, thus swelling the amount that the hospital will receive.

The benefit is to be a performance of "Salome" by the Chicago Opera company, and "Swan Lake" by the Ballet theater in the Civic Opera house. The committee has headquarters at 636 North Michigan avenue, telephone Superior 7500, where tickets are on sale every week day from 9 until 5 o'clock. Some of the women who are there daily are Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, president of the society and chairman of the benefit committee; Mrs. Alden Swift, Mrs. Bryan Reid, Mrs. Gardiner Van Ness, Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, Mrs. Robert J. Dunham, Mrs. Daniel Peterkin, and Mrs. James R. Offield.

Mediterranean Topic of English Speaking Union.

"The Position in the Mediterranean" will be discussed by Sir Charles Morgan-Webb at a luncheon meeting of the English Speaking union to be held in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House this noon. Sir Morgan-Webb recently arrived from England where he heads a board of economic advisers to the monetary committee of the British parliament.

George F. Spaulding, president of the union, will preside. Other members who will sit at the speakers' table are: Lewis Bernays, Alexander Shennan, Frank A. Hecht, James H. Winston, Dr. Ernest B. Price, Walter Byron Smith, Roy Osgood, and John Nuveen Jr.

The Laurance H. Armours are entertaining at luncheon on Sunday at their home in Lake Forest for the Atherton Richardses who are leaving that afternoon for New York. Mr. and Mrs. Richards are going to Lake Forest tomorrow to spend the night with Mr. and Mrs. Mason Phelps, who are giving a dinner for their guests.

Infant Welfare Center Opening Concert Series.

Gladys Swarthout is appearing tonight as the first artist in a series of five concerts sponsored by Circle 27 of the Oak Park and River Forest Center of the Infant Welfare society. Among those who have made reservations for the recital, which will start at 8:30 o'clock in the Oak Park High school auditorium, are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Buckley, Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Cole, the Charles S. Castles, the Herbert A. Clarks, the senior and junior Neil C. Hurleys, Dr. and Mrs. Roland Jacobson, and Dr. and Mrs. William McGuire.

News of the birth of the first child of Lieut. and Mrs. Morris Grant Macleod is speeding to the baby's father in the royal navy, to her grandfather, Grant Macleod in South Africa, and to her maternal grandparents, Col. and Mrs. Sperlin Gyllenkrok in Stockholm. The baby, who has been named Heather, was born last Sunday at the Evanston hospital. Mrs. Macleod came to this country for the duration of the war and is staying with her sister and brother-in-law, the junior John M. Trainers, in Glencoe.

Stuart Sisters and Brother Are Home from Travels.

The Misses Harriet and Elizabeth Stuart and their brother, Harold, returned last Tuesday from the last lap of a summer of travel and excitement. Miss Elizabeth Stuart and her brother were among the passengers on the first flight of the Clipper to New Zealand, which left San Francisco on Sept. 11.

In just 12 days Miss Stuart and her brother flew 20,000 miles. Miss Harriet Stuart surprised her brother and sister by meeting their return flight in Honolulu. After flying back to San Francisco the sisters motored thru the Yosemite valley, reaching Chicago in time to join the family for their father's birthday celebration on Sept. 29.

The Misses Stuart departed immediately afterward for a shopping trip to New York and just returned to Chicago this week.

Duncan Hodgeses Name Baby Daughter Kate.

Kate is the name Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Hodges have given their daughter, born on Oct. 2 at the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest. Kate is the given name of Mrs. Hodges' mother, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Chartis Bell have named their daughter Chartis ReQua. Her arrival on Sept. 30 at the Evanston hospital prompted her great-grandmother, Mrs. Charles H. ReQua, and her grandmother, Mrs. Stewart Johnson, to hasten back from the west coast, where they had spent the summer. They will be at the Seneca hotel until Nov. 1, when they will move back to their Winnetka home.

Ditlef Knudsen won't be seeing his infant son, born on Oct. 3 at the Lutheran Deaconess hospital, until his wife and baby join him in San Francisco. Mrs. Knudsen is the former Alyce Siqueland, daughter of the late Col. Tryggve A. Siqueland and of Mrs. Jens Paasche. Mr. Knudsen is in the Norwegian foreign service.

BUCKEYES ARRIVE TODAY TO MEET WILDCATS

COACH BELIEVES CHICAGO READY WITH OFFENSE

Two Injured Detroit Players Return.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

A share of first place in the western division will be at stake Sunday when the Chicago Bears come home to Wrigley field to meet the Detroit Lions in a National Football league game. For both teams, which are tied with Green Bay now, this engagement quite likely will be the turning point in their championship quests.

Each has suffered one defeat, the Bears by the Cardinals and Detroit by Pittsburgh. One more setback and the road to a play-off berth definitely will be an uphill climb, what with Cleveland and the Cardinals apparently too inarticulate athletically to have much voice in the race and Green Bay, the defending champion, possessing a potentially great team with an easier schedule.

Mr. Halas Proves Right.

Last month George Halas, the energetic jewelry salesman and laundry magnate whose coaching duties are only one of numerous undertakings, took a long look at the Bear squad and announced it would be an excellent football team in several weeks. The statement brought a laugh, but in subsequent games, including the 41 to 10 victory over Green Bay, it was evident that Halas had not understated the situation when he said the Bears were only at 50 per cent efficiency. Now Halas says the Bears have begun to arrive and are ready to celebrate their homecoming with the sustained attack that has made them the outstanding offensive club in football over the last ten years.

Detroit likewise is ready for the supreme test. Capt. Chuck Hanneman, a fine end who was withheld from the Cardinal game last week except to kick an extra point, and Jack Morlock, rookie half back from Marshall college, reported for strenuous work this week after a two weeks' layoff because of injuries. The Lions will be handicapped by the absence of their regular full back, Bill Shepherd, but this loss can be discounted because Shepherd underwent an operation on his heel Tuesday and Detroit must rise or fall the rest of the season on the personnel it takes into the Bear game Sunday.

Lions Lead in Defense.

Potsy Clark, who never has coached a winner against the Bears in Chicago, either in his reign as head man at Portsmouth or Detroit, will bring the National league's leading defensive unit to Wrigley field. The Lions have had only 24 points scored against them as they climbed into a tie for the division lead with the Bears and Green Bay at two victories and one defeat. Including their scoreless tie with the Cardinals, they have surrendered only an average of 137 yards per game.

A three and one-half hour drill for the Bears yesterday morning was devoted largely to instructing backs where to look for pass receivers and ball carriers when Lloyd Cardwell, Whizzer White, Howie Weiss, and Cotton Price go into a spread. Price, a rookie from Texas A. and M., is the team's outstanding passer, surpassing even Dwight Sloan, the former Oklahoma and Cardinal half back who has been shifted to full back to back up Weiss since Shepherd's injury.

Cardinals Meet Redskins.

While the Bears are fretting themselves into the proper mental pitch for the Lions' invasion, the Cardinals are striving to get themselves in shape to meet the undefeated Redskins in Washington. Coach Jimmy Conzelman will take 29 men to the capital today. A workout is scheduled in Griffith stadium tomorrow. In New York the Giants have switched their lineup in an attempt to get more offensive strength for the game against Philadelphia. Coach Dutch Clark is attempting to create some semblance of organization among the Cleveland Rams, preparatory to invading Green Bay. Pittsburgh goes to Brooklyn on Sunday.

Vitt Will Know Oct. 28 Whether He's In or Out

Cleveland, O., Oct. 10 (AP).—Oscar Vitt, Cleveland Indians' manager, may mark down Oct. 28 as the day when the baseball club's directors will decide whether to keep him next season.

President Alva Bradley revealed today directors would decide the problem on that date—after Bradley's return from a Georgia vacation which starts tomorrow.

Central State Sends 29 Players to DeKalb

Mt. Pleasant, Mich., Oct. 10 [Special].—A squad of 29 Central State Teachers college players left this morning for De Kalb, Ill., to play De Kalb Teachers Saturday. Ed Kujawski, 210 pound center, tho hurt, is expected to start.

In the Wake of the News

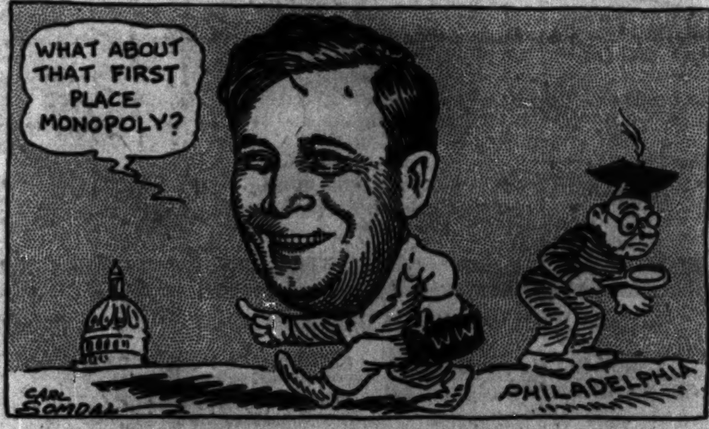
BY ARCH WARD.

BILL BUNDY, blocking back on the Southern California football team, which tomorrow will play Illinois at Champaign, is from one of America's most illustrious tennis families. . . . His mother, May Sutton Bundy, was world champion in 1905 and 1907, and his father, Tom Bundy, was national doubles champion several years with Maury McLaughlin. . . . His aunt, Florence Sutton, once was western champion, and another aunt, Violet Sutton Doeg, also was an outstanding player. . . . Mrs. Doeg is the mother of Johnny Doeg, former national champion. . . . Bundy's other famous tennis relatives include Aunt Ethel Sutton, Cousin May Doeg, who once was runner-up for the national girls singles title, and Cousin Billy Doeg, now a leading tennis coach. . . . Bill's older sister, Dorothy Bundy, is one of the current ranking feminine players. . . . His mother still plays an excellent game and she and Bill make a formidable team in mixed doubles competition at Palm Springs. . . . Glenn Morris, decathlon champion and movie star, got his job with the Detroit Lions by showing up at practice several weeks ago, identifying himself and asking for a tryout. . . . British golfers are eagerly waiting for an official statement explaining the barring of Jim Ferrier, open and amateur champion of Australia, from the United States amateur. . . . Rudy York was the only 1940 Detroit Tiger who played every inning of the American league schedule. . . . One of the assistant coaches at Temple university is Henry Frnka, who insists that the final "a" is in the right place. . . . If the New Deal's trust busters in Washington run short of things to investigate, they can look over what apparently is a Philadelphia baseball monopoly. . . . The Athletics have usurped last place 10 times and the Phillies 11 times since 1915. . . .



WHAT ABOUT THAT FIRST PLACE MONOPOLY?
PHILADELPHIA
CARL SOMDAL

Ossie Solem, Syracuse football coach, listened to a broadcast of the Minnesota-Washington game as he was driving home from a scouting trip, Sept. 28. . . . When George Franck, Minnesota back, returned a Washington kickoff 98 yards for a touchdown, Solem was so intent that he drove thru a stoplight. . . . Long after Minnesota players had left the field at the half leading, 17 to 14, Solem still was explaining to a policeman that he hadn't even seen the stop sign. . . . There was no arrest. . . . Edward Allen, full back at Pennsylvania, is a descendant of Ethan Allen of Fort Ticonderoga fame. . . . Stan Coveleskie of the 1920 Cleveland Indians was the last pitcher to win three games in one world series. . . . The competition was best five out of nine that year. . . . The St. Ambrose college eleven of Davenport, Ia., has not lost a game to an Iowa conference opponent since 1933. . . . Jim Aubrey, a member of Princeton's football squad is a junior golfer at Chicago's Exmoor Country club.

WISCONSIN HAS IOWA WORRIED, AND JUSTLY SO

Hawkeye Fans Recall 1939 Battle.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 10.—Under cloudy, threatening skies Iowa's football players this afternoon, after three days' scrimmage, turned attention to their defenses for their opening Western conference game Saturday with the University of Wisconsin.

The unprecedented scrimmages which began Monday were needed because the squad was not given a comprehensive test by South Dakota last Saturday. Not only were the visitors beaten, 46 to 0, but they failed to make a contest of the game, attempting only two forward passes and frequently kicking on first down. All of which means that South Dakota will not be invited to return in 1941.

Coaches Seek Replacements.

Last night's scrimmage, while involving two varsity teams against the freshmen, obviously was designed to discover support at several key positions, since Capt. Mike Enich and Jim Walker, varsity tackles; Max Hawkins, guard; Bill Diehl, center; Ken Pettit and Wilford Burkett, ends; Al Couppee, Ray Murphy, Bill Green, Burdell Gilleard, Tom Farmer, and Bob Bender, all of whom are backs, did not take part.

Offensively, Coach Eddie Anderson's problems still are selection of ends and a left half back, but he also has the more comprehensive task of securing coördinated blocking.

Varsity backs in the scrimmage which lasted for more than an hour were Gerald Ankeny, quarter back, whom Coach Anderson would like to start against Wisconsin for strategic reasons; Dick Brecunier, quarter back; Bus Mertes, Bill Gallagher, Jim Youell, and Bill Stauss, half backs, and Art Johnson and Henry Vollenweider, full backs.

They Want That Extra Point.

"After reviewing the pictures of last year's Iowa-Wisconsin game, I believe that the Badgers caused us more trouble and blocked better thruout than any other team Iowa met," Anderson said this afternoon. "Time and again our linemen failed to reach a Wisconsin passer because of the fine blocking. Not even Minnesota ripped thru our line as effectively as George Paskvan did."

Pictures of Iowa's games with Wisconsin were reviewed by the players and coaches for a study of defenses used against Hawkeye plays and for comparison with the report on the Wisconsin-Marquette game by Scout Frank Carideo. There is a similarity of attack from a fundamental formation, but the defenses of Wisconsin and Iowa can be vastly different. Carideo was impressed with the performance of Wisconsin's right half back, Don Miller.

The point after the touchdown, if any, also is of primary concern as Iowa made only four in seven attempts against South Dakota. Missing the point after the second touchdown at Wisconsin last year almost cost the game, for Wisconsin led, 13 to 12, until the fourth period, when Nile Kinnick's pass brought victory.

BADGERS NAME 35.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 10 [Special].—Thirty-five Wisconsin football players were named by Coach Harry Stuhldreher today for the trip to Iowa City. The squad will leave early tomorrow and run thru a limbering up drill in the afternoon in Davenport, where it will spend the night. The following will make the trip:

ENDS—Lorenz, Bob Stupka, Ed Wagner, Frank Milauc, Schreiner, Gene Lyons, Ray Kreick, and Cliff Philip.

GUARDS—Capt. Dick Embick, Gile, Gage, John Roberts, George Markis, and Dave Jones.

Three Irish Who Will Bother Georgia Tech

Bob Saggau (upper left), who has won two letters in football at Notre Dame, will see action at left half when the Irish meet Georgia Tech tomorrow. A sophomore star in 1938, Saggau was hampered by injuries last year. Tom Gallagher (inset), who will be at left tackle, is a Chicagoan. He weighs 205 pounds and is 6 feet 1 inch tall. Gallagher was a nine letter man at Leo High school.

Layden Worried! The Reason? Georgia Tech's Coming to Town

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 10.—There's to be a very fancy football game here Saturday afternoon between Notre Dame and Georgia Tech, old rivals of the Irish since the teams first played each other back in 1922.

We interviewed Coach Elmer Layden this afternoon while he was having a haircut, shave, shampoo, singe, massage, tonic, and manicure. There's nothing like catching a coach when he's relaxed and in a mood to tell the truth.

Tech Still Has Its Stars.

The sweet smelling cosmetics were scenting up the premises delightfully, Elmer was frank and, considering the setting, a bit dire. At one time, speaking right thru the lather, Elmer admitted he fears Georgia Tech.

Bay rum or no bay rum, Coach Layden seems to have some ground for his fears, tho his boys did win rather handily over College of the Pacific last Saturday. Elmer knows from this year's scouting reports and his direct knowledge of the skill of last year's Tech stars still on the team, that the lads from Atlanta are tricky and fast, and he knows they are well coached, for Bill Alexander, who was in his first year as head coach in 1922, when Notre Dame and Georgia Tech first met, still is the boss, and doing nothing to hurt his enviable reputation.

Tomorrow, perhaps, will be time enough to review how the Irish barely beat out Georgia Tech, 17 to 14, a year ago. And how Johnny Bosch and Bob Ison, stars of Tech's 21 to 7 Orange Bowl victory over Missouri last New Year's day, are coming back, foxier than ever. Today we prefer to skim over next Saturday's personalities and possible formations and wax reminiscent. Saturday is to be Notre Dame Old Timer's day, honoring letter men of 1917, 1918, and 1919.

There's That 1929 Game.

We aren't prepared to go that far back in reminiscence, but we hope our younger readers will pardon us a little touch of the it-seems-like-only-yesterday nostalgia while we recall the last meeting we witnessed between Notre Dame and Georgia Tech—in 1929.

The market crash had occurred only a few days before, but we had been cagy and had saved carfare to Atlanta from the stock debacle. Even if we hadn't, we could have got an advance order on The Tribune cashier.

Anyhow, we went to Atlanta. Coach Knute Rockne was sick abed that season. Tom Lieb led the Irish to At-

ILLINOIS SHIFTS BACK FIELD FOR U. S. C. CONTEST

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 10 [Special].—Bob Falkenstein, 164 pound senior from Naperville, hitherto a substitute, stepped up to the probable starting right half position as Illinois tapered off today with light drills for Saturday's game with Southern California.

Falkenstein, who started the Bradley game last Saturday, has impressed Coach Bob Zuppke with his blocking and tackling against the freshmen using Trojan formations.

Zuppke hopes the move will give Illinois a faster and sharper back field, altho it will average only 167 pounds, about 20 pounds lighter per man than Southern California. Myron Pfeifer, sophomore full back, is the heaviest man at 184 pounds. Jimmy Easterbrook, left half, and Ralph Ehni, quarter back, are the other probable starters.

McCullough May See Action.

Tom McCullough, sophomore guard from West High, Aurora, has returned to scrimmage after a long layoff and may see action as a reserve guard. Art Marlaire, sophomore end from Bradley, and Bob Gibbs, Peoria, are battling for the second string right end spot. Marlaire, who caught a touchdown pass against Bradley, has been coming along fast.

TROJANS TEST SOPHOMORES.

Herington, Kas., Oct. 10 [Special].—Southern California's football team stopped for a strenuous workout on the Herington High school practice field today. Coach Howard Jones, torn between the desire to win and to test Trojan sophomores, apparently is going to afford the first year players their opportunity at Illinois.

Sophomores who are scheduled for action are Quarter Back Ray Woods, Ronnie Thomas, guard; Tom McGarvin, end; Will Bledsoe, half back, and Don Willer, tackle. Thomas will replace the injured Floyd Phillips at left guard in the starting lineup. Woods and McGarvin appear to be a promising pass combination. Bledsoe is expected to spell the overworked Bobby Robertson. McGarvin is not a sophomore, but is in his first year in football.

N. U. PRIMED FOR CHAMPIONS AND BIG NINE DEBUT

Expect 40,000 for Tomorrow's Duel.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Are Northwestern's Wildcats really wild?

He knows he'll find it tomorrow when the Wildcats are turned loose in Dyche stadium to see what they can do about putting a few scratches on Ohio State, Big Nine defending champion, and generally doped as a sure repeater.

The Wildcats looked pretty wild last Saturday when they stacked up 40 points against Waldorf's alma mater, Syracuse, but the Purple coach wants that charged against a weak Orange eleven, rather than credited to his collection of gridiron talent. At least that's what he says, but it easily could be just a smoke screen to deceive tomorrow's invaders.

He Wouldn't Admit It.

"Even if I knew for certain we were tough, I wouldn't admit it—at least not with Ohio State coming up," said Waldorf yesterday. "You can always count on the Buckeyes being tough. They're a hard team to scout or prepare for. They have more plays than a clock has ticks. You have to respect an attack of that sort. They'll outweigh us about 15 pounds per man in the line. Their reserve strength is far superior. Much of our reserve material is untried. We'll know more about it by tomorrow night."

This might indicate that Waldorf voluntarily has written the Wildcats off as 100 per cent loss, at least for this week-end, but he really has a few soothing thoughts. He's happy about the spirit of the squad. Everything has been running along on a "Die for Dear Old Rutgers" line. And he's encouraged by the fact that there has been no ballyhoo. Last fall the experts named the Wildcats as potential champions and they didn't even come close. The kickback from the predictions stirred up the wolves.

Soper Only Doubtful Factor.

Except for one man, the Wildcats will have all their players available and even this one man may be able to take a hand. Paul Soper, former left half but now second string full back, developed a charley horse in early practice and aggravated the ailment while playing one quarter against Syracuse last Saturday. If he can't appear tomorrow, the job of relieving the ripsnorting Don Clawson will go to George Benson.

One Ohioan also is ailing. He's Jimmy Strausbaugh, first string left half who was kept out of last week's battle with Purdue because of an ankle injury. Whether he will be tossed against the Wildcats probably will depend on what sort of turn the battle takes. If the Wildcats prove unmanageable, Strausbaugh will get in there at one time or another. Otherwise he will be saved for the Minnesota game.

Buckeyes to Arrive Today.

The Buckeyes will leave Columbus this morning, arrive in Chicago about 1 p. m. and work out later in the afternoon on the Loyola gridiron.

The narrow escape in the Purdue game, when the Boilermaker pass attack threw the Buckeyes into a panic from which Charles Maag rescued them with a winning field goal in the last 20 seconds of play, is reported to have had a sobering effect on Coach Francis Schmidt's charges. Previously they were quite confident the experts were correct in picking them as repeating champions.

The Buckeyes also have sent word ahead that they put no stock in Coach Waldorf's declaration that Northwestern's 40 points against Syracuse are of no significance. The Ohio answer to that is, "Any team that can score that easily must have something."

Approximately 8,000 end seats, at $1.75 for adults and 50 cents for children will be placed on sale in the stadium tomorrow. The advance sale indicates a 40,000 turnout.

TULANE STAR'S PARENTS KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Boyle Sr., of Hobart, Ind., parents of Tommy Jr., co-captain of Tulane's football team, were killed in an automobile accident near Coudersport, Pa., yesterday afternoon. They were en route to New York to watch the Fordham-Tulane game Saturday. The elder O'Boyle, 53 years old, and his sister, Mrs. Mary Strickland of Woodward, Okla., died at the scene of the accident. Mrs. O'Boyle died a few hours later in Coudersport hospital.

James O'Boyle, 18 years old, another son, suffered a fractured arm, possible internal injuries and shock. Two other sons, Francis and William, left Gary by airplane yesterday for the northern Pennsylvania town to accompany the bodies home. The O'Boyles resided at 39th and Normal streets, Hobart. Mr. O'Boyle operated a plumbing shop at 220 West 10th avenue, Gary.

WILBERFORCE TO MEET TUSKEGEE ELEVEN TONIGHT

Play 11th Game of Series on Soldiers' Field.

A last minute shift in the Wilberforce university lineup for the 11th annual football game against Tuskegee institute of Alabama tonight in Soldiers' field will find Shelton Bell at left end. Bell three times was a member of the Dayton Daily News boxing team, which took part in The Chicago Tribune's Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions. The kick-off tonight is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock.

Wilberforce is a favorite because it has a line which averages 210 pounds. The Ohioans have played one game this season, having won, 30 to 7, over Alabama A. and M. last Saturday. Tuskegee was defeated, 13 to 7, in New Orleans by Xavier university and again last Saturday by Morris Brown college, 10 to 0.

The game tonight takes on a north versus south aspect, as all of the Ohio squad of 41, except eight, are from the north. All of Tuskegee's squad of 29, except two, are southerners.

Last year Tuskegee upset Wilberforce, 12 to 6. The two teams have played three ties. Wilberforce leads in the series, four games to three.

The Tuskegee squad arrived here Wednesday noon and worked out in Washington park Wednesday afternoon and yesterday. Wilberforce worked out in Gary Wednesday afternoon and spent the night in the Indiana city. Possible lineups:

| WILBERFORCE. | | TUSKEGEE. |
|---|---|---|
| Bell | L.E. | Hornburger |
| Schnebly | L.T. | Sussewell |
| L. Carter [C.] | L.G. | Kirk |
| Fuller | C. | Hollins [C] |
| Cornwell | R.G. | J. Ross |
| P. Carter | R.T. | J. Brown |
| T. Ross | R.E. | Ivy |
| Procter | Q.B. | Moore |
| Castleman | L.H. | Sams |
| Hart | R.H. | Head |

Michigan Bids for 3d Victory Over Harvard

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 10 [Special].—Michigan's football squad ran thru a light workout this afternoon on Ferry field, then left by train for Cambridge, Mass., where Saturday the Wolverines face Harvard for the seventh time in history. The series was begun in 1881 and the Crimson won the first four games. When the relationship was resumed in 1929, Michigan won, 14 to 12, and repeated, 6 to 3, in 1930.

The Wolverines have several objectives. First, they want to remain undefeated and help toward squaring the series standing; secondly, they want to show the east what Tom Harmon looks like as a senior; and thirdly, they wish to help Bob Westfall and Forrest Evashevski further establish national reputations.

Coach Fritz Crisler spent considerable time today on the kicking game, with Harmon, Paul Kromer, Dave Nelson, and Cliff Wise doing the punting. Harmon's punting was improved last week against Michigan State. The rest of the time was spent on a general drill of fundamentals and running plays.

HARVARD PICKS LINEUP.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 10 [Special]. Morton Waldstein, the 185 pound full back, who came up from last year's freshmen, has clinched a place as a starter for Harvard after an all-week fight with Bill Brown, the 175 pound senior. Thus Coach Dick Harlow's lineup for the Michigan game is complete. Harvard will start the following players:

Indiana Squad Leaves on Trip to Nebraska

Indiana university's football team, en route to Lincoln, Neb., to meet Nebraska tomorrow, stopped in Chicago last night to change trains. The squad of 36 left Chicago over the North Western road for Omaha, where this afternoon the Hoosiers will practice in Creighton university stadium. Indiana will complete the trip to Lincoln tomorrow.

Ankle injuries suffered by two key back field men, Harry [Tuffy] Brooks, and Earl Doloway, have caused Coach Bo McMillin to change the lineup. Kenny Smith was shifted from right half to quarter back in place of Brooks, and Red Zimmer replaced Doloway at left half in a final drill in Bloomington, Ind., yesterday.

Players making the trip are:

PURDUE SQUAD DEPARTS

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 10 [Special].—Hopeful of proving that the second half performance against Ohio State was no flash in the pan, 36 members of Purdue's football squad departed today for East Lansing, Mich., where the Boilermakers will play Michigan State on Saturday in the fourth game of their rivalry.

Coach Mal Elward intends to stick to the same combination that routed Butler and lost to Ohio State, 17 to 14, on a last minute field goal. The attack will be built around the passing and running ability of John Galvin and Mike Byelene, veteran half backs; the smashes of John Petty, full back, and the blocking of Bob Kersey, quarter back, among others, and the pass catching of Capt. Dave Rankin, left end.

The roster of the Purdue squad:

ENDS—Dave Rankin, Bill Combs, James Rush, Bill Shimer, Lavern King, Ted Tykocki, and Forrest Sprowl.

TACKLES—Al Rossi, Italo Rossi, Herman Timperman, Bruce Warren, William Neff, and Ewell O'Bryan.

GUARDS—Tom Melton, Jack Winchell, James Miller Joe Hillenbrand, John Vecs, and John Brown.

HALF BACKS—Mike Byelene, John Galvin, Marion Carter, Walter Cook, Paul Anderson, Bryan Brock, and Tony Berto.

lanta, and rather irate Irish they were, for they remembered that the year before Alexander's boys had spanked them, 13 to 0.

Recall These Names?

A pretty good bunch of kids in 1929 wiped out the chagrin over that 13 to 0 whipping of the year before. The score was Notre Dame, 26; Georgia Tech, 6, tho Tech was first to score. Maybe you remember some of the names. There was Joe Savoldi, now refurnishing the trophy room in his $80,000 home in Sawyer, Mich. Since that trip to Atlanta Joe has made a fortune as a traveling man, frequently appearing in as many as six cities in six days. Then there was Capt. John Law, whose prison and parole work in New York state is well known thruout the world. Surely you remember Frank Carideo, now an assistant coach at Iowa, and Marty Brill, head coach at Loyola of Los Angeles. Tim Moynihan played that day. Tim now is head coach at George Washington university.

Jack Cannon played quite a game, as we recall it. Jack's now in the insurance business in Columbus. Moon Mullins was there. He's now coaching St. Ambrose college in Davenport. Also Marchy Schwartz, assistant coach at Stanford; Jack Elder, athletic director of the C. Y. O. in Chicago; Bucky O'Connor, a doctor in the east; Ted Twomey, in business in Duluth; Tom Conley, head coach and athletic director at John Carroll in Cleveland; Bert Metzger, milk company official in Chicago, and Dick Donoghue, a steel company official in New York.

They Must See the Ball.

That was the last game of an eight game series and the teams did not meet again until 1938, when the Irish won, 14 to 6. Then there was that close shave last year and the Georgians now come north again figuring they are due to conquer Saturday.

You perhaps have heard the wisecrack made by one of Missouri's 1939 Big Six champs after Georgia Tech had won the Orange Bowl game in a maze of double reverses, statue of liberty and end-around plays. He said he hadn't seen a football since the practice the day preceding the game.

Coach Layden, from his barber shop throne today, intimated that he was thinking about this very deception. He figures his boys can't win unless they see the football, and frequently.

MARQUETTE AND IOWA STATE TO BATTLE TONIGHT

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 10 [Special].—Marquette university's football team, still crippled as a result of last week's defeat by Wisconsin, will play its only night game of the season and the first of its three home contests when it meets Iowa State college tomorrow night.

WINTER'S ON THE WAY; HAWKS OFF TO CAMP TONIGHT

Manager Expects Great Things of Rookies.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

President Bill Tobin, Manager Paul Thompson, and a number of fellow workmen of the Chicago Blackhawks, will entrain this evening at 6:15 o'clock over the North Western railroad for their autumnal training camp in Hibbing, Minn. Joseph C. Farrell, the Voice of the Hawks, revealed these facts at a luncheon in the Sherman hotel yesterday, via the resonant baritone which he has recovered after having mislaid same several times last season, and almost lost forever when the Chicagoans won the Stanley cup a year ago last April.

Tonight's party will include Tobin, Thompson, Trainer Eddie Froelich, Mr. Farrell, Johnny Gottselig, Regis [Pep] Kelly, Mush March, Jack Portland, Earl Seibert, and Bill Thoms. The remainder of the playing personnel, which totals 24, will mobilize in Winnipeg and join the Chicago party for the first workouts tomorrow on the Hibbing rink.

Eight Rookies Coming.

The Winnipeg detail will include ten veterans and eight rookies. The returning gents are George Allen, Doug Bentley, Bob and Bill Carse, Johnny Chad, Joe Cooper, Cully Dahlstrom, Paul Goodman, Phil Hergesheimer, and Art Weibe. The newcomers' batch is composed of Max Bentley, brother of Doug; Fred Hergert, George Johnston, Sammy Lo Presti, Dave MacKay, John Mariucci, Bill Mosienko, and Paul Platz.

Members of the Hawk official party yesterday radiated optimism, averring they look forward to one of the brightest seasons in their careers. Tobin stated that 75 per cent of the season box seats in the Chicago Stadium already are gone. Thompson, who has spent most of the summer in Vancouver, B. C., feels confident that the team will outdo last years' squad, the first under his direction for a full season.

Paul is Confident Now.

"Last year, when I got to the training camp, I was scared about how our rookies would develop. I'm certainly not now, after the way fellows like Doug Bentley, Bob Carse, and Johnny Chad, who were original training camp starters, turned out. And this year we have a flock of new men from whom we expect a lot. One thing, I'd like to make plain, is, once we go to work at Hibbing, veterans and rookies are all alike. They'll all start from scratch and each man will have to earn his place."

This last Thompson edict means a battle between Goodman, who finished out the season in the Chicago nets, and Lo Presti, goal tender of the St. Paul Saints, who won the American association championship. Others who are expected to make a bid for spots are MacKay, from the University of Alberta, and Mariucci, former Minnesota football star, both at defense, and big Hergert, who, as a member of the St. Louis Flyers, last year led the scoring in the American association.

Play First Game Oct. 27.

The Hawks will train in Hibbing until Oct. 27. They are to play their first game against the Saints in St. Paul on that date. Two more against the same foes will follow on Oct. 31, and Nov. 3, after which the team will leave for home, arriving here the 4th. The first National league game will be played in the Chicago Stadium on Nov. 7, probably against the New York Americans, no official schedules having been released yet.

TO BOWL EXHIBITION.

Sullivan Beats Waller, 13-7, in Closing Minute

Sullivan High School's football team scored in the final minute of play yesterday to defeat Waller, 13 to 7, in Winnemac park. It was Sullivan's first victory in three starts in the north section of the Public School league and the third consecutive setback for Waller.

Both teams went thru a scoreless first quarter, but Kenny Hawkins, Sullivan left half back, broke loose for 20 yards and a touchdown in the second period. Bob Anderson, quarter back, added the extra point and Sullivan led, 7 to 0, at the half.

40 Yard Pass Brings Victory.

In the final period, Tom Kostopolous, Waller left end, blocked a kick on the Sullivan 20 yard line. A series of line plays brought the ball to the Sullivan 2 yard line and Paul Goro, left half back, crashed over for the score. Grant Woods, who replaced Dallas Washer at right half back, made the extra point.

Sullivan scored its winning touchdown in the last 40 seconds when Hawkins threw a 40 yard pass to Herb Moberg, right end, who caught the ball and fell over the Waller goal line.

Hirsch, Harper Play Tonight.

Three afternoon games and one night contest are scheduled in the Public School league today. The game under the floodlights will bring together Hirsch and Harper of the south division in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets. In the afternoon games, Harrison will play Phillips in Normal stadium; Marshall faces McKinley in Mills stadium and Bowen will oppose Hyde Park at 83d street and Yates avenue.

The Waller-Sullivan lineups:

| SULLIVAN [13]. | | WALLER [7]. |
|---|---|---|
| Henderson | L. E. | Kostopolous |
| Kleinman | L. T. | Smith |
| Tinen | L. G. | Gluss |
| Thulin | C. | Berry |
| Howe | R. G. | Connelly |
| Schauss | R. T. | Denton |
| Moberg | R. E. | Lisching |
| Anderson | Q. B. | Daniels |
| Hawkins | L. H. | Goro |
| Welter | R. H. | Washer |
| Dobbin | F. B. | Yonan |

2 S. M. U. Players, Hurt in Crash, Continue by Plane

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 10 (AP).—Clinton McClain and Bill Thomas, Southern Methodist university football stars, traveling by airplane, caught up with the rest of the squad today but Half Back Foster Elder remained in Dallas, Tex. The three were hurt yesterday in an automobile accident on their way to the train for a trip to the Pittsburgh game Saturday. The Mustangs stopped here for a short workout in the Butler university bowl. Coach Matty Bell admitted concern over Elder's removal from the starting lineup.

McKechnie, Derringer Are Colonels (Kentucky Style)

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 10 (AP).—Manager Bill McKechnie and Pitcher Paul Derringer of the world champion Cincinnati Reds were commissioned Kentucky colonels today by Gov. Keen Johnson.

CONFERENCE TO TAKE OVER GAME IN COTTON BOWL

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 10 (AP).—The Southwest conference, which has been sending teams to the Sugar and Rose Bowls for years, will promote its own New Year's contest on Jan. 1, 1941—the Cotton Bowl game.

The conference that gave the Rose Bowl Southern Methodist in 1935, the Sugar Bowl Sam Baugh and Davey O'Brien with Texas Christian in 1935 and 1938, and John Kimbrough and the Texas Aggies in 1939, formally confirmed today it would sponsor the Cotton bowl game in Dallas.

The game at first was privately promoted, then a group of Dallas business men obtained the rights. Now the group will turn the contract over to the conference.

No ironclad commitment to place the conference champion in the Cotton Bowl game has been given by all the seven schools, said Dan D. Rogers, chairman of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association executive committee, but "an urgent invitation will be extended the champion."

Austin Bears Eleven Runs Over Austin Blues, 33 to 0

Lawrence Team to Leave Today for Carleton Game

50 Springers Are Entered in Two Day Trial

BY BOB BECKER.

Four field trial champion springer spaniels, including the 1939 United States national champion, and 46 other expertly trained dogs of this breed will go into competition tomorrow when the annual field trial of the English Springer Spaniel Field Trial Club of Illinois gets under way. This open air classic, one of the big fall events for sportsmen and hunting dog fanciers, continues thru Sunday. It will be held in Dunes Park, four miles north of Waukegan on route 42, where suitable cover for working spaniels and water for the retrieving tests are available.

With a total entry of 50 springers including Solo Event, the dog owned by James Simpson Jr. of Wadsworth, Ill., which won the national crown last year, Chicago spaniel fanciers expect to see a spaniel world series during the two days of the trial.

Water Splash to Run.

The three field trial champions which will run against Solo Event on Sunday are Water Splash, owned by Conway Olmstead of Lake Forest and handled by Martin Hogan, Barrington; C. B. Dushane's Cloverdale Zipper, handled by Clifford Wallace, and Dalsangan Pomme de Terre, the well known import owned by David T. Silberman of this city.

The club has nominated three well known judges to pick the winners of the various stakes. The trio consists of A. M. Lewis of New York, president of the American Spaniel Field Trial association; Armin Schlesinger, president of the Wisconsin Amateur Field Trial club of Milwaukee, and Dr. Stuart Sowle of Rockford, Ill.

Dog From Coast Entered.

Charles S. Goodall, secretary of the club, announced last night the midwestern dogs entered will face competitors from other parts of the country. Among the entries from distant points is a western dog, Pendelton Judge, owned by R. C. Bishop, Portland, Ore., manufacturer. Bishop will run his dog in the open all age stake. O. H. Kale of Benton Harbor, Mich., will handle Tailwind Smudge, a field trial springer owned by Edward Dayton of Pittsburgh, Pa. Noranby Flycatcher, an open all age dog which was imported from England by James Simpson Jr. since the start of the war, also will demonstrate its bird finding ability in the open all age.

Wilson Really Steals Second; It's in His Home

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 10 (AP).—Jimmy Wilson, the Reds' 40 year old catcher, not only stole second base in the last game of the world series with Detroit but also took it home with him to Philadelphia. After the game Mrs. Wilson asked club officials if she couldn't have the cushion as a souvenir. They granted the wish.

KRESS, DROPPED BY TIGERS, MAY MANAGE MILLERS

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 10 (AP).—Ralph [Red] Kress, Detroit Tiger player-coach and former Minneapolis infielder, is one of the candidates being considered for the vacant position of manager of the St. Paul American association baseball club, Business Manager Lou McKenna said today.

Kress was released by the Tigers in Detroit today.

Joe Carter, Eagles End, Will Be Out for Month

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP).—Joe Carter, veteran end and captain of the Philadelphia Eagles in the National Football league, will be out for at least a month because of a shoulder injury. Carter suffered a broken shoulder in last Friday's game with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

OHIO, N. U. MOVIE TO BE PRESENTED AT WAILING WALL

H. L. Wessling, for Northwestern, and James C. Handley, for Ohio State, will preside at next Monday's Wailing Wall football session in the Sherman hotel. Pictures of the Ohio-Northwestern game will be shown with Coach Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern as commentator. A group of former Northwestern stars, including Jimmy Evans, Tim Lowry, Dal Marvil, and Waldo Fisher, together with an Ohio group, will be introduced.

Tabulation of votes for player of the week, taken Monday, gave Tom Harmon of Michigan 280 votes, Milt Piepul of Notre Dame 26, George Franck of Minnesota, 20; Don Scott of Ohio and Don Clawson of Northwestern, 18 each, and Mike Byelene of Purdue, 16, in the competition for leading back. Charlie Maag of Ohio led the linemen with 135 votes, followed by Dave Rankin, Purdue, 64; Bill Johnson, Minnesota, 44; Alf Bauman, Northwestern, 20, and Al Wistert, Michigan, 16.

GILLS WIN THREE GAMES TO KEEP RANDOLPH LEAD

Furman Bowlers Score First Series Victory.

Adolph Carlson bowled 635 last night to lead the Gills to a three-game victory over the La Palina Cigars and bring their record to 14 games won and one lost in the Randolph league.

Members of the Furman Funerals wore a varied array of shirts to break the team's jinx and won their first series victory, two games to one, over the None Betters. They still trail in the league with three games won out of 15.

REDS GET GLORY, BUT 1940 PROFITS LIKELY ARE LESS

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 10 (AP).—Despite a seven-game world series from which the club will realize approximately $135,000, the World Champion Cincinnati Reds likely will show a profit smaller than last year, when they won the National league pennant, but were defeated in four straight series games by the Yankees.

Warren C. Giles, vice president and general manager, today said preliminary figures "which probably are correct," except for minor adjustments, indicate the club would show a profit "appreciably less" than last year's $400,000.

Giles said the difference was attributable to higher players' salaries and lower home attendance—approximately 130,000 below 1939, when 980,000 fans went thru Crosley field turnstiles.

INDOOR BOXING SEASON OPENS IN STADIUM NOV. 15

Precedes Aron-Mamakos Bout by Five Days.

Promoter Bill Rand will open the indoor boxing season in Chicago Stadium on Nov. 15, five days before a scheduled 10 round event between Milt Aron and Steve Mamakos, it was learned yesterday. The Aron-Mamakos encounter will be offered in the Coliseum under the auspices of Irving Schoenwald. Rand will operate under a Stadium license, which recently was renewed by Arthur Wirtz, vice president and treasurer at the west side arena. The Nov. 15 show will be the first held in the Stadium since last March 29, when Tony Zale conquered Al Hostak in a 10 round thriller.

Lou Angelucci, south side middleweight, and Frank McBride of the Savoy Athletic club will meet in a return bout of five rounds in the amateur show tonight in the Madison A. C., 4711 Madison street. Angelucci eliminated McBride in the semi-finals of the city Golden Gloves tournament in the Coliseum on Feb. 22. The weight is 160 pounds. The boys were scheduled to clash for the second time last Friday, but McBride was overweight, and Glen Potter came from Bloomington to substitute for him. Angelucci stopped Potter in the second round. Matchmaker Jack Biggerstaff has arranged a five round semi-final between Stanley Stockins and Hosiah McLain, lightweights.

Leonard Bennett, Detroit welterweight, and Tito Taylor have been matched for an eight round contest in Marigold Gardens Monday. The card is headed by a 10 rounder involving Billy Marquart and Johnny Pleasant. Four round preliminary matches will include those concerning Mickey Hayes, Milwaukee heavyweight, and Bill Peterson, and Al Jackson, former Catholic Youth Organization lightweight champion, and Matt Daugherty. . . . John A. Helstrom Sr., former bantamweight headliner, was killed in an automobile accident in Tucumcari, N. M., on Tuesday, it was learned last night. Helstrom, who was 55 years old and press room superintendent at a north side printing corporation, was the father of Eddie and Johnny Helstrom, twin amateur boxers. Johnny also was in the car but escaped uninjured. . . . Sammy Frager, once featherweight champion of the navy, was released yesterday from a west side hospital.

THIS JOB'S ABOUT AS SAFE AS AN AIR RAID WARDEN'S

Accidents Take Big Toll on American Farms.

BY CLAYTON KIRKPATRICK.

Of all the ways of making a living farming is the most hazardous, delegates to the 29th National Safety Congress and Exposition were told yesterday in the Stevens hotel. The speaker, J. C. Mohler, secretary of the Kansas state board of agriculture, said that fatal accidents on farms are about as frequent as deaths reported during recent air raids on London.

"Work in factories, foundries, oil fields, and mines which is generally supposed to be perilous is actually much safer than plowing, planting, and harvesting," Mohler said.

4,200 Fatalities Annually.

"There is an annual loss of 4,200 lives among farmers," he continued, "while the rate among workers engaged in manufacturing is only 1,800. Mining, quarrying, and drilling for oil and gas claim only 1,500 lives each year."

He cited an analysis of accident statistics showing that altho animals caused most of the fatal accidents in the years prior to 1930, the increased use of machinery since has resulted in a substitution of machinery for animals at the head of the accident column.

Lack of Safety Work Blamed.

Mohler attributed the high accident rate on farms to a lack of organized safety work among rural workers.

Illinois was listed as one of the five states where efforts to decrease farm accidents to farm workers are becoming effective. The work in this state is directed by the State Agricultural association. Minnesota, Michigan, Kansas, and California are the other states where safety campaigns have reduced accident rates.

The safety convention will close this morning. The president of the National Safety council, Col. John Stilwell, announced yesterday that the convention will be held in Chicago again next year.

JOHN E. NORTHUP DIES; FORMERLY PROSECUTOR'S AID

John E. Northup.

John E. Northup, former first assistant state's attorney, died yesterday at the age of 72 in the West Suburban hospital. His death followed an operation. Mr. Northup had been engaged in the legal profession in Chicago for more than 40 years.

In his public career, which began in 1906 when he first was appointed assistant state's attorney, he investigated and successfully prosecuted famous cases involving vote frauds, mail robberies, a liquor conspiracy, and Chicago sanitary district frauds. He had been a special assistant to the United States attorney general and first assistant to the United States district attorney.

Mr. Northup was graduated from Drake university. Before studying law he had been a principal in a Chicago suburban school. He leaves his widow, Elizabeth; a daughter, Miss Dorothy M. Northup; two sisters, and a brother. His home was at 161 North Menard avenue.

TICKET AGENT ROBBED.

Good Growing Weather Aids Crop Outlook.

Production of 2,352,185,000 bushels of corn in the United States this year was forecast yesterday by the department of agriculture, favorable growing conditions during the last month boosting the crop outlook 50,000,000 bushels. The corn crop last year totaled 2,619,137,000 bushels. The 10-year average yield is 2,299,342,000 bushels.

The corn crop in Illinois is expected to amount to 306,967,000 bushels with an average yield of 41 bushels to the acre, the government report said. The following table gives the government's estimate of the size of the corn crop in the leading producing states with comparisons:

[In millions of bushels.]

|  | Oct.1,'40. | Sept.1,'40. | Final,'39. | Average 1929-1938. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Ohio | 111 | 111 | 171 | 135 |
| Indiana | 130 | 130 | 213 | 152 |
| Illinois | 307 | 299 | 419 | 311 |
| Iowa | 441 | 423 | 504 | 394 |
| Minnesota | 162 | 151 | 205 | 138 |
| Missouri | 116 | 112 | 123 | 108 |
| S. Dakota | 51 | 51 | 47 | 49 |
| Nebraska | 102 | 99 | 82 | 150 |
| Kansas | 42 | 42 | 37 | 68 |
| Oklahoma | 39 | 38 | 27 | 33 |
| Texas | 94 | 94 | 73 | 76 |

Exceeds Private Estimates.

The estimate of the size of the corn crop surprised Chicago Board of Trade members whose private predictions fell 70,000,000 bushels short of the department of agriculture's forecast.

The government estimated that 23.5 per cent of last year's corn crop was still on the farms on Oct. 1 of this year, holdings aggregating 555,135,000 bushels, compared with 555,596,000 a year earlier and a 10 year average carry-over on the farms of 193,967,000 bushels.

The department's forecasts for other grain crops were about in line with private estimates. The 1940 wheat crop was placed at 792,332,000 bushels. The crop last year was 754,971,000 bushels and the average crop during the last 10 years has been 754,685,000 bushels.

Total Supplies Compared.

[In millions of bushels.]

|  | Crop. | Carry-over. | Total, 1940. | Total, 1939. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Wheat | 792 | 284 | 1,076 | 1,007 |
| Corn | 2,352 | 650 | 3,002 | 3,102 |
| Oats | 1,218 | 147 | 1,365 | 1,131 |
| Rye | 37 | 21 | 58 | 62 |
| Barley | 308 | 59 | 367 | 334 |

Production of 81,541,000 bushels of soy beans was indicated, a decline during September of 4.6 per cent in prospective production. The department of agriculture said this decline occurred principally in Illinois and Indiana. Yield at harvest was higher than indicated earlier in practically all other states.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By BOB BECKER

Evening Chores.

October 10, 1940.

DOING the evening chores on thousands of American farms means feeding the poultry, milking the cows, and performing other routine tasks while the sun paints the western sky red and gold. At this season of the year the chore hour is made enjoyable by the sight of ducks against the sky and noisy pheasants sailing alongside a crimson and yellow hedgerow of sumac and wild crab trees.

Even without the added attractions of ducks, pheasants, autumn colorations, and burning leaves, the chore hour is one of the most interesting periods of the day on any farm. The behavior of the chickens, ducks, guinea hens, and turkeys as they feed and go to roost; the sheeps' lack of table manners; the machine gun action of the ducklings' pecking at the corn and oats on the ground—all these and other sights and sounds are the attractions of chore time.

First Come, First Served.

When we were on the Du Page county farm the other evening the flockmaster was just starting to do the chores. The first evidence of nightfall came when a sleek bronze turkey hen flew up on a small granary, then over to the roof of the duck house, and from there to its roosting place in an elm tree. The lambs provided the musical accompaniment for the chore hour by standing in the barn lot and baaing loudly for their supper. When their troughs were filled with grain they pushed and shoved each other in their efforts to get their share of the feed.

While the sheep were wading into their evening meal with gusto, three more turkeys followed the first into the elm tree roost. And when the flockmaster entered the chicken yard with two pails of water the chickens proved that they're no more polite than the lambs. The White Rock hens evidently thought the flockmaster was carrying feed, and they made such a concentrated rush for the gate that one of them hurdled the stolid old ram in an effort to get there first.

Turkeys Go to Roost.

By the time the chickens' water fountains were filled about 15 turkeys had gone to roost in the elm tree, all settled for the night except for occasional jockeying for better sleeping spots by some of the birds. Across the barnyard 10 white guinea hens had flown into a gnarled old apple tree to roost. The evening meal of the Muscovy ducks was enlivened by three fights between hens and the comical sight of eight yellow ducklings racing across the yard and scrambling thru the fence to get some oats and cracked corn alongside their elders.

And during the hour that the flockmaster was "doin' the chores" the sun had dropped behind the trees and was streaking and flecking the sky with yellow, gold, gray-blue, and various shades of red. Chores were done and it was time for supper.

BANK CLEARINGS RISE IN NATION, DIP AT CHICAGO

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—Bank clearings in the week ended yesterday were 13.6 per cent more than in the 1939 comparable week but fell appreciably below the volume of the preceding week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. The total at 23 leading cities was $5,219,535,000, against $4,593,772,000 a year ago and $6,115,447,000 in the preceding week.

New York City accounted for $2,934,566,000, an amount 19.5 per cent above the same week last year. Clearings at Chicago dropped 0.9 of 1 per cent to $293,600,000 from $296,300,000 last year.

RESERVE BANK REPORTS

Lendable reserves in banks increased by $100,000,000 during the week ended Oct. 9 and reached a total of $6,820,000,000, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. Virtually all of the increase in excess reserves was attributed to treasury deposits with federal reserve banks. Details of the report:

NEW DEAL HOLDS BACK DEFENSE, PRENTIS WARNS

Puts Reform First, Leaders Told.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

H. W. Prentis

A sweeping indictment of policies by which the Roosevelt administration is seeking to prepare for national defense was made last night by H. W. Prentis Jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and of the Armstrong Cork company.

Prentis spoke before 600 Illinois manufacturers at a meeting in the Drake hotel arranged by the state and national manufacturers' associations. He charged that the administration is betraying the interests of national defense under a pretense of social reform. He further asserted that the administration has failed to achieve effective organization of defense activities.

Assails Blacklist Plan.

The most obvious betrayal of defense interests, Prentis said, was the scheme to prevent companies accused of violating the national labor laws from obtaining government contracts.

The blacklisting plan mentioned by Prentis has already led to a split among members of the President's defense commission and caused congress to investigate. It was originally announced by Sidney Hillman, labor representative on the commission, and subsequently confirmed by Attorney General Robert H. Jackson. When Hillman was questioned about the scheme at a congressional hearing early this week he asked that he be excused from answering questions. Subsequently in a speech made in New York, William S. Knudsen, production chief of the defense commission, said that the commission wanted no part in enforcing the labor laws.

Prentis declared that enforcement of the blacklist policy would seriously curtail the sources of vital supplies and equipment under the defense program.

Tells Sabotage Danger.

"It means," he said, "that agitators and saboteurs in any plant, by producing a labor disturbance and securing a favorable decision from a biased labor board could seriously disrupt national defense. It means to deny a corporation government contracts on the ground that it has done an injury to some of its workers, and then do all the rest of the workers in that plant the much greater injury of taking their jobs away from them."

Defense cannot be achieved, Prentis asserted, if the administration insists on putting other objectives ahead of national security.

"If this emergency is so acute as to warrant the drafting of our young men for national defense, and the conscription of industry for the preparations for that defense," he said, "then it is sufficiently crucial to give defense the supreme national right of way."

Reminds of France's Fate.

The fall of France, Prentis said, was brought about chiefly because her internal economy had been shattered by overdoses of ill considered social reforms.

Prentis asserted that the immediate need is a reorganization of the national defense commission, which has now only advisory power, giving it the proper authority and independent status that it requires. He praised the individual members of the present commission for doing as effective work as is possible under the present setup.

"To exert the full defense effort," he said, "we need governmental machinery organized to operate with something approaching the discipline, the same speed, and the same efficiency as that expected of our private manufacturing organizations."

UNKEPT PLEDGES RECALLED

President Roosevelt's failure as an executive heading a huge business—the United States—was emphasized last night in a radio speech by De Witt M. Emery over station W-G-N and the Mutual network. Emery is chairman of the Willkie for President Small Business Men's committee.

He recalled that the President, in 1932, promised to end government deficits and cut operating expenses 25 per cent and that a "confused and befuddled" electorate believed him.

"At the end of four years," Emery said, "you found that instead of cutting expenses he had doubled them; instead of ending deficits he had run you deeper in the red. He had not kept one of the promises made."

Wendell Willkie, said Emery, can be depended on to get full value for every dollar of taxpayers' money, and is qualified to give the United States the "honest, intelligent, forthright, and vigorous leadership it sorely needs."

Banks and Markets Close Saturday, Columbus Day

Banks and security and commodity markets thruout the United States will be closed tomorrow in observance of Columbus day. The Chicago and New York Stock Exchanges, Chicago Board of Trade, and Chicago Mercantile exchange will suspend business for the day. The Chicago stockyards will remain open. Most government offices will be open, as it is not a national legal holiday.

Defense Plans 'Progressing,' Says Knudsen

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP).—William S. Knudsen, national defense commissioner in charge of production, said tonight that "some progress" had been made on the defense program, that he "expected no specific difficulties to intefere" and added this statistical report:

Contracts have been signed to a total of $8,000,000,000.

A total of $4,000,000,000 in appropriations or contract authorizations remains to be contracted for, and the completion of this phase is expected by the end of November.

Aircraft production is running 950 planes and 1,600 combat engines monthly, "not more than half what we will be making next year perhaps."

400,000 Jobs Provided.

By taking advantage of existing plant facilities at the start, jobs have been provided for 400,000 workers. Employment would increase further in the next few months, he said, reaching a peak next July.

Production was being obtained, he said, to the extent of the machinery available for the task, but in view of the quantities of materials needed, "facilities for the making of the heavy combat equipment must be expanded to several times their present size."

The war department announced the award of contracts amounting to $8,276,773 for radio receivers, $1,063,050 for pontoon sets, and $1,646,090 for folding steel cots.

Award Radio Contracts.

The largest order was for $7,605,773 of radio receivers from RCA Manufacturing company, Camden, N. J. The Philco corporation, Philadelphia, received a $671,000 order for radio receiving sets. Snead & Co., Jersey City, N. J., received a $1,063,050 contract for pontoon sets.

The navy department announced the award of contracts amounting to $3,083,538, among them an $850,596 award for insulated copper wire to the Anaconda Wire and Cable company, Washington, D. C.

Other contracts were: Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa., $777,012, and the Midvale company, Nicetown, Pa., $395,513, both covering steel forgings.

COURT REFUSES TO HALT NLRB PLANT ELECTIONS

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday refused an injunction sought by three Chicago manufacturing companies and employè groups to halt runoff elections ordered by the National Labor Relations board to determine whether unions of the American Federation of Labor or the Congress of Industrial Organizations shall be bargaining agents. The court held it is without jurisdiction.

In previous elections, neither union won a majority of the votes and numerous employès voted against being represented by any union. The board ruled that in the runoff elections, scheduled for today, the employès must choose between the unions without any opportunity of voting to be represented by neither.

The companies which sought the injunction are: Butler Specialty company, 1015 North Halsted street, S. Karpen & Brothers, 636 West Cermak road, and Fenske Brothers, Inc., 1315 South Michigan avenue. All are furniture manufacturers.

ASK DISMISSAL OF INJUNCTION ON GAS RATE CUT

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday took under advisement a motion to vacate a restraining order of Aug. 30 by which the federal power commission has been prevented from putting into effect a wholesale gas rate reduction involving the Natural Gas Pipe Line Company of America. The motion was made by Assistant Attorney General Harry R. Booth, representing the Illinois Commerce commission, and George Slaff, attorney for the power commission, who contended that the reduction was reasonable and that the court was without jurisdiction.

Attorneys George Haight and S. A. L. Morgan, for the company, argued that the 6½ per cent return allowed was insufficient for the company's needs. The rate cut, which was ordered by the power commission July 23, would amount to about $3,750,000 a year on natural gas supplied at wholesale for the Chicago area.

ARMY REQUESTS 24 HOUR PLANE PLANT SCHEDULE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP).—War department officials disclosed today orders have been issued to speed production of army war planes to the maximum.

Assistant Secretary Robert P. Patterson directed Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, air corps chief, to make any changes necessary in contracts to expedite the output of planes, engines, and accessories. Specifically, where feasible, Patterson suggested that plants operate on a 24 hour basis.

Congress provided funds in the latest defense appropriation to finance the speedup. The army has orders in process of execution for about 21,000 planes of all types.

Germans to Pay 'Dawes Loan' Coupons Due Oct. 15

New York, Oct. 10 [Special].—German consular authorities in New York announced today that coupons due Oct. 15 on the German government 7 per cent external loan of 1924, usually known as the Dawes loan, will be paid in dollars as usual at the rate of $25 for each $35 coupon. This payment will be available on bonds of the issue stamped to indicate American ownership as of Oct. 1, 1935. So-called Dawes marks also may be acquired in exchange for the coupons.

ALUMINUM CO. PLANS BIG DAM IN N. CAROLINA

Power Output to Be Equal to Norris.

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 10 [Special].—The Aluminum Company of America, as part of its expansion program for national defense production, disclosed in Washington today that it plans to build a dam on the Little Tennessee river in North Carolina larger than the Norris dam of the Tennessee Valley authority. It will equal or exceed Norris dam in electric power production.

The structure—Fontana dam—will be part of a six-dam power reservoir to supply the Alcoa, Tenn., plant of the Aluminum company. Three dams are in operation now and two are under construction, all in North Carolina. This system supplies part of the electric power for the plant, the balance being purchased from TVA.

[The national defense commission announced in Washington last night that production of aluminum would be stepped up from 325,000,000 pounds in 1939 to 700,000,000 pounds in 1942 by means of new factories and power facilities.]

Highest in TVA Area.

The proposed dam, declaration of intent for which was filed with the federal power commission today, will be 470 feet high and 1,750 feet wide. It will be the highest in the entire Tennessee valley area. Norris dam is 265 feet high and 1,860 feet wide. Installed power capacity will be 300,000 horse power, which is three times the capacity of Norris.

Fontana dam will store one million acre feet of water, whereas Norris dam captures two and a half million acre feet. However, engineers estimate that the bulk difference is offset by the fact that pressure behind Fontana, due to elevation, will be greater than that of Norris, thus about equalizing the consumption of water to generate power.

Whether or not construction of Fontana dam, which it is estimated will require about four years, will ultimately make the Aluminum company independent of TVA power is problematical. That, according to TVA engineers, will depend greatly on volume of Aluminum production and seasonal rainfall.

TVA Plans Were Upset.

TVA at one time had Fontana mapped into its system of dams and was anxious for its construction. Congress, however, refused to appropriate funds for it.

Manufacture of aluminum is entirely dependent upon electricity, since it is the key which unlocks the metal from the bauxite clay in which it is found. Prior to development of the electro process aluminum cost $17 a pound, whereas the current price is 18 cents.

The Aluminum company used last year, according to TVA figures, 717,332,000 kilowatt hours of TVA power in addition to that generated by its own system. For this its bill for the fiscal year ending June 30 was $2,964,000. Total power output of TVA for the same period was 4,100,000,000 kilowatt hours. For the three months ending Oct. 1, the Aluminum company purchased 207,000,000 kilowatt hours which indicates a substantial increase over previous consumption.

Contracts under which Aluminum company and TVA do business call for an interchange of power in event of shortage on either side as well as outright purchase by the company.

Magnesium Corp. to Expand.

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—The American Magnesium corporation announced today plans for plant expansion which would triple its fabricated magnesium output to cope with national defense demands.

Most of the company's plants at Cleveland, Buffalo, Los Angeles, Garwood, N. J., and New Kensington, Pa., are operating three shifts a day, Wiser Brown, vice president, said. Others will be placed on that basis as soon as personnel can be trained. New construction and equipment additions under way will build up capacity for production that will break all records, he said.

LARGE INCREASE IN N. Y. CENTRAL EARNINGS SHOWN

The New York Central railroad yesterday reported net income of $1,100,054 for August, compared with $342,901 a year ago. The eight month's net income amounted to $1,007,452, against a net loss of $8,900,019 for the corresponding period in 1939.

Industry Looks to So. America for Diamonds

The United States has emerged as the diamond cutting center of the world and new attention has focused on South America's industrial diamond output as the result of the shaking up received by the tightly controled industry from the war, diamond dealers reported yesterday.

Following the stalemate created by Germany's seizure of Belgium and Holland—principal cutting centers—and England's increased restrictions on the 95 per cent of the world's output she controls, one fact has become increasingly apparent, according to diamond dealers:

The United States must prepare to cultivate South American production in order to assure a constant supply of industrial diamonds—essential in the delicate machine tooling processes needed for production of aircraft and other war machines.

British Control World Prices.

Thru the powerful De Beers syndicate and the Diamond Corporation of London, the British for many years have regulated the world's diamond output on a price maintenance basis.

With deliveries already slowed by the war, present conditions in the near east and the axis powers' drive on British possessions in Africa have emphasized the uncertainty of shipments from abroad, according to dealers.

More than half the world's 40,000 diamond cutters were working in Antwerp, Belgium, and Amsterdam, The Netherlands, prior to the outbreak of the war, while Germany also engaged in large scale cutting of diamonds weighing less than ¼ carat. Industrial stones comprise approximately two-thirds of the total diamond output, by weight. The other third is used as gems.

Last year Brazil, the principal South American source, produced 17.4 per cent of the world's industrial diamonds. The balance came from the Belgian Congo and the Union of South Africa.

Can Meet Industrial Needs.

Commenting on the future needs of industry in the United States, Edgar Parser, general manager of the New York branch of Parser, Inc., one of the large dealer organizations, said:

"South American production may be stepped up to supply the United States with all the industrial diamonds needed. There are diamonds in the Amazon and Goyas provinces which haven't been explored or exploited yet because of the climate, jungle bush and inhospitable Indians.

"Brazilian industrial diamonds are the best in the world because their average of pure stones is the highest. Experiments have proved they are harder than South African stones."

Since the start of the war, importation of Brazilian diamonds into the United States has increased at least tenfold, Parser said, adding that about 80 per cent of the total production is now sent directly to this country.

500 Cutters in New York.

A survey of the industry in New York showed that about 500 cutters are now employed there, in contrast with 300 at the outbreak of the war. A number of diamond worker refugees and many dealers have come to this country.

New York is now termed the diamond center of the world, a position which dealers say will be held for at least the duration of the war. New York dealers asserted a shortage of skilled labor is rapidly developing, largely because the Diamond Workers' Protective union has refused to take in some of the refugee cutters from abroad. However, union spokesmen said all capable and responsible workmen had been admitted to the union and were working.

Wages Average $75 Weekly.

Because of the high labor costs in the United States—the average pay of a diamond cutter is $75 a week—few stones under ¼ carat were handled in the past. Since the curtailment of shipments from abroad has become pronounced, an increasing volume of the small stones is being handled, it is said.

The De Beers syndicate has announced it is considering the establishment of a trading branch in this country. The gems would be shipped directly from South Africa, further increasing the volume of business done in this country.

There has been some discussion of establishing the diamond cutting industry in Chicago, but so far little has been done. The only cutters reported to be working here are those repairing and recutting old stones.

Chicago Firm's Bid Low on Hinsdale Postoffice

A low bid of $74,832 for construction of a postoffice at Hinsdale has been received from the L. W. Construction company, 179 West Washington street, it was announced yesterday in Washington, D. C., by the public buildings administration. Axel E. Johnson bid $77,000, and Langlois Construction company, Berwyn, bid $77,250.

ADVISES TRAFFIC IMPROVEMENTS INTO LOOP AREA

Cites City's Trend to Decentralization.

Prof. Miller McClintock.

Chicago must facilitate the movement of traffic into the loop district if it is to halt the decentralization of its main business district, Dr. Miller McClintock of the Yale university bureau of traffic research said last night. Dr. McClintock spoke before the Commercial Club of Chicago at a dinner meeting in the Blackstone hotel.

"Chicago needs over 200 miles of elevated or subsurface highways," he said. "Mass transportation must be improved into the downtown areas."

Dr. McClintock traced the growth of the 20 major secondary business districts in Chicago in the middle 1920s to the sharp increase in the use of automobiles. He said the outlying districts developed because it was no longer convenient to come to the central district.

To create a balanced community and maintain the loop district as the center of business activity, Dr. McClintock suggested the following steps:

1. Remove obsolete structures and rehabilitate existing buildings.
2. Renovate and rehabilitate blighted areas surrounding the central business district.
3. Improve mass transportation.
4. Control existing parking lots and create new parking areas.
5. Build arterial highways.

REPORT BRITISH, ARGENTINE BOND AND TRADE TALK

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 10 (AP).—Commercial cables said today representatives of Great Britain and Argentina were discussing the possibility of Britain buying between £25,000,000 and £40,000,000 of Argentine products, making payment with Argentine bonds now held in England. Government circles declined comment.

Such a deal [involving between $100,000,000 and $160,000,000 at the current rate of exchange] would tend to relieve the economic strain on Argentina as a result of blocking Argentine export balances in England under war decrees.

[The foreign bondholders' protective council at New York said their records showed that at the end of 1939 Great Britain held approximately £54,034,654 of Argentine obligations, or about $217,000,000.]

SAYS DEFENSE CONTRACTS MAY AVOID HOURS ACT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 [Special].—Defense requirements permit exemption of entire contracts from the provisions of the Walsh-Healey law, L. Metcalfe Walling, administrator of the public contracts division of the department of labor, said tonight.

Walling explained that the law was carefully framed to avoid rigidity, and that any employer was permitted to work his employès "as many hours beyond 40 as he cares to without asking permission of anybody as long as he pays the overtime rate of time and one half."

"In addition to that," he said, "if for some reason a particular employer and the contracting agency of the government feel that the public interest requires that a contract be performed outside the provisions of the Walsh-Healy act, the department of labor has the power to exempt the entire contract."

WEEK'S BUILDING VOLUME DIPS BUT BEATS YEAR AGO

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—Engineering construction awards for the week ended Tuesday totaled $84,797,000, an increase of 20 per cent over the corresponding week last year but 10 per cent less than the preceding week, Engineering News-Record reported today.

Defense awards continued to spur public construction, with contracts approximately double a year ago and up 2 per cent for the week. Private awards ran into a slump, however, dropping 44 per cent under a year ago and 33 per cent below the week before.

COAL COMPANY FACES LOSS IN NEW DEAL ROW

Penalties of Price Fixing Act Cited.

The federal government yesterday continued its quarrel with itself over coal prices. The postoffice stood fast on its refusal to pay the minimum prices established by the bituminous coal division of the department of the interior.

The conflict within the government was disclosed several days ago when the postoffice department notified the Binkley Coal company, Chicago, that it would pay only the contract price that prevailed before the minimum price schedule became effective on Oct. 1. The coal division then announced that it would enforce penalties provided under the price fixing law against any member of the coal code failing to adhere to minimum prices.

In Washington, D. C., yesterday, the postoffice, which has been acting on the advice of the controler general, said coal must be delivered at prices provided in contracts made before the minimum price schedule became effective.

Demands Minimum Prices.

An attorney for the bituminous coal division said that the Chicago company would have to bill the postoffice at the established minimum price "unless it wants to run afoul of us."

"That leaves us right in the soup," an official of the Binkley company said. He explained that the penalty against coal code members who charge less than the minimum prices established in the schedule is expulsion from the code. Noncode members must pay the government a tax of 19½ per cent a ton on their selling prices. "And that would ruin us," the Binkley official said.

The Binkley company, which is sales agent for a number of mines, said it had not yet received a direct answer to its letter to Harrison Parkman, purchasing agent for the postoffice department at Washington.

Ask How to Collect.

Meantime it is now planning to ship the coal to various postoffices in the middle west under its contract and then ask Abe Fortas, attorney for the bituminous coal division, how it can collect the difference.

The company has been charging the postoffice about $1.24 a ton at the mine for Illinois coal and about $1.29 a ton for Indiana coal, exclusive of freight rates and not including the 1 cent a ton excise tax. Prices provided in the coal division's minimum schedule are about $1.59 and $1.95 a ton, or increases for Illinois and Indiana coal of 35 cents and 65 cents a ton, respectively.

The Binkley official said that other departments of the federal government are paying the minimum prices, adopted for the avowed purpose of rescuing the coal industry from its difficulties caused by intense competition. These agencies, he said, include the war, agriculture, and interior departments and the veterans' administration.

MAY PETITION FOR CUT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP).—The bituminous coal division today temporarily permitted code member producers to petition for a maximum reduction of 50 cents a ton in the mine price they must charge for soft coal sold in competition with unregistered "independent" dock operators on the Great Lakes.

Wholesale customers of coal code members must pay minimum mine prices under terms of the bituminous coal act. In some instances, officials said, dock operators had been able to buy for less and to sell for less than code members.

The division acted on a petition of Indiana soft coal producers to equalize any price advantage which dock operators may have gained because of the minimum prices. Hearings on a permanent order will be held in Washington on Nov. 7.

PRESIDENT SIGNS BILL FOR BANKS TO AID DEFENSE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP).—President Roosevelt has signed legislation to encourage private financing of defense industries by permitting them to assign to banks and others their claims under contracts with the government.

Federal law formerly forbade government contractors to assign their claims. The new legislation was recommended by the defense commission.

The President also signed a supplemental civil functions appropriation bill making $275,000 available to the Bureau of Mines for tests of deposits of antimony, manganese, mercury, nickel, tungsten, tin, and chromium found in various far western states and in Virginia.

Coal Traffic Falls on U. S. Price Control

Movement of coal over the nation's railroads during the first week of October dropped 30,791 cars, or 19 per cent below the last week in September and 39,617 cars below the corresponding week in October last year as government established minimum prices went into effect.

As a result of the decline in coal traffic, total loadings of revenue freight declined 16,448 cars last week from the preceding week and 24,116 cars from the corresponding week in 1939 to a total of 805,986 cars, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. Freight traffic was at the lowest level since the week ended Sept. 14.

Blame Minimum Prices.

Coal industry leaders of the state and in Chicago attributed the decline in shipments directly to the establishment of minimum prices. They said that while the buying public did not make a concerted rush to fill their coal bins during the last weeks of September before the higher prices became effective, there was enough stocking up on coal to cause the decline.

The decline in the movement of freight was the second consecutive week that the railroad's had hauled fewer cars than in the corresponding week last year.

Two Areas Top Year Ago.

The association reported that with the exception of the Allegheny and northwestern areas, all sections of the country loaded fewer cars than in the corresponding week in 1939.

Buildings in Receivership Paying on Back Taxes

The 111 properties in Cook county that are in Skarda act receivership paid $96,046 in back taxes in the first six months of 1940, County Treasurer John Toman announced yesterday. Back taxes due on the properties still exceed a million dollars, Toman said. Under the Skarda act, the county court is empowered to name the county treasurer as receiver of a property owing back taxes and he appoints an agent to manage the property and turn over available revenues on the overdue taxes.

$720,000 LOOP PROPERTY SALE MADE BY FIELD

Estate Disposes of Mallers Land.

BY AL CHASE.

One of the largest cash sales of downtown real estate in recent years was closed yesterday when the estate of Marshall Field sold the southeast corner of Madison street and Wabash avenue for $720,000. It was bought by Henry A. Gardner and Thomas S. Edmonds, as trustees of the Mallers Building trust. The negotiations were handled by Dibblee & Mardierre, agents for the Mallers building property.

The transaction makes the Mallers Building trust the owner of both the land and the building. In 1910 the land was leased by the late John B. Mallers for 99 years at $50,000 net annual rental. The 21 story Mallers building was built by him in 1912 from plans by Architect C. A. Eckstrom.

Now Owns Entire Property.

In 1915 the Field estate bought the land for approximately $1,233,000. Since then the building owners have paid the Field estate $50,000 annual rental for the land. Now the Mallers Building trust owns the entire property.

The lot fronts 97 feet 2¼ inches on Wabash avenue with a depth of 171 feet 11¼ inches on Madison street, the area being 16,712.79 square feet. The purchase price, therefore, was at the rate of $43.08 per square foot. The assessor's 1939 quadrennial valuation on the land was $1,160,925, or $69.46 per square foot.

Simultaneously with the sale the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company, thru its local agent, Arthur J. Hayslett, made a loan on the land and building for $720,000, full amount of the purchase price, at 4 per cent interest.

Purchase Cuts Overhead.

The annual payment to the insurance company will be $46,800, the balance above the interest charge of 4 per cent being used to retire the principal of the loan, which in 20 years will be written down to about $170,000.

The purchase, therefore, reduces the fixed overhead expense of the Mallers building by $3,200 annually, as it pays the insurance company $46,800 each year instead of $50,000 to the Field estate for rent of the ground. These annual payments will reduce the loan to 23.6 per cent in 20 years.

The Mallers is one of the few loop office buildings which has not been reorganized in recent years. It has been modernized thruout recently.

New Airmail Routes Will Be Started on Oct. 15

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP).—Postmaster General Frank C. Walker said today several extensions of the airmail service would begin operations on Oct. 15. They included: Oklahoma City to Amarillo, Houston to San Antonio, and Houston to Corpus Christi [Braniff]; Pittsburgh to Buffalo via Erie [Pennsylvania-Central] and St. Louis to Nashville via Evansville, Ind. [Eastern Airlines].

STOCKS ATTEMPT RALLY, BUT MEET WITH OPPOSITION

Gains of Market Leaders Trimmed at Close.

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—The stock market made an attempt to rally today but encountered some opposition. Early gains running to a point or more for steels and assorted industrials were reduced or cancelled at the close.

Except for a brief pickup in activity at the start, dealings were too slow to give much meaning to price changes. Transfers amounted to 382,670 shares against 445,660 the day before. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was unchanged at 43.8.

Rails held firm despite a contra-seasonal drop in last week's freight loadings announced today. The decline was due to a sharp contraction in coal shipments.

Chrysler, Du Pont Ease.

Crucible Steel directors voted a $1.25 dividend on the new preferred stock which appeared on the ticker tape for the first time today. The common was up 1⅛ at 34⅛ as talk of a payment on the junior issue was heard.

Stocks moderately ahead at the finish were United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, United States Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Great Northern, Chesapeake & Ohio, American Smelting, Dow Chemical, Republic Steel preferred, and Union Carbide.

Lower were Chrysler, American Telephone, American Can, Du Pont, United States Gypsum, Bristol-Myers, Anaconda, and Consolidated Edison.

Chicago Stocks.

Prices held mostly steady on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday with 30 issues advancing, 31 declining and 21 remaining unchanged. Total volume for the day was 16,000 shares, with turnover from 2 to 3 o'clock—the extra hour added recently to the session—totaling 2,020 shares.

New York Bonds.

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—Conciliatory talk from Tokio was the mainspring of a modest rally in the bond market today after several declining sessions.

Japanese issues led a broad recovery in the foreign list. Many domestic corporate issues came back fractions to around a point. United States government obligations were mixed.

Bank Stocks.

WHEAT FUTURES RISE ON SCARCITY OF 'FREE' GRAIN

Reports that mills in the northwest, west, and southwest were encountering increased difficulty in obtaining sufficient cash wheat to fill domestic flour orders gave the market on the Chicago Board of Trade a firm undertone yesterday.

Wheat prices moved up about 1 cent at one time. Profit taking caused a setback from the top, with the close ¼ to cent higher. Corn gained ¼ cent, while oats were ⅛ to ½ cent higher.

Commission house buying and short covering disclosed a lack of pressure on soy beans and futures closed 1⅝ to 2 cents higher with October leading. No. 2 yellow beans for deferred shipment from the country sold at 2½ cents over the October future.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Large receipts of spring pigs caused a slight setback in the hog market yesterday, despite further improvement in wholesale prices of fresh pork. Pork markups ranged to 50 cents a hundred pounds, with top light loins at $18.50.

Both the top and average hog prices showed declines of 5 cents, at $6.55 and $6.25 a hundredweight, respectively.

Action in the cattle market was the best in many days. Most steers and yearlings rose 15 to 25 cents, with some up more. Fully steady prices were paid for lambs, quality considered.

COTTON

Increased hedging pressure developed in cotton yesterday and, while there was a fair demand from mills, the close was about the bottom, with losses of .06 to .12 cent a pound.

A total of 230,000 bales of 1940 crop cotton was in the government loan on Oct. 3, it was officially reported. Of this amount Texas provided about 80 per cent.

Cash cotton closed .07 to .10 cent lower, with New York, 9.79 cents; Galveston, 9.29 cents, and Houston at 9.27 cents for 15.16 inch staple. Prices follow:

PRESIDENT TIES UP RUMANIA'S AMERICAN FUNDS

'Freezes' Assets as Nazis Enter Oil Fields.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP).—President Roosevelt "froze" Rumanian funds in the United States today by extending an order which he previously had applied to nine European nations occupied by the troops of either Germany or Russia.

In recent days German troops have moved into Rumania, under Nazi agreement with the Rumanian government, with the announced purpose of protecting that country's oil fields.

Put at 100 Million Dollars.

The treasury announced Mr. Roosevelt's action, saying he had signed an executive order, "freezing" Rumanian funds to prohibit any withdrawals except upon approval of the treasury.

It was estimated unofficially that Rumanian funds in this country amounted to roughly $100,000,000.

The first order tying up foreign funds was issued April 10 and applied to Norway and Denmark after Germany had invaded those countries.

Applied to Baltic Nations.

A month later it was amended to cover Holland, Belgium and Luxemburg, after the Nazis had swept across their borders and it was extended again June 17 after the fall of France. The next extension was applied to funds of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia after the Russians had sent troops into those Baltic states.

Commodity Exchange Act Extended to Peanut Marts

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP).—Legislation extending the commodity exchange act to permit supervision of futures trading in fats and oils, cottonseed, cottonseed meal and peanuts was signed today by President Roosevelt. The act will take effect in 60 days.

Commodities

Non-ferrous metal prices swung upward in cash and futures markets yesterday. Refined lead was boosted ¼ cent a pound and tin ¾ cent, while the price of export copper advanced from 10¼ to 10.40 cents. Copper futures rose to new yearly highs and tin futures closed ¾ cent a pound higher.

The new quotation for lead is 5¼ to 5.3 cents, New York delivered basis, and 5.1 cents, East St. Louis basis. Tin rose from 51¼ cents to 52 cents futures.

In the futures markets, copper pushed ahead 0.20 to 0.26 cent a pound, with October thru January deliveries quoted at 11.1 cents bid. Tin closed at 51¾ cents a pound for December and January deliveries. There were no sales in lead and zinc futures.

Other commodity futures markets moved within a narrow range.

O'MAHONEY RAPS CRITICS IN LIFE INSURANCE FIGHT

Denies Attempt to Curb Control by States.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] yesterday denied that "even the slightest suggestion" had been made by the temporary national economic [monopoly] committee to weaken state supervision of life insurance. He spoke at the 35th annual meeting of the American Life convention in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Attacking what he termed "baseless, political" reports, O'Mahoney, chairman of the committee, asserted:

"There never has been any recommendation, report, or suggestion by the TNEC, the SEC, or any member of the staff of any policy that would weaken state supervision of life insurance, tend to confiscate assets of life insurance companies, or divert the investment of insurance funds from sound securities into securities representing venture capital."

"Will Not Be Adverse."

The report to be made by the TNEC on the basis of a long investigation of insurance "will not in any way be adverse to the life insurance business," the senator said later at a press conference.

He admitted, however, that the committee had nothing to say about the attitude of the Securities and Exchange commission, which is represented in the TNEC. He would not speculate on whether the SEC is attempting to build up a case for federal regulation of insurance.

He denied making any pledge that the TNEC report would not be issued before the November elections. O'Mahoney said he had not called the committee together to draw up the report because "it is impossible to secure an objective investigation in the atmosphere of a political campaign."

Subject of Criticism.

O'Mahoney has been criticized for releasing several preliminary research reports by the SEC, even tho they were not incorporated in the record and accepted by the committee.

Julian Price, president of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company, Greensboro, N. C., was installed as president of the convention. He succeeds C. A. Craig, chairman of the board of the National Life and Accident Insurance company, Nashville.

Hugh S. Magill, president of the American Federation of Investors, Inc., declared that "the most imminent danger in our nation's financial situation lies in the possibility of extreme currency and credit inflation, which has occurred in other countries that became insolvent as the result of continued extravagant governmental spending in excess of income."

Water Carriers Promised Ample Time on New Law

Water carriers will be given ample time to comply with regulatory provisions of the new transportation act, Joseph B. Eastman, member of the Interstate Commerce commission, yesterday told the Association of Interstate Commerce Commission Practitioners at the Palmer House. Eastman explained that certain provisions do not become effective until Jan. 1, 1941, and that the commission has authority to postpone the effective date until April 2, 1942.

FOOD STAMPS EXTENDED.

The agriculture department announced that the food stamp plan would be extended to Appanoose, Wayne, and Davis counties in Iowa, in about a month.

UNITED STATES STEEL SEPTEMBER TONNAGE HIGHEST IN 20 YEARS

New York, Oct. 10 (AP).—The largest September shipments of finished steel products to consumers since the postwar boom in 1920 were reported today by the United States Steel corporation.

Subsidiaries of the corporation shipped 1,392,838 net tons, against 1,455,604 in August and 1,086,683 in September, 1939.

September shipments ranking among the largest for that month in the corporation's history which were topped by today's figures included 1937 with 1,161,113 tons and 1929 with 1,262,000. The September, 1920, volume was 1,422,000 tons.

In connection with the drop from August the corporation observed that September had fewer working days and that daily shipments were actually ahead of the August rate. Shipments for the first nine months of 1940 totaled 10,433,727 tons, against 7,556,087 in the 1939 period.

PICK DR. MILLIS UMPIRE OF G. M. LABOR DISPUTES

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 10 (AP).—Dr. H. A. Millis, Professor Emeritus of economics of the University of Chicago, will be the permanent umpire of labor differences between General Motors corporation and the United Automobile Workers [C. I. O.], the corporation and union announced today.

As umpire he will act as a court of final appeal on all subjects not settled under the regular grievance machinery, excepting those involving wage rates and timing of operations.

Dr. Millis has acted as the permanentim partial charman in the Chicago clothing industry for several years, and has served since 1923 on the panel of impartial chairmen under the international arbitration agreement between the American Newspaper Publishers association and the International Pressmen's union. In 1934-35 he served on the National Labor board, predecessor of the National Labor Relations board.

STUDEBAKER HAS RECORD BREAKING MONTH OF SALES

The Studebaker corporation in September had the largest volume of factory sales of passenger cars and trucks in its history for that month, Paul G. Hoffman, president, reported yesterday. The total, he said, was the largest for any month since August, 1928.

The Hudson Motor Car company reported four weeks retail sales set a new peak for any similar period since 1929.

Studebaker's September volume was 14,501 units, compared with 10,710 a year ago, an increase of 35 per cent. Retail deliveries numbered 7,667, against 7,440 a year ago. The September volume was the largest for retail dealers since September, 1928, Hoffman said.

George H. Pratt, Hudson's general sales manager, said retail sales for the four weeks ended Sept. 28 totaled 8,294 units, a 47 per cent gain over the corresponding 1939 period.

Farmer League to Show Competition by Imports

The Illinois Farmers Protective league announced plans yesterday for an exhibition of all products being imported in competition with American and Illinois farm products. Clarence E. Mack, president of the organization, said it will first be shown tomorrow afternoon at a meeting of the league in his farm home on Winfield road, near West Chicago in Du Page county. It will later be taken on a tour of Illinois and neighboring states.

TWA to Increase Its Service to Baltimore

Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., announced yesterday that it would begin additional plane service Oct. 15 between Chicago and Baltimore. Its regularly scheduled 8:30 a. m. flight to Washington will stop at Baltimore, making a total of three flights each day between Chicago and Baltimore. The flight will reach Baltimore at 2:28 p. m. eastern standard time and Washington at 3:11 p. m.

COMMUNICATION COMPANIES HAVE LARGER PROFITS

Amer. Telephone Reports Gain for August.

Substantial increases in net incomes were reported yesterday by three large communication companies.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company reported net income for August of $813,477, compared with $660,235 for the same month last year. Net income for the eight months ended Aug. 31 was $92,405,502 against $81,333,721 for the corresponding period last year.

Company officials said that the August report does not accurately reflect the rate of earnings of the company, inasmuch as the dividends received from subsidiary companies, which make up a major part of the company's income, are not accrued in the monthly accounts.

Western Union Has Gain.

With an increase in domestic business offsetting a decrease in cable revenues, the Western Union Telegraph company reported net profits for August of $270,838, compared with $178,229 for the same month a year ago.

During the eight months ended Aug. 31, the company's net income amounted to $1,854,086, equal to $1.77 a share of common stock, against a net loss of $303,680 for the corresponding period in 1939. Owing to interruptions of international communications because of the war, R. B. White, president, said the August report showed the first actual decrease in cable revenues this year.

August net income for R. C. A. Communications, Inc., totaled $112,254, compared with $55,632 for August of 1939. Net income for eight months ended Aug. 31 was $1,005,775 against $288,918 for the same period a year ago. The concern, a wholly owned subsidiary of Radio Corporation of America, operates radiotelegraph circuits to nearly every part of the world.

NEW YORK DOCK.

Has the war hurt the business of the New York Dock company? I would like some general information about the company. E. M.

Answer: Operations of the New York Dock company have improved this year. Net loss in the first half this year was only $1,255 compared with net loss of $81,743 in the same period a year ago.

Comparison of the company's total revenues, net income and earnings per common share in recent years follows:

| | Total Revenues. | Net Income. | Earned per Com. Share. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1935 | $2,855,174 | $*113,820 | $*8.77 |
| 1936 | 2,814,568 | *96,922 | *8.53 |

*Loss.

The company has outstanding funded debt of $17,163,950, $5 noncumulative preferred stock of no par value, 100,000 shares, and no par common stock, 70,000 shares. No dividend has been paid on the preferred stock since 1932. On the common stock an initial and only dividend of $2.50 a share was paid in 1919.

New York Dock owns and operates the largest bonded and open warehouse, and pier facilities in the country. It leases pier, manufacturing, distributing, and terminal space. Its property lies 2⅛ miles along the Brooklyn, N. Y., waterfront opposite the lower part of Manhattan Island and covers 118 acres. Steamships of more than 20 lines ordinarily berth at its piers.

CLASSIFIED.

What are the Class I. railroads as distinguished from the others? —R. F.

Answer: Steam railroads are classified by the interstate commerce commission on the basis of their annual operating revenues as follows: Class I., those with annual operating revenues exceeding $1,000,000; Class II., from $100,000 to $1,000,000, and Class III., below $100,000.

FRATERNITY COOK.

I am a cook in a college fraternity house. Would I be eligible for social security benefits? —M. B.

Answer: An amendment to the social security act in 1939 excluded persons employed as domestic servants in local college clubs, fraternities, and sororities, as well as in private homes, from receiving old age benefits.

RESTAURANT GROUP SELECTS ITS FIRST FEMININE PRESIDENT

Miss Grace E. Smith.

Miss Smith, owner of three Toledo restaurants, has been a director of the association for 12 years, and a vice president since 1937. Martin Harding of Chicago, vice president of the John P. Harding Restaurant company, was named third vice president of the association.

Seventy-five food company and restaurant executives attended a luncheon at the Lake Shore club to discuss the part restaurants and food manufacturers will play in the defense program. The meeting was sponsored by C. A. Patterson, publisher of the American Restaurant magazine.

1. 12.
2. Percussion.
3. Guns and munitions.
4. Proceed with a limp. The haunch is the fleshy part of the hip.
5. On the ground.
6. Ball is on the 21 yard line. Blue has possession of ball. It is now fourth down, for the penalty canceled the second play and really made the third play a second down. The fourth play, therefore, was third down, so the Blue team still has one down in which to make the necessary yard or relinquish the ball to the Orange team.
